NOBLE, Frederic Perry.

The Redemption of Africa. A Story of Civilization. With Bibliography, Illustrations, Maps, and Statistical Tables, 2 vols., 8vo, cloth..... 4.00

"In thoroughness of preparation, wealth of citation, impartiality of judgment, and predominant desire to tell nothing but the truth and to be free 'from all suspicion of favor or malice,' his work is modeled on the highest plane of historical composition. We think he has produced a historical work of most unusual merit. It will be valued very highly. While the theme is missions, so much of the best information about Africa, in all its phases, has very seldom been included within a single book. The work put into it makes the book worth having not for its charmingly told story only, but for its remarkable array of facts—the greatest collection, we think, we have ever seen, on all sides of Africa, in one book."—The New York Sun.

RAVEN, John Howard.

¶Old Testament Introduction, General and Special. 8vo, cloth..... 2.00
A scholarly work that is marked by unusual clearness and attractive style. The author holds that the traditional view of the Old Testament has nothing to fear except from the ignorance and prejudice of its adherents, and does not weaken his position by ignoring or ridiculing those who advocate differing views. He has prepared a conservative text book that covers the whole field, with the view of avoiding both over-consciousness and diffuseness. A selected bibliography enables the reader to make such further investigation as he may choose.

¶Studies in the Life of the Christian. His Faith and His Service. 16mo, cloth..... .50
Paper..... .25

This work, prepared especially for the use of Bible Classes and study circles, forms the seventh of the series of most popular manuals by Dr. Sell. Every phase of the Christian life and its relations is dealt with in such form as to assure this volume proving the most helpful of the entire series, in its practical application of all that the earlier volumes have contained.

Bible Studies in the Life of Paul. Historical and Constructive. 12mo, paper, .25; cloth...50

A new volume in Dr. Sell's popular series of Bible studies for class work, of which series over 50,000 copies have been sold.

Bible Studies in the Life of Christ. Historical and Constructive. 12mo, paper..... .25
12mo, cloth..... .50

Practical, historical and constructive and specially suited for class work. There is something more than a bare outline. The setting and background of the discourses, parables and miracles is given. Places are graphically described. The course of events, so far as known, from the beginning of Christ's life to the close is marked out. The great divisions of the ministry are noted. All is done in a brief, concise and interesting way.

Supplemental Bible Studies. 15th edition, revised and enlarged. 12mo, paper..... *.25

Contains 52 lessons. Each book has received careful treatment, and no statement is made except upon the best authority.

"Mr. Sell has had the rare good fortune to hit upon the doing of exactly the kind of thing sorely needed to be done and he has done it well."—The Advance.

Bible Study by Doctrines. 12mo, paper... *.25
Cloth..... *.50

Every Christian should be able to give a reason for the faith that he holds; to know why he believes and upon what grounds. The design of these lessons is to meet that need and to give a summary of the leading Bible doctrines. No attempt has been made to seek after new or novel constructions of the subjects treated, or to emphasize points of difference, but rather to show upon how many fundamental things all Christians are united. The standard of authority is the Bible, and the final appeal is always to its pages.

"To commend this work would seem almost superfluous; and yet to young Christians who may not know it, we cannot refrain from saying, Buy this book and keep it with your Bible for constant study, until you have thoroughly mastered, in your own experience, the 'secret' of which it tells. It will transform the dark days of your life, as it has transformed those of thousands before you, into days of heavenly light. —The Evangelist.

SMITH, Rev. John, D. D.

The Integrity of Scripture. Plain Reasons for Rejecting the Critical Hypothesis. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

"For stout adherence to the old traditional views, boldness of direct assault on the higher critical position, plain-spoken words as to the materialistic origin, destructive tendencies and total failure of higher criticism, and, withal, for kindness of spirit and gentleness of touch toward the higher critics individually, this book could not well be surpassed."—New York Observer.

SMITH, Lee S.

¶Round the World Toward the Westering Sun. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

In an earlier volume, "Through Egypt and Palestine," Mr. Smith gave ample evidence of his ability to write entertainingly. In this new book, with a wider field, he has produced not only an exceedingly interesting work, but a valuable guide to intending tourists.

SNOWDEN, James H., D.D.

Scenes and Sayings in the Life of Christ. 12mo, cloth..... 1.50

"It is well written, reverent, vivid, instructive and delightful. It is entertaining and attractive to the general reader and, at the same time, is sufficiently critical and scholarly to be of homiletic value to the student of fact and style. A very helpful presentation is made of the great events of the earthly life of our Saviour."—Herald and Presbyter.

SPARHAWK, Frances Campbell.

Honor Dalton. 12mo, cloth..... †1.50

An optimistic novel of today that deals with the romance and the struggle of two strong characters, a man and a woman. One cannot be bought or the other conquered by misfortune, nor either deflected from the path of right even by an intense love. It is a beautiful and stimulating romance that negatives the cynical aphorism, "every man has his price." Miss Sparhawk has created a story of brilliant contrasts, full of dramatic scenes, clever conversations and fairly pulsing with the daily problems of money, purity and work that face the young man and woman of today.

SPEER, Robert E.

¶Young Men Who Overcame. 12mo, cloth, 1.00

Sketches of the lives of fifteen young men of our own day who represent the ideal of Christian manhood. Each one of them manly, courageous and athletic and true to Christian convictions. This is the kind of work for which no one is better fitted than Mr. Speer and the task finds him at his best.

Missions and Modern History. A study of the bearing on Christian missions of some great events of the nineteenth century. 2 vols., 8vo, ... 4.00

"Such subjects as the emancipation, both political and religious, of Latin America, the development of Africa, the transformation of Japan, the coming of the Slav, closely concern us. The connection of missions, antecedent or consequent, with such movements is reviewed by Mr. Speer in a luminous and instructive way."—The Outlook.

A Memorial of Horace Tracy Pitkin. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

"In all the long catalogue of useful books published by Revell, I know of none more likely to do noble service than Dr. Sperry's two series of 'Confidential Talks with Young Men and Young Women.' These books treat of subjects the most delicate in an absolutely plain and fearless way, without that mischievous vagueness so often assumed by writers of such books—a prudery that aggravates by its half-suggestions whatever pruriency may be lurking in the mind of the reader."—AMOS R. WELLS in The Golden Rule.

SPOFFORD, Harriet Prescott.

That Betty. 12mo, cloth ..... †1.00

A novelette with a peculiar quaint flavor and that grace of diction that has endeared Mrs. Spofford's stories to all her readers. As we follow her through these charming pages Mrs. Spofford shows us how a citadel of fashion was stormed by sympathy for the unfortunate and conquered by genuine love. The romance that underlies the whole story culminates in a beautiful climax.

The Samaritans. A Tale of To-day. By the author of "Wine on the Lees," "A Son of Gad," etc. 12mo, cloth..... †1.50

"It is safe to hazard the opinion that 'The Samaritans' will receive a wide reading. It is not only a work of genius; it is a message to the times, although concerned with such a malodorous subject as a London slum. Yet because of its piquancy of style, its philosophic insight, its feeling for humanity, its saving grace of humor, and, above all, its living example of a wholesome, helpful Christianity, it keeps the interest of the reader unabated in the old-time struggle between good and evil. The leading characters of the book are drawn with remarkable skill."—Christendom.

STILLMAN, Annie Raymond.

Fool's Gold. A Study of Values. 12mo, cloth, ... †1.50

A striking novel by the author of "How They Kept the Faith."

A romance of exceptional power in which plot and action yield a large tribute to the strong purpose of the book. This is a story of conflict between duty and supposed self-interest and constantly the values of selfishness and selfness are opposed. The situations are intense, but never unreal or strained. The title is most apt, being drawn from an early incident in the book, where a mining interest occupies the center of interest, but throughout the entire story the value of Gold, whether applied to character or to the precious metal, is contrasted with "Fool's Gold," the clever counterfeit of the King of Minerals, or in the realm of morals, the hypocrite.

¶Inter-Communion with God. An exploration of Spiritual Power, as manifested in intercourse and co-operation between God and man. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

"Follows the theme of 'Extempore prayer,' along wider and higher lines. The former volume dealt with prayer mainly from the human side as the approach of man to God. In the present book, true prayer is shown to be an approach from both the human and the divine sides. The book breathes the spirit of earnestness and the conception of the close relation in which the man of spiritual mould stands to his Maker is fresh and convincing and inspiring."—The Westminster.

TESKEY, Adeline M.

¶The Village Artist. 12mo, cloth ..... †1.00

The Artist is unique. The neighbors are of the ordinary product of a humdrum village existence. Most are far from attractive, some distinctly repulsive or otherwise disagreeable. Using her imagination as a substitute for brush and colors she paints mental portraits of what these might have been, seeing only the beautiful, refusing to note the warping of character through unfortunate environment or experience. Determining to treat each disagreeable neighbor as though equal to her ideals, she creates the desire on their part to be all the artist has conceived, thus imparting an inspiration and an aspiration for better things.

Methods of Bible Study. 12mo, cloth 50

Invaluable to the Bible student, lay or clergy. In studying the Bible, as in working for success in any other line, a definite method is essential. Dr. Thomas outlines as clear as sunlight, a plan of study that will banish haziness and enable a student to concentrate his efforts on a line of work that cannot fail to produce definite results. He first presents an inspiring view of the Bible as a whole, next as in two parts, the Old Testament and the New, then the individual books as units, and so on down or up to a specimen word study.

TORREY, Rev. R. A., D. D.

¶Talks to Men. About the Bible and the Christ of the Bible. 12mo, cloth..... .75

"The directness, simplicity, with wide scholarship and literary charm of these talks, and unhesitating claim for the highest and fullest inspiration, inerrancy and authority for the Bible, make them trumpet calls to faith. Incidentally Mr. Torrey illustrates to the reader many of the elements of his unique and compelling power in evangelistic work."—N. Y. Observer.

¶Real Salvation and Whole-Hearted Service. Being Second Volume of Revival Addresses. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

The remarkable evangelistic campaign now being conducted by Dr. Torrey in the principal cities of Great Britain, with the multitudes led to decision in connection with the preaching of these sermons, give assurance that their influence will be extended far beyond the reach of the speaker's voice. Positive conviction as regards the teaching of Scripture, an uncompromising attitude toward evil, and a loving plea as from a God-sent messenger, are the marked features of this new volume.

Revival Addresses. 12mo, cloth..... 1.00

Upon his return from a tour of evangelization around the world, there was a great demand from many quarters for a volume of Mr. Torrey's Revival Addresses and here it is. A prominent reviewer sums up its strength as follows: First, its holy dogmatism; second, clear doctrinal statements; third, popular style; fourth, it is on the level of the man on the street and crammed with anecdotes.

How to Work for Christ. A Compendium of Effective Methods. Uniform with "What the Bible Teaches." 8vo, cloth..... 2.50

"A work worthy of a place in the library of every Christian worker, clerical or lay, who is ambitious to win souls for Christ. The book is, from beginning to end, intensely practical, written in characteristically clear, terse, pointed, forceful style—written, the author says, because 'he could not help it.' It is therefore not only strong and vital with purpose and aim but rich in suggestion, stimulating, inspiring. He who has it and studies it can hardly fail to be a better minister of Jesus Christ, a better pastor, a more efficient and effective worker."—The Evangelical.

What the Bible Teaches. A Thorough and Comprehensive Study of All the Bible has to Say Concerning the Great Doctrines of which it Treats. 5th edition. Large 8vo, cloth.. 2.50

The Heart of John Wesley's Journal. Bi-Centenary Edition, 1703-1903, by Percy Livingston 8vo, illustrated, cloth..... 1.50
Introduction by Hugh Price Hughes. Appreciation by Augustine Birrell.
There is no book in existence that gives so exact and vivid a picture of the Eighteenth Century England as this record Wesley kept of his daily experiences. It is a work of astonishing interest, ranking in permanent historic value with Pepys' Diary or Newman's Apologia. The Journal heretofore filled four volumes, a prohibitive bulk that Mr. Parker has condensed to this single cover.

WHYTE, Rev. Alexander, D.D.

"All who have read Dr. Whyte's 'Bunyan Characters' will read a book he writes without a moment's hesitation. Terse, strong, epigrammatic in his style, he penetrates to the core of character, and expounds it and all the lessons it teaches in fine English, the English of John Bunyan, making a striking use of proverbs, quoting the Bible with rare felicity, and illuminating every page with metaphors and illustrations."—The N. Y. Observer.

¶The Walk, Conversation and Character of Jesus Christ Our Lord. 12mo, cloth..... 1.50

"Rich and glowing meditations on the life of our Lord. A genuine contribution to Christology. What distinguishes it most is the author's singularly clear perception of Christ alone without sin. While always in touch with real life, Dr. Whyte has that power of separating himself from the stream of things which is essential to a great religious teacher."—British Weekly (Robertson Nicoll, Editor.)

Among India's Students. Long 18mo, cloth .30

"A charming little book, by one who knows student life in India as few do. It describes the field—thirty thousand students in colleges, and 70,000 more in the two upper classes, in high schools. It shows the weakness and strength of Hinduism, and describes the methods of work used to reach these students, and the results attained. In these days of student interest it is an invaluable book."—The Independent.

YOUNG, Rev. Egerton R.

Children of the Forest: A story of Indian Love. 12mo, cloth. Illustrated..... .....1.25

"There are three heroines—three Indian maidens—in the story, and three young Indian braves. There is warfare between the Ojibways and the Sioux; there is a wicked medicine man, and an obstinate old chief; and in the end there is the coming of the missionaries with the Book of books. The romantic adventures of these wildwood children will be read with pleasure by other American young people."—Churchman.

Algonquin Indian Tales. Fully Illustrated, 12mo, cloth..... .....1.25

"The stories have a charm, a suggestion of Ovid, a reminiscence of Æsop, and sometimes a suspicious correspondence exists between the poetical folk-lore explanation and modern scientific theories of geology and world formation. One does not recall in familiar legendary stock quite such close agreement, and one suspects somehow a surreptitious lesson in geology intended for the likes of the make-believe pale-face children." New York Times Saturday Review of Books.

My Dogs in the Northland. Profusely Illustrated. 8vo, cloth. 1.25

"Those who like to read of adventure will find this book one to rejoice in greatly. Mr. Young gives us true character sketches of the Eskimo and St. Bernard dogs who have shared his northern sledge journeys, his dangers, privations, and odd experiences. Since 'Bob, Son of Battle' (which this book does not in the least resemble) there has been no better study of dog nature."—The Outlook.

Topsy-Turvy Land. Arabia Pictured for Children. Decorated cloth.... ... .75

"A book of pictures and stories for big children and small grown-up folk, for all who love Sinbad the Sailor and his strange country." This strange country is Arabia, where judged by our way of looking at things, manners, customs and every thing else looks topsy-turvy. Written in a vivacious and simple way, full of fun-in-earnest. Alive with information on the oddities of desert, crops, children, money, amusements, social and religious customs, language, and even the Arab puzzle. It shows what missions have done and what more they ought to do to set topsy-turvy life right-side up. The many illustrations are from drawings and photographs selected by the authors.

Arabia: The Cradle of Islam. Studies in the Geography, People and Politics of the Peninsula; with an account of Islam and Missionary Work. With Maps and numerous illustrations from Drawings and Photographs. 8vo, cloth. 2.00

"It comes at once into the vacant place of an up-to-date authority upon 'the neglected peninsula.' The comprehensive scope of the volume covers a wide range of interest, scientific and commercial, historical and literary, sociological and religious."—The Outlook.

The Perfected Life Booklets.

This series, as a whole, and the individual booklets included in it, have been and are extremely popular. For this the reasons are plain. There is probably not another series sold at the very modest prices asked for this, which has for its contributors any such list of authors as has this. The very wide range of the topics treated should also be noticed. The bindings, of which two are pictured in the accompanying cuts, are highly attractive.

Decorated paper, each, net 10 cents.

The With Christ Series.

By Rev. ANDREW MURRAY.

Comprising the six great works in connection with which the author attained such world-wide favor as a writer of helpful and spiritual devotional works. The bindings are unique and attractive, and the price, which in view of the fact that this is the authorized edition, upon which royalties are paid to the author, was already astonishingly low, has now been still further reduced.

16mo, white or colored cloth, each 35 cents; the set of 6 volumes, boxed, $2.00.

1. With Christ in the School of Prayer. Thoughts on our Training for the Ministry of Intercession.
2. Abide in Christ. Thoughts on the Blessed Life of Fellowship with the Son of God.
3. Like Christ. Thoughts on the Blessed Life of Conformity to the Son of God.
4. Holy in Christ. Thoughts on the Calling of God's Children to be Holy as He is Holy.
5. The Spirit of Christ. Thoughts on the Indwelling of the Holy Spirit in the Believer and the Church.
6. The Master's Indwelling. Northfield Addresses, 1895.

The Spirit-Filled Life Series.

A series of devotional books of exceptional value, including only copyright works by authors of wide reputation whose writings are rapidly becoming classics among Christian readers. The publishers' purpose is to supply some of the most popular religious works in such a form and at such a price as must insure an enormous sale. It is only in view of such large editions that the almost nominal price is made possible. The books are bound in the finest cloths, artistically decorated in two colors.

12mo, decorated cloth, each, net, 30 cents.

1. The Spirit-Filled Life. By the late Rev. John MacNeil.
2. Kept for the Master's Use. By Frances Ridley Havergal.

16mo, cloth, each, 35 cents; the set, boxed, $1.00.

Moral Muscle and How to Use It. A brotherly chat with young men. By F. A. Atkins.
"This is positively the best book for young men that we have seen."—St. Andrew's Cross.

The Young Man Foursquare, in Business, Society, Politics, and Religion. By Rev. James I. Vance, D.D.
"It is a book of good sense, which keeps on good terms with its readers and commands their assent."—Independent.

Thoroughness. Talks to Young Men. By Rev. Thain Davidson, D.D.

Young Men's Library, No. 2.

16mo, cloth, each, 35 cents; the set, boxed, $1.00.

The Skilled Workman. A Book for Young Men. By W. A. Bodell. Introduction by Rev. J. W. Chapman, D.D.

Brave and True. Talks to Young Men. By Rev. Thain Davidson, D.D.
"Dr. Davidson is a prince among talkers to young men. His matter is proverbial philosophy with a heart in it. It breathes, moves, it is full of life."—The Living Church.

First Battles, and How to Fight Them. Friendly Chats with Young Men. By F. A. Atkins.
'It is true in its substance, attractive in its style, and admirable in its spirit. I heartily commend this little volume.'—Rev. John Hall, D.D.

The Successward Library for Young Men.

16mo, each, 50 cents; the set, boxed, $1.50.

Successward. A young man's book for young men. By Edward W. Bok, editor Ladies' Home Journal. 12th edition.

Men and Morals. By Prof. James Stalker, M.A. 4th edition.
"His style is peculiar for its simplicity and freshness. Everyday truths are stated with such originiality and directness as to have the force of a new discovery."—The Interior.

Aspiration and Achievement. A young man's message to young men. By Frederick A. Atkins, editor of Young Man, London.
"Hearty, buoyant, yet discriminating and sober-minded."—Watchman.

Stories of Missions.

Illustrated. 12mo, decorated cloth, each, $1.00.

The Child of the Ganges. A Tale of the Judson Mission. By Robert N. Barrett. Illustrated.. 1.00
"With a story of 'seekers after God' in Burmah, is interwoven that of the consecrated missionaries, Adoniram and Ann Judson, a story familiar to us from childhood, yet never to lose its interest."—The N. Y. Observer.

The Sign of the Cross in Madagascar. By Rev. J. J. Kilpin Fletcher.
A bright, well written account of the development and growth of Christianity in Madagascar from the landing of the first missionaries to the triumph of the Cross. The persecutions and penalties inflicted upon the first Christian converts is pathetically told as well as the horrors and crimes committed in the name of Idolatry through the efforts of an unscrupulous Queen.

Kin-da-Shon's Wife. An Alaskan Story. By Mrs. Eugene S. Willard. A new Edition, Revised.
"The longing of famished souls for the bread of life is told with pathos, and prominence is given to the success of the missionary work rather than to its terrible isolation and varied trials."—The N. Y. Observer.
"From beginning to end the book holds the attention. Mrs. Willard has shown herself peculiarly well qualified to write such a book."—Public Opinion.

The Cobra's Den. And other Stories of Missionary Work among the Telugus of India. By Rev. Jacob Chamberlain.
"One of the best missionary books we have met with. It consists of short stories of missionary experience, full of interesting adventure and incident, and with a Christian point to every story. Inspires an intelligent sympathy with the work."—The Outlook.

In the Tiger Jungle, and other Stories of Missionary Work Among the Telugus of India. By Rev. Jacob Chamberlain, M.D., D.D.
"His book is as fresh as the morning and as sweet as a rose, full of telling incident, and written in an attractive style. If this is the kind of missionary who mans the foreign stations they will never fail for lack of enterprise. . . . The book is withal a vivid and serious portrayal of the mission work, and as such leaves a deep impression on the reader."—The Independent.

On the Indian Trail. Stories of Missionary Work Among the Cree and Salteaux Indians. By Egerton R. Young. Author of "By Canoe and Dog Train," etc., etc.
"No one who wishes a clear idea of the needs and opportunities of the Indian can afford not to read it."—The Independent.

Korean Sketches. A Missionary's Observations in the Hermit Nation. By Rev. James S. Gale.
"He writes easily and picturesquely of the peoples and their customs; of exciting and amusing travel adventures; and of the possibilities of manufactures, commerce, agriculture, education and religion in Korea. His book is thoroughly readable. As a clear presentation of native life, it is the best extant book on Korea."—Outlook.
"The book is hopeful, sympathetic, and entertaining. There is not a dull page, and the illustrations cast real light on the text."—The Sunday School Times.

The Transformation of Hawaii. How American Missionaries gave a Christian Nation to the World. By Belle M. Brain.
"The history of Hawaii, from the date of Captain Cook's discovery in 1778 to the date of the recent annexation, is told by Belle M. Brain in a style level to youthful comprehension and interesting to the general reader."—The Outlook.
"A book that will be read with thrilling interest by any person who desires to become familiar with the remarkable achievements of the last half century."—Zion's Herald.

In Afric's Forest and Jungle; or, Six Years Among the Yorubans. By Rev. R. H. Stone.
"A vivacious and deeply interesting volume; a model of clear, informing, flowing style. Mr. Stone had a number of perilous and thrilling experiences growing out of the wars between the great African tribes."—The Religious Herald.

Missions in Eden. Glimpses of Life in the Valley of the Euphrates. By Mrs. Crosby H. Wheeler, forty years Missionary of American Board in Eastern Turkey. Illustrated.

The Story of Uganda and the Victoria Nyanza Mission. By Sarah Geraldine Stock. With Map and Illustrations.
"To be commended as a good, brief, general survey of the Protestant missionary work in Uganda."—The Literary World.

Stories of Childhood.

Well illustrated, well-bound books for children, of the kind that entertain not only the youngsters who hear, but equally the oldsters who read them. The covers are evidence that the publishers are determined that not the grown-ups only shall have their literature in artistic dress, while the illustrations, from original drawings by well-known illustrators, are to an equal extent distinctly in advance of what is usually considered sufficiently artistic for the youthful eye.

Small 4to. decorated cloth, each, 50 cents.

1. A Thoughtless Seven. By Amy Le Feuvre, author of "'Probable Sons.'" Illustrated.

A record of the doings of seven youngsters, brothers and sisters, who spend their summer vacation at the seashore. One of them becomes impressed with the fact that they should not waste their time so entirely, and endeavors to bring the others to her way of thinking.

2. How the Children Raised the Wind. By Edna Lyall, author of "Doreen," "Donovan," "We Two," etc. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury.

"A charming story of the successful efforts of two children to help pay off a debt on a church of which their father is the pastor." The Brooklyn Eagle.

3. Adolph, and How He Found the "Beautiful Lady." By Fannie J. Taylor. Illustrated by Helene Toering.

"A delightful story for the children. . . . Adolph becomes an emigrant at a very early age, and the story of his experiences is told in a way to keep the attention."—The Watchman.

4. The Making of a Hero, and Other Stories for Boys. By Mrs. George A. Paull, author of "Prince Dimple," etc. Illustrated by G. W. Bonte.

"This little volume contains half a dozen bright, attractive and profitable tales for boys by one who was a favorite writer, whether she wrote for young or old. She knew well how to please and profit, and exerted by her manifold sketches untold influence for good. Being dead, she yet speaks through the printed page, and her voice will find welcome and a hearing in numberless homes."—The N. Y. Observer.

5. Teddy's Button. By Amy Le Feuvre, author of "'Probable Sons,'" etc. Illustrated by E. Lance.

"A captivating story. Teddy and Nancy win our hearts. Teddy's brave fight with himself commands admiration, and stout-hearted, handsome Nancy, a real girl in all her doings, conquers the heart. A very good story is this for the children."—The Christian Intelligencer.

6. Three Times Three. A Story for Young People. Nine full-page illustrations. By "Pansy" (Mrs. G. R. Alden), and others.

"A skillfully told story of three homes, of three children in each home, by "three times three" famous writers of children's stories. Although each chapter is the product of a different author, they have been so cleverly woven that it is difficult to realize that the whole tale is not from the same pen. The following are the authors: Mrs. Alden ("Pansy"), Faye Huntington, Alice M. Guernsey, M.V.M., Julia Mills Dunn, Maude Lorene Greene, Margaret Allys, Mrs. Lucy A. Scott, Mrs. George Archibald."—The N. Y. Observer.

7. Walled In. By Wm. O. Stoddard. Illustrated.

"A story—and a true one—of prison life on Randall's Island, New York, and of the successful outcome of endeavors on the part of certain youthful prisoners to turn over a new leaf. It is written with the author's familiar brightness of style, and is a capital book."—The Congregationalist.

SPECIAL MENTION

Shearer's Morals and Manners for Class instruction and supplementary reading; and Shearer's Gems of Wisdom from Bible, Literature, and Proverbs, for Opening exercises and Concert Readings, are everywhere commended as the best books of their class.

Cady & Dewey's Picture Stories from Great Artists, the most beautiful School book published, containing reproductions in black and white of the choicest pictures of Rosa Bonheur, Van Dyck, Landseer and Murillo—for supplementary reading, Second Reader grade. 128 pages, cloth. Price, 35 cents.

Cole's Story of the Golden Apple is the story of the Trojan war and the long wanderings of Ulysses told for the children of Third Reader grade. The story is intensely interesting and introduces the child to the sources of many of the most famous stories and myths of all literature. 128 pages, cloth. Price, 40 cents.

Cole's Heroes of the Olden Time is a companion book to the above and tells the legends and adventures of the old Greek heroes and demigods, Hercules, Theseus, Jason, Perseus, Meleager and others. 128 pages, cloth. Price, 40 cents.

New American Music Readers in four Numbers. The books begin with rote singing for the lower grades; the practice work is abundant and the teacher is supplied with hundreds of most carefully graded exercises in sight reading, dictation, vocalization, articulation and breathing. Prices: No. 1, 38 cents; No. 2, 45 cents; No. 3, 50 cents; No. 4, 50 cents.

Messrs. Richardson, Smith & Co. beg to announce that they have become the Eastern representatives of Messrs. W. H. Wheeler & Co. of Chicago for the introduction and sale of the following publications:

INTERNATIONAL CRITICAL COMmentary on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Issued under the editorship of Prof. C. A. BRIGGS, D.D., in America, and Prof. S. R. DRIVER, D.D., and Rev. ALFRED PLUMMER, D.D., in Great Britain.

This Commentary is international and inter-confessional, and is free from polemical and ecclesiastical bias. It is based upon a thorough critical study of the original texts of the Bible, and upon critical methods of interpretation. It is designed chiefly for students and clergymen, and will be written in a compact style. Historical and Archaeological questions, as well as questions of Biblical Theology, are included in the plan of the Commentary, but not Practical or Homiletical Exegesis. The volumes constitute a uniform series.

INTERNATIONAL THEOLOGICAL Library.

Edited by Prof. CHARLES A. BRIGGS, D.D., of Union Theological Seminary, New York, and Prof. S. D. F. SALMOND, D.D., of Aberdeen, Scotland.

This Library, undertaken by Messrs Charles Scribner's Sons in connection with Messrs T. & T. Clark, of Edinburgh, is designed to cover the whole field of Christian Theology, each volume being complete in itself and yet part of an organic whole. It is to be a series of text-books for students of Theology, and yet a systematic exposition of the several departments of theological science for all intelligent persons. The Library is international, interconfessional, catholic and scientific. The authors have been chosen for their eminent ability in the departments assigned them.

LUTHERAN COMMENTARY, THE.

By Scholars of the Lutheran Church in the United States, under the editorial charge of HENRY EYSTER JACOBS, D.D., LL.D. Is being published after extensive correspondence and consultation between the general editor and Lutheran scholars throughout the country. It comprises thirteen volumes of about 400 pages each, and incorporates the text of the revised version. The work fills an intermediate position between scientific and popular exposition. It does not enter into the discussion of critical questions, but seeks to present results. It is adapted to the wants of pastors, and is especially valuable to intelligent laymen and Sunday-school teachers. Per volume, cloth. 12mo, ... net, 2.00

Scribner's Magazine

THE LEADING HOME MAGAZINE

ENTERTAINING The most brilliant Novelists and Short Story writers are constant contributors, including those of established reputation, as well as new writers of unusual promise. The work of many of the best known writers of Fiction has first appeared in SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE. Each monthly issue contains a feast for those who enjoy delightful stories told by masters of the art.

INSTRUCTIVE Scholars, Travellers, Scientists, Naturalists, Historians and many other specialists, each an authority in his own profession, present in most fascinating and readable style accounts of notable achievement, observation and research. The thoughtful and scholarly, as well as those who seek simple entertainment, will find charm and satisfaction in such articles.

ARTISTIC The Fiction, the Verse, and the multitude of other articles are most exquisitely illustrated by half-tone and color pictures which show the very highest development of the art of reproduction. Such pictures, expressing the artistic conceptions of the most eminent illustrators, add much to the value of the Magazine as a refining and uplifting agent in the home.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE IS WORTHY OF A PLACE IN EVERY FAMILY CIRCLE

THE AFTERMATH OF SLAVERY. A Study of the Condition and Environment of the American Negro.

Net, $1.50. By post, $1.62

BY WILLIAM A. SINCLAIR.

With an Introduction by Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

This volume holds a unique place in the literature of the race question, in tha t it presents for the first time an adequate account of the civil history of the negro, and contains just the information needed to understand the real facts of the burning questions which are occupying the attention of the federal and State governments. Written by one of the ablest of the colored race, Dr. Sinclair's book is especially significant in that its point of view is not that of the indignant Northerner or the prejudiced Southerner, but that of the most interested party, the negro himself. It, indeed, presents for the first time the historical facts that show why the negro deserves full citizenship. Concerning it Colonel Higginson says: "It is in almost all respects admirable, and shows much more thoroughness in dealing with both sides than any book recently produced."

"A strong, righteous, wise, and timely discussion of one of the most vitally important problems that confront the American people."— (Chicago Tribune.)

"The fullest and best expression of the point of view of a negro that has yet been published."— (Columbia (S. C.) State.)

"It is full of information for every thoughtful citizen."— (Boston Journal.)

"The purpose of the book is to vindicate the fitness of the negro for full citizenship, and it is carried out with unmistakable ability."— (Pacific Churchman.)

Cloth, decorative, gilt top, 7¾ x 5¼ in.

AGASSIZ, LOUIS. Net, 75 cents

By ALICE BACHE GOULD.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"A most interesting and graphic account of the life and work of one of the most interesting figures in American scientific history."—(Review.)

ALONG THE TRAIL. A Book of Lyrics. $1.50

By RICHARD HOVEY.

"Mr. Hovey's . . . lyrics certainly are not closet-verse. They are full of open-air joy, of manly vigor, of buoyant life, . . . all his poetry is pitched in the major keys. . . . In his better work he is a true and perhaps a great poet. . . . We can even say, not forgetting Browning, that the kind of love here expressed is a new creation in poetry. Yet strength does not exclude delicacy."—(Curtis Hidden Page, in The Bookman.)

Cloth, decorative, 7 x $4\frac{3}{8}$ in.

ANGLO-BOER CONFLICT, THE. Its History and Causes.

By ALLEYNE IRELAND. 75 cents

This little volume presents a brief and accurate account of the events which led up to the war in South Africa.

. . . "It is seldom, indeed, that one finds a concise hand-book and a comprehensive encyclopædia combined in a single volume. But Mr. Ireland has produced it here. Small as the volume is, it contains all that can be required for an adequate understanding of the case, even including many important points not to be found in more extended and pretentious treatises."—(New York Tribune.)

Paper boards, $6\frac{3}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{8}$ in.

ALPHABET OF CELEBRITIES, AN. $1.50

By OLIVER HERFORD.

With twenty-six illustrations by the Author, cover design and end-papers by E. B. Bird, and with borders and initial letters by Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue.

"Mr. Herford, less considerate than Dr. Holmes, always dares to be as funny as he can, and the wicked glee with which he groups persons incongruous and antipathetic and shows them doing things impossible to them, and doing them at the most absurd times and seasons and in places manifestly inaccessible to them, and makes pictures of them, is a thing to shock the Gradgrinds and dismay the Chadbands. Each letter of the alphabet has its group and stanza, and the sober-minded reader turns each leaf in the full conviction that jokes must be exhausted and that something serious and truly instructive will appear on the next page, but to him cherishing such visions come only laughter and another jest, and, like Brugglesmith, he remembers the crackling of thorns, and wishes that he could write something similar. The book has borders and letters designed by Mr. Bertram Goodhue, and is printed in two colors to divert the reader's mind from the jokes, lest laughter be fatal to him."—(New York Times.)

Paper boards, $9\frac{3}{8}$ x $7\frac{1}{8}$ in.

AMERICAN PRIMER, AN. Net, $2.00. By post, $2.10

By WALT WHITMAN.

Edited, with an introductory note, by Horace Traubel.

The original draft of this interesting book was given to Mr. Traubel by Walt Whitman many years ago, but it was only recently that he discovered that he was in possession of an entirely unpublished manuscript. Upon examination he found that, although the material was in the form of a number of apparently desultory notes, they proved, when arranged consecutively, to possess a definite unity.

The present edition is limited to five hundred copies, and contains interesting facsimiles of the original manuscript.

Paper boards, Japan vellum back, 8⅜ x 5¼ in.

ARABELLA AND ARAMINTA STORIES, THE.

Net, $1.00. By post, $1.10

By GERTRUDE SMITH.

With an introduction in verse by Mary E. Wilkins and a cover design, fifteen full-page illustrations, and end-papers by Ethel Reed.

"A book which I should think might be more surpassingly loved by the little ones than any book that was ever written for them."—(W. D. Howells, in Harper's Weekly.)

This book has been adopted for use in the school libraries of New York City, in the township libraries of the State of Wisconsin, and was included in the model library at the St. Louis Exposition.

Cloth, decorative, 8⅞ x 6¾ in.

AT START AND FINISH. $1.25

By WILLIAM LINDSEY.

A collection of nine athletic stories by an author who is not only an athlete, but has also a remarkable charm of literary style.

Cloth, decorative, 7 x 4⅝ in.

AUCASSIN AND NICOLETTE. A Song-tale of True Lovers.

By M. S. HENRY (Translator). 75 cents

This translation is from the little-varying old French Texts of H. Suchier, Gaston Paris, and F. W. Bourdillon. The verse translation put in rhyme by Edward W. Thomson. Uniform with Our Lady's Tumbler.

This mediæval classic is here for the first time presented without suppression or modification. Critics like Mr. Walter Pater and Mr. George Saintsbury have agreed to call the work a little masterpiece, and the translators have fully caught the spirit of the delicate, mirthful, and passionate original.

"Altogether sweet and lovely."—(Christian Register.)

Half Holland, paper boards, 5½ x 4 in.

AUDUBON, JOHN JAMES. Net, 75 cents

By JOHN BURROUGHS.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

A volume which possesses double charm in its subject and in its author. No more picturesque life can be found among the pioneers of America than that of the great ornithologist. A brief sketch of his life has long been desired. And it would be difficult to find an author better fitted to inspire interest, or to give a more appreciative estimate of Audubon's contribution to science and to America.

NOTE.— For the convenience of those who desire to possess all of Mr. Burroughs's writings in uniform size, a large paper edition of 500 copies has been printed on hand-made paper, uniform in size and style of binding with the Riverside (first) edition of Mr. Burroughs's works. Price, net, $2.00; by post, $2.15.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A BEGGAR, THE. Prefaced by some Account of the Humorous Adventures and Incidents related in "The Beggars' Club." $1.50

By I. K. FRIEDMAN, author of The Lucky Number, Poor People, By Bread Alone.

The book scintillates with wit, and has been well characterized as "irresistibly funny and full of genial human nature in rags." It is copiously illustrated with full-page illustrations by W. Glackens, who has here achieved some of his most distinctive work with a rare sympathy for the types which he portrays and their essential humor.

Cloth, decorative, $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{7}{8}$ in.

BACON CRYPTOGRAMS IN SHAKE-SPEARE, and Other Studies. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.06

By ISAAC HULL PLATT.

This little volume is an appeal for fair and honest treatment of the subject of the authorship of Shakespeare. It does not claim to prove that Bacon wrote Shakespeare, and has nothing to do with any fanciful theory of Bacon's parentage. It gives a concise and very interesting account of certain newly found cryptograms (some of which are original discoveries of the author) which seem to indicate that Francis Bacon was in some way concerned in the authorship or publication of the poems and plays known as Shakespeare's. It makes no claim upon the faith or credulity of the reader, as all points are fully explained and elucidated.

Paper boards, cloth back, $7\frac{1}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

By BLISS CARMAN.
See LOW TIDE ON GRAND PRÉ.

BEHIND THE ARRAS. A Book of the Unseen. $1.25
By BLISS CARMAN.
With eight illustrations by T. B. Meteyard.

"The collection is of exceptional merit, and besides its poetic quality has two excellent characteristics: it awakens interest and compels thought." — (Halifax Herald.)

Cloth, decorative, $6\frac{7}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Under the editorship of Mr. M. A. DEWOLFE HOWE, the publishers are issuing a series of brief memoirs of eminent Americans, designed to appeal to the increasing interest of American readers in the lives of the more important figures in our national history. The volumes of this series are brief,—not more than 150 small pages,—they are trustworthy, and they are intended to be thoroughly readable and entertaining. Each volume begins with a full chronological table of incidents and achievements, and ends with a bibliographical note, giving the student the best references for farther research.

While primarily designed for the busy man and woman interested in their country's history, and desiring, in brief compass, the accurate and interesting statement of essential facts, the Biographies should be useful especially to schools for supplementary reading and frequent reference in school libraries, and to literary, historical, and patriotic organizations of men and women, most of whom must now go to great inconvenience and considerable expense in obtaining the volumes of biography to which they must necessarily refer.

BIRTH OF GALAHAD, THE. A Romantic Drama. $1.50

By RICHARD HOVEY.

Uniform with The Quest of Merlin, The Marriage of Guenevere, and Taliesin. (See Launcelot and Guenevere.)

"We cannot always put our finger on the full mystery that a real poet offers us, but we can feel what may not be easily expressed in our ratiocination about it. . . . Richard Hovey . . . must at least be called a true and remarkable poet in his field. He can not only say things in a masterly manner, but he has something impressive to say. . . . Nothing modern since the appearance of Swinburne's Atalanta in Calydon surpasses them [these dramas] in virility and classical clearness and perfection of thought."— (Joel Benton, in The New York Times Saturday Review.)

Paper boards, vellum back, decorative, $6\frac{7}{8}$ x $4\frac{3}{8}$ in.

BLACK RIDERS, THE. And Other Lines. $1.00

By STEPHEN CRANE.

"The most striking thing of the year. . . . Scarcely any one of the strange little pieces fails to be suggestive."— (W. D. Howells, in Harper's Weekly.)

Paper boards, decorative, $6\frac{1}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

BOOTH, EDWIN. Net, 75 cents

By CHARLES TOWNSEND COPELAND.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

In addition to his general qualifications for writing a sympathetic and competent life of the great American actor, Mr. Copeland has been allowed to examine and make use of Mr. Booth's personal letters to Mr. Thomas Bailey Aldrich, which have not been made public heretofore.

BROOKS, PHILLIPS. Net, 75 cents

By M. A. DeWOLFE HOWE.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"The best story of Bishop Brooks's life that has yet appeared."— (Boston Transcript.)

BROWN, JOHN. Net, 75 cents

By JOSEPH EDGAR CHAMBERLIN.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"A model of the brief biography . . . at once straightforward and picturesque."—(Cleveland Town Topics.)

BROWNING, ROBERT. Net, 75 cents

By ARTHUR WAUGH.

(See Westminster Biographies.)

"A wonderful piece of characterization,—clear, distinct, and true. . . . Mr. Waugh has written the best short life of the great poet."—(Review.)

BUNCH OF ROSES, A, and other Parlour Plays. Net, $1.00
By post, $1.10

By Mrs. M. E. M. DAVIS, author of Jaconetta: her loves, The Queen's Garden, The Wire Cutters, Under the Man-Fig.

A remarkably clever collection of comedies and comediettas full of vigor and bright humor, suitable for parlour or lawn production, and requiring no costumes or "properties" not easily obtainable in any home. The volume includes all of Mrs. Davis's plays published in the Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia, together with others now first published.

Cloth, decorative, 7 x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

BURR, AARON. Net, 75 cents

By HENRY CHILDS MERWIN.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"This volume fully sustains the high reputation which the series of brief biographies to which it belongs has earned from the reading public."—(The Advance.)

BY THE AURELIAN WALL AND OTHER ELEGIES. $1.25

By BLISS CARMAN.

Among the elegies contained in this volume is the beautiful threnody for Robert Louis Stevenson,—"A Sea-mark,"—which, separately published some years ago, aroused the admiration of the critics.

"A new volume of poems by Mr. Bliss Carman is a literary event which appeals not only to the love of beauty, but to the love of novelty as well."—(The Bookman.)

Cloth, decorative, $6\frac{7}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

BY THE WAY. Being a Collection of Short Essays on Music and Art in General. Two volumes. Each, 75 cents

By WILLIAM FOSTER APTHORP.

The book is one which appeals both to musicians and amateurs; for, while its knowledge is exact and its statements careful, the tone of the book is not technical, and its gossip about music, musicians, and kindred subjects makes it as entertaining as its statements of facts and dates make it valuable.

Vol. I. About Music. Vol. II. About Musicians. About Art in General

Two volumes, cloth, $6\frac{3}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{8}$ in. Either volume sold separately.

BY-WAYS OF WAR. The Story of the Filibusters. $1.50

CHANTS COMMUNAL. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.10

By HORACE TRAUBEL.

A representative collection of prose pieces, radical but constructive, treating of the economic situation of the time and imbued with the spirit and the letter of the communistic ideal. Of severe but optimistic strain, they are not violent or obstructive, but rather like face to face talks with those who would study the industrial problems in the light of historic experience and endeavor to prophesy therefrom of their evolution.

Cloth, 8 x $5\frac{3}{4}$ in.

CHILD VERSE. Poems Grave and Gay. $1.00

COLONIAL ADMINISTRATION IN THE FAR EAST, A REPORT ON.

By ALLEYNE IRELAND, F.R.G.S.,

Colonial Commissioner of the University of Chicago, author of Tropical Colonisation, The Far Eastern Tropics, etc.

This report by the foremost English authority on Comparative Colonization will cover exhaustively the field of British, French, Dutch, and American government in the tropical regions of the Far East, and will furnish the only comprehensive work in English upon its important subject.

The countries included are Burma, Hong Kong, British North Borneo, Sarawak, the Federated Malay States, the Straits Settlements, French Indo-China, Java, and the Philippines. It will extend to ten or twelve volumes, royal octavo, and will be sold only by subscription. The first volume will appear during the autumn of 1905.

As only a limited edition of the report will be printed, it is desirable that those who wish to secure the work should register their subscriptions at as early a date as possible.

The price per volume on subscriptions registered for the entire set is $10.00 net, payable on delivery. This work is not subject to trade discounts.

A prospectus will be forwarded on application.

CONCERNING CHILDREN. $1.25

By CHARLOTTE PERKINS (STETSON) GILMAN, author of Women and Economics, etc.

A remarkable volume of original and helpful essays looking toward the better understanding of children and their more sensible and healthy development. A book worth reading, not only for the soundness of its philosophy, but also for its charm of style and the piquancy of its wit.

"Wanted, a philanthropist, to give a copy to every English-speaking parent!"—(The Times, New York.)

"Every parent ought to read this book."—(The Outlook.)

"One of the most helpful books we have yet seen."—(The Mail and Express, New York.)

"A wonderful amount of common-sense philosophy."—(The Public Ledger, Philadelphia.)

"Should be read by every mother in the land."—(The Press, New York.)

"We would like to quote pages from this book, or, better yet, convince the reader that the best course is to read from cover to cover."—(The Advertiser, Boston.)

(See Westminster Biographies.)

"The ablest brief exposition of Defoe's life and work."—(Review.)

DIFFERENCES. $1.50

By HERVEY WHITE.

A story of social life and differences in Chicago.

"If this book is given its deserts, it will live as long as George Eliot's Felix Holt. In many points it can be compared to the great English novelist's story of the Radical workman who personified so finely the characteristics of the sturdy British toiler. In this case the workman-hero is an American, but the characterization is all the more striking since the book is meant for American readers. . . . Such a plot as this has been used before in novels, but never with the virility, the quiet force, or the striking originality with which the subject is treated here. As a novel of social disparities Differences probably has few equals in the English language for strength and beauty."—(Philadelphia Item.)

Cloth, decorative, $7\frac{3}{4}$ x 5 in.

DORIC REED, A. 75 cents

By ZITELLA COCKE.

"These sonnets [on the great composers] are the fullest utterance of art vitalized with sympathy and dignified by conscious power."—(Boston Times.)

"Has the attraction of some good Southern landscape, with a local coloring quite fresh to us. . . . This child-picture ('When Polly takes the Air') is graceful enough for Austin Dobson."—(The Nation.)

Paper boards, 6 x $3\frac{3}{4}$ in.

DOUGLASS, FREDERICK. Net, 75 cents

By CHARLES W. CHESNUTT.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"Mr. Chesnutt probably has come nearer to the real man than any one who has described him."—(Literary News.)

DREYFUS STORY, THE. 50 cents

By RICHARD W. HALE.

With a facsimile of Bertillon's diagram. Third edition brought down to the end of the Rennes trial.

"A great deal has been written and published about the Dreyfus case, but we have seen nothing so condensed, so temperately written, and so thoroughly informing as a little book that has just come to us, entitled The Dreyfus Story, by Richard W. Hale, a member of the Boston bar, who has gone over the whole case in a very lawyer-like and satisfactory way, so that for the average reader who does not care to go into the original sources of information the book is the best thing of its kind that has been published."—(Commercial Advertiser, New York City.)

Paper boards, $6\frac{3}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{8}$ in.

DUKE CARL OF ROSENMOLD. An Imaginary Portrait. $1.00

By WALTER PATER.

At once a quietly fascinating tale and a psychic essay,—a combination which has naturally adapted to the end of its own success Mr. Pater's finest vein and style. (Remainder of an edition of 500 copies.)

Paper, $6\frac{3}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

DUNCAN, ADAM (LORD CAMPERDOWN). Net, 75 cents

By H. W. WILSON, author of Ironsides in Action.

(See Westminster Biographies.)

"Next to Nelson, England's greatest admiral. His life deserves to be familiar to the reader of to-day; and this little volume will therefore take a high rank among its excellent though tiny companions of this valuable series."—(Review.)

EIGHTEEN MILES FROM HOME. $1.00

By WILLIAM T. HODGE.

The hero, Joseph Beecher, an awkward country boy with uncontrollable aspirations as a Shaksperean star, is quite a new type in fiction, and his adventures, from his début on the stage, as the dupe of a travelling professor of mesmerism, up to the lamentable yet laughable finale of his professional career, stranded only "eighteen miles from home," but in an entangled web of circumstance which makes this meagre distance temporarily untraversable, hold the interested attention throughout, and, in the words of a reader of the manuscript, "almost make you cry, although you can't help laughing at him."

Cloth, decorative, 7 x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

ELIOT, GEORGE. Net, 75 cents

ETHICS OF EVOLUTION, THE. The Crisis in Morals occasioned by the Doctrine of Development. $1.25

By JAMES THOMPSON BIXBY, Ph.D.

The Boston Transcript says: "A new edition of this book needs no excuse, as the work has been translated into Japanese, and has received high commendation in Germany and the English-speaking countries."

"The soundest book on ethics issued for years."—(Frances Power Cobbe.)

"As timely to-day as when it first appeared."—(New York Mail and Express.)

"The entire discussion of the book is enlightening and, to the Christian reader, reassuring."—(The Advance, Chicago.)

Cloth, 7 x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

FARRAGUT, DAVID G. Net, 75 cents

By JAMES BARNES.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"The book must take its place as the best short sketch of Farragut's life yet written. Indeed, the historian of the future will have a difficult matter before him if he expects to improve on this commendable piece of work."—(Nautical Gazette.)

FEAST OF THALARCHUS, THE. A Dramatic Poem.

By CONDÉ BENOIST PALLEN. Net, $1.00

This volume presents in fluent and noble verse the story of the conversion of a Grecian nobleman, Thalarchus, from Paganism to Christianity, by the life and example of St. Simeon the Stylite.

16mo, paper boards, paper label.

FATE. A Book of Poems. $1.25

By ADA NEGRI.

Translated from the Italian by A. M. von Blomberg.

"Ada Negri is the Italian poet whose work has made so much of a sensation in Italy and the Continent during the last few years. She has been compared to Johanna Ambrosius, the German peasant-poet, and there is similarity in the circumstances of the lives also. The work of Ada Negri is strong and vivid, and makes a straightforward appeal to the deeper emotions; and her descriptions of nature are peculiarly enlightening. The translations of Miss Von Blomberg are faithful to the original, and are besides beautiful English poems of a high merit."—(Review.)

BY GEORGE H. BROWNE, A.M.

A thoroughly comprehensive hand-book giving in most compact form a remarkable amount of information as to the theory, history, and practical execution of figure skating, and written with real charm of style. The book contains over 600 diagrams and illustrations and suggestions for nearly 10,000 figures, together with a supplemental chapter on the International Style in Figure Skating chiefly after the authoritative exposition by Gilbert Fuchs. It is substantially bound in convenient size for the coat pocket.

Flexible leather, decorative, 6½ x 3½ in.

FISKE, JOHN. Net, 75 cents

By THOMAS SERGEANT PERRY.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

The Beacon Biographies are once more enabled to offer to the reading public the first life of an eminently great American. The present volume is written by one who enjoyed the most intimate acquaintance with Mr. Fiske, and will have a permanent appeal as an adequate miniature portrait, however many other volumes on the subject may hereafter appear.

FLEEING NYMPH, THE. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.06

By LLOYD MIFFLIN.

A new volume of lyrical poetry by an author of whom the Westminster Review has said: "Mr. Mifflin is a genuine poet. . . . He possesses a vivid imagination, kept under severe restraint, a delicate ear for rhythm, together with the faculty of pictorial representation, [and] a well-nigh faultless technique."

12mo, cloth, gold decorative, with cover design by Marion L. Peabody.

FOOTBALL GRANDMA. An Auto-baby-ography as told by Tony.

EDITED BY CAROLYN S. CHANNING CABOT.
With an introduction by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, LL.D.

A story of child life up to the period of the first pair of trousers, which every grandmamma will be glad to read to her favorite grandson, and indeed find interesting to herself. It is a book for every nursery and one which children will read and reread with delight.

Cloth, decorative, 8⅞ x 6¾ in., with illustrations reproduced from Tony's interpretations of his every-day surroundings.

FORTUNE AND MEN'S EYES. New Poems with a Play. $1.50

BY JOSEPHINE PRESTON PEABODY, author of The Wayfarers.

An Elizabethan Drama showing, in addition to rare poetic quality, an audacious humour, which will come as a surprise even to those familiar with Miss Peabody's writings. The title is, of course, from Shakspere's Sonnets; and "The Player" of the drama is none but "Master W. S." himself; the play presenting the spiritual crisis of the sonnets at a climax on the same afternoon with a bear-baiting in South London. The new poems which complete the volume show a marked advance in power and directness.

"It is so good in many ways that it places her not only far before all her poetical sisterhood here, but in the front of all living poets."— (Richard Henry Stoddard.)

Cloth, decorative, 7½ x 4¾ in.

FUTURE OF THE AMERICAN NEGRO, THE. $1.50

BY BOOKER T. WASHINGTON.

In this book Mr. Washington takes up briefly the history of the Negro race in America and their present conditions. But the main body of the work is devoted to the author's theories as to what will better their condition; and he explains fully the practical working out of his theories of industrial education as exemplified in his school at Tuskegee.

"Every one who reads the publication . . . will be impressed with the brains which underlie the sober judgment of the writer."— (Atlanta Constitution.)

"A work that should command the attention of every person interested in the future conditions of the United States."— (Philadelphia Inquirer.)

"He is doing for the race more than all its bishops."— (Florida Times-Union.)

"Candid, dispassionate, and practical."— (Living Age.)

"Nothing hitherto published is equal to it, and it will be a long time, we think, before any book on this subject will displace it."— (New York Commercial Advertiser.)

Cloth, 7⅝ x 5 in.

Popular Edition, Paper Covers, 50 cents

FREE TO SERVE. A Tale of Colonial New York. Net, 50c.

By E. RAYNER.

With a cover design by Maxfield Parrish.

"We here have a thorough-going romance of American life in the first days of the eighteenth century. It is a story written for the story's sake, and right well written, too. We do not doubt that it will find plenty of readers who will not care a straw whether its sketches of life are true or merely fanciful. They are interesting, and the tale goes its way at a lively gait. Indians, Dutch, Frenchmen, New England Puritans, all play a part. The scenes are vivid, the incidents novel and many."—(The Independent, New York.)

Cloth, 7⅞ x 5¼ in.

GAGE OF YOUTH, A. Lyrics from the Lark and Other Verses. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.05

By GELETT BURGESS, author of Vivette, etc.

A collection of the unique verses which attracted such hearty admiration when first published in The Lark, together with a number of unpublished poems.

"The wide range of Mr. Burgess's versatility, from the ridiculous to the sincerest poetry, has never been so well illustrated as by this little volume. As a humourist he is delightful, but this collection also proves that he may be taken seriously and still win praise."

Paper boards, decorative.

GEORGIE. $1.00

By S. E. KISER.

With a cover design and ten illustrations by Ralph Bergengren.

"The charm of the book is the permanent charm of all literature, according to Matthew Arnold's admirable definition. Georgie is a singularly acute and humorous interpretation of the home life led by the American who is neither too rich to be aping the English nor too poor to avoid the other extreme of Europeanism in slum or hovel. The book is worth reading as holding 'a mirror up to nature,' and it is also worth praising because it discloses between its lines a kindly and unspoiled nature on the part of the author."—(Chicago Tribune.)

Cloth, decorative, 6⅜ x 5⅞ in.

GRANT, ULYSSES S. Net, 75 cents

By OWEN WISTER.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

Henry Cabot Lodge says of this book:

"This is a most admirable biography. Within the space allotted to him Mr. Wister has given a most striking picture of the man himself. It required much art to draw on such a limited canvas so vivid a portrait. All the essential features are there, thrown into high relief, and it will give to many who have not the time to read larger works an opportunity to comprehend the character and qualities of the great soldier of the Civil War."

President Roosevelt says:

"It seems to me the very best short biography which has ever been written of any prominent American. A masterpiece of eloquent condensation, without the slightest sacrifice of historical perspective. It is noble in manner and noble in matter."

GRAPES OF WRATH, THE. A Tale of North and South. $1.50

By MARY HARRIOTT NORRIS.

With six full-page illustrations by Horace T. Carpenter.

"A strong, vivid, homely story of domestic life, North and South, during the closing scenes of the Civil War."

Cloth, decorative, 7⅛ x 5¼ in.

GUMPTION. The Progressions of Newson New. $1.50

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, Jr.

As its title will indicate, this is a tale of Yankee push and progress. It is also a vivid story of modern newspaper life. In following the rise and migrations of an ambitious Cape Cod boy from the conservatism of his native surroundings westward through several New England cities until he finds the field for his life work in a bustling city of the Middle West, the author also gives an interesting picture of the development of modern journalism from the old-fashioned, provincial methods of three decades ago to the marvellous activity of to-day.

Mr. Fowler describes conditions and people with a keen directness and felicitous aptness of phrase that will charm all readers by its deep insight and irrepressible humor. By a few sharp pen strokes most lifelike pictures are presented of many typical American scenes and personalities, and with all its freedom and ease of style the story has a serious undercurrent which shows convincingly the value of good old Yankee "gumption" in the achievement of enduring success.

HAMILTON, ALEXANDER. Net, 75 cents

By JAMES SCHOULER, author of A Constitutional History of the United States, etc.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

Mr. Schouler's study of Hamilton will possess permanent value and interest as literature quite beyond its competency as biography, which is assured from the author's familiarity with the whole period of history in which Hamilton was so important a figure.

HARVARD EPISODES. Net, 50 cents

By CHARLES MACOMB FLANDRAU.

"Not only 'grads' and 'undergrads' of Harvard, but every college man, past and present, will find delight in reading Harvard Episodes. . . . The book contains seven interesting short stories of college life, gracefully and entertainingly told, breathing the healthy university life of an American lad, with its fads and its foibles, its traditions and its pleasures and pastimes. College life at Cambridge is well depicted, and the tone of the stories is distinctly wholesome and sunny."—(Hartford Telegram.)

Cloth, decorative, 7⅜ x 4¾ in.

HAWTHORNE, NATHANIEL. Net, 75 cents

By Mrs. JAMES T. FIELDS.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"Among the best of the biographies . . . Mrs. Fields has presented a miniature portrait of Hawthorne which is as striking a likeness as many . . . on larger canvases." — (Chicago Tribune.)

HECKER, FATHER. Net, 75 cents

By HENRY D. SEDGWICK, Jr.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"The book is stimulating reading, for Father Hecker's opinions were founded on the broadest Christianity, and the contemplation of his life should be inspiring to Protestant and Catholic alike." — (Troy Press.)

HOUSE OF A HUNDRED LIGHTS, THE. A Psalm of Experience after reading a Couplet of Bidpai. $1.00

By FREDERIC RIDGELEY TORRENCE.

With cover, title-page, and decorations by Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue.

"An examination of Mr. Torrence's tiny work confirms this. . . . He is revealed as a young poet of originality and more than ordinary power. Together with these qualities he possesses strong imaginative and meditative moods joined to a saving sense of humor that has frequently pointed out an artist's way to greatness. Perhaps it is this latter faculty that saves Mr. Torrence from the cynicism that bedecks so many of his confrères of the lyre."— (New York Commercial Advertiser.)

Paper boards, decorative, $7\frac{1}{8}$ x 4 in.

HOUSTON, SAM. Net, 75 cents

IN CHILDHOOD'S COUNTRY. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.10

By LOUISE CHANDLER MOULTON.

With nine full-page illustrations, end-papers, and a cover design by Ethel Reed.

"That Mrs. Moulton's tales for children are not already better known in England would surprise us much were we not conscious of how much in England a fiction of strained ingenuity and of terribly self-conscious humor has been imposed upon the youthful reader only for the reason that it suits the blasé tastes of his elders. . . . She is habitually interesting, and her English is nearly always as good as her thought, so that, when child and moralist agree to approve her, the literary artist, whose delight is but in excellent workmanship, will never quarrel with the verdict. In America, indeed, this is already an admitted thing."— (London Academy.)

Cloth, $8\frac{7}{8}$ x $6\frac{3}{4}$ in.

IN THIS OUR WORLD. $1.25

By CHARLOTTE PERKINS STETSON.

Mr. Howells, in Harper's Weekly, has called this verse the best civic satire which America has produced since The Biglow Papers. A new edition, containing many new poems and a portrait of Mrs. Stetson in photogravure.

"Mrs. Stetson is not only an economist and philosopher. She is also a poet. Many of us know her best in the poetic rôle, and have long admired her poems for their strength, their truth, and their beauty.

"In the volume In This Our World we have a collection of the best work of her poetic genius. The poems are all short, and they have a wide range in subject, style, and form. They also differ in merit, as one star differeth from another in glory. Yet there are few of them which the reader would be willing to spare from the volume. . . . The high ideals of life and social duty, the scorn of wrong, the belief in the essential brotherhood of man, these poems disclose."—(The Social Forum.)

Cloth, decorative, $6\frac{7}{8}$ x $4\frac{1}{8}$ in.

INDIAN STORY AND SONG FROM NORTH AMERICA. 1.2

By ALICE C. FLETCHER.

Containing thirty songs harmonized from the native melodies, with the stories of their origin.

"Here is a virtually new vein opened. The Indian music has not heretofore been sufficiently understood and appreciated. Certain musical exhibitions by Omaha Indians at the trans-Mississippi Exposition inspired Miss Fletcher to pursue the subject; and the result is a book which is certain to open many minds to the beauties of the aboriginal nature, beclouded by much prejudice and ignorance. The volume presents the music and native words of a number of Indian songs, from a variety of tribes, together with translations of the stories which are thus told in rhythm and melody. The principles underlying the Indian music, as far as they have been deduced, are also given, together with general observations on this hitherto neglected subject."—(Washington Star.)

KIN O' KTAADN. Verse Stories of the Plain Folk who are keeping Bright the Old Home Fires up in Maine. Net, $1.00

By HOLMAN F. DAY. By post, $1.10

With frontispiece portrait, and with six illustrative decorations by Amy Rand. Although called "Verse Stories," Mr. Day's new volume is not merely a book of poetry.. The half-hundred new poems, grouped in appropriate sections, are woven together into a consistent and harmonious unity by a thread of prose comment and chat, thus giving such a picture of the lights and shadows of homely Yankee life as has never before been printed. The poetry includes all of Mr. Day's best recent work, and the prose possesses a charm not inferior to that of the verse. The book is in reality what the New York Sun called Mr. Day's first book, "Maine in the Phonograph," and it shows evidence of marked growth in the power of its author, which places him high up among the best writers of New England.

"The most extraordinary piece of wit and wisdom that America has yet contributed. I am very happy in reading it, as great power always makes us happy."—(Ralph Waldo Emerson.)

"I do not believe that all the sermons, so-called, that have been preached in this land, put together, are equal to it for preaching."—(Henry D. Thoreau.)

"You argued rightly that my confidence would not be betrayed by any of the poems in this book. None of them troubled me for a moment, because I saw at a glance that it was not, as men had supposed, the heights brought down to the depths, but the depths lifted up level with the sunlit heights, that they might become clear and sunlit, too. . . . It was needed that one who could here indicate for us 'the path between reality and the soul' should speak. That is what these beautiful, despised poems, the Children of Adam, do, read by the light that glows out of the rest of the volume."—(Anne Gilchrist.)

LETTERS FROM A SELF-MADE MERCHANT TO HIS SON: Being the Letters written by John Graham, head of the house of Graham & Company, pork-packers in Chicago, and familiarly known "on 'change" as "Old Gorgon Graham," to his son, Pierrepont, member of the Senior Class of Harvard University, and facetiously known to his fellow-students as "Piggy." (Now in its 305th thousand.) $1.50

By GEORGE HORACE LORIMER.

This remarkable volume, of which 100,000 copies were issued within six months after publication, brings a new author into the field of American humor, who by this single work has won a place among the very highest names in that most distinctive achievement in American literature. Mr. Lorimer's writing contains the essential sound philosophy which is necessary to give permanence to any humorous work, and his quaint and homely aphorisms and the keenness of his satire make every paragraph incisive and luminous. His advice is so sound, so genuine, and withal so unforgettable that no better book can be placed in the hand of a young man about to begin his struggle for existence; and many an old man who has achieved success in life will find a counterpart to his own experiences in the vivid reminiscences which are liberally intermixed with the sage counsel of the letters.

"For dry, caustic humor, pithy common sense, and good advice, relieved by excellent stories capitally told [we have] not lately read anything that nearly equals these letters." — (Punch, London.)

"The father is a philosophic symphony in pork that can write letters that stamp him as a self-made combination of Lord Chesterfield and Josh Billings."— (Judge, New York).

"The wholesomest, helpfullest, jolliest book of the year." — (Chicago Record Herald.)

"There has been nothing since the wisdom of Franklin that is to be placed in the same class as this common-sense book." — (St. Louis Globe Democrat.)

"As humor, pure and simple, the 'Letters' will evoke more smiles to the minute than anything that has been issued as pure fun in recent years." — (New York Press)

Cloth, gold decoration, $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{7}{8}$ in.

LETTERS OF THOMAS GRAY. Edited with a Biographical Notice. $1.00

By HENRY MILNOR RIDEOUT.

With a frontispiece portrait of Gray.

"Mr. Rideout's edition of Gray's letters will be a welcome addition to the library; for the editor has done his work with discretion, making notes only where really necessary and otherwise leaving the letters to speak for themselves."—(Boston Journal.)

Cloth, 6⅜ x 3⅞ in.

LISTENER IN THE TOWN AND THE LISTENER IN THE COUNTRY, THE. (Two Volumes.) $1.50

By JOSEPH EDGAR CHAMBERLIN.

"Have won a wide circle of readers and admirers."—(The Critic.)

"Of the Listener it may be said that no individual in his field has surpassed him in freshness and in high average of literary value."—(Time and the Hour.)

Cloth, 6⅜ x 4 in.

LITTLE BEASTS OF FIELD AND WOOD. $1.25

By WILLIAM EVERETT CRAM.

With twenty-four full-page illustrations by the Author.

"A record of the author's personal observations of the life of small, wild creatures in New England, in which he goes minutely into their habits, their food, their manner of obtaining it, their houses, and the like. He tells a thousand interesting things about these little beasts which the casual observer does not see or know, and which makes them of much greater interest. There could be hardly anything better calculated to train a child's power of observation, and to inspire him with a healthy and intelligent interest in natural life."—(The Advance.)

Cloth, decorative, 7¼ x 5⅛ in.

LONGFELLOW, HENRY WADSWORTH. Net, 75 cents

By GEORGE RICE CARPENTER.

See Beacon Bi ographies.)

Longfellow's place in the hearts of the people is world-wide and permanent. This excellent brief life by the professor of English in Columbia University will find a plenty of readers, and it is safe to say that their interest in Longfellow will be intensified by the reading.

LOOM OF DESTINY, THE. $1.25

By ARTHUR J. STRINGER.

With pictorial head-pieces by Florence Scovel.

"These stories of the little people who struggle and suffer are mostly sorrowful. Written out of a great sympathy with the child-heart, they show us young spirits who have seen their ambitions trampled on and who know the pang of unstilled longing, but who are quite as heroic in endeavor, patient in endurance, and faithful in love as the worthy people who are fighting the world's battles and bearing the day's heavy burden. . . . It is a book to make the author's literary art and his true tenderness of heart alike respected, and to set the reader dreaming concerning the deep things of life."—(Cleveland Index.)

Cloth, decorative, 6⅝ x 4⅛ in.

LOVER'S RUBÁIYÁT, THE. "A book for sweethearts and unforgetting folk who would gather joy's windstrewn petals to fashion again the rose." Net, 75 cents. By post, 80 cents

Edited by JESSIE B. RITTENHOUSE.

Beautifully printed in two colors, with decorations and ornamental cover.
An entirely novel setting of certain of the lesser known quatrains of Omar in the form of a splendid Persian love poem, having all the coherence and the atmosphere of the work of a single translator, although in reality it is the blended work of ten different hands.
Paper boards, decorative, $7\frac{1}{8}$ x 4 in.

LOWELL, JAMES RUSSELL. Net, 75 cents

By EDWARD EVERETT HALE, Jr.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

"It is doubtful . . . if any one else could have so entertainingly combined impressions at first and second hand."—(New York Times.)

LOW TIDE ON GRAND PRÉ. A new edition including also Ballads of Lost Haven. Net, $1.50. By post, $1.58.

By BLISS CARMAN

Mr. Carman's two earliest books contain much of the work which gained him his most appreciative recognition from the critics, and many of these poems are worthy to endure with the best poetry of his generation. The original editions having gone out of print, the public will welcome this new edition which presents in a single volume all of the contents of these two books, together with a fine portrait of the author.

"Mr. Carman is a poet in every fibre of his mortal frame, with a Keats-like sensitiveness to beauty."—(Boston Transcript.)

"'Ballads of Lost Haven' is a hundred pages of salt sea without a trace of Kipling, and yet having a sea-flavor as unmistakable as his, and with a finer touch,—with less of repetition, less of mere technicality, and a more varied human interest."—(The Nation.)

Strathmore Japan boards, 7 x $4\frac{1}{2}$ in.

LYRICS. $1.50

By JOHN B. TABB.

"The muse of Father Tabb is not a pretentious goddess, nor yet a saint apart, but gifted with the lyric quality. This is poetry as true as it is unpretentious."—(Boston Transcript.)

"Thus another poet has come, and very rare and original work is here, compressed into the smallest possible space, finished with the accuracy of a gem."—(Richmond Times.)

Cloth, decorative, $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

MARAT, JEAN-PAUL. The People's Friend. Net, $1.50
By post, $1.60

By ERNEST BELFORT BAX, author of Handbook of the History of Philosophy, etc.

An important contribution to the history of the French Revolution and of democracy, written in the light of the most recent historical research and with an earnest purpose to vindicate the character of the "best abused man in modern history." Photogravure portrait, illustrations, and facsimiles.

Cloth, gold decorative, gilt top, 8 x 5½ in.

MARRIAGE OF GUENEVERE, THE. A Tragedy. $1.50

By RICHARD HOVEY.

Uniform with The Quest of Merlin, The Birth of Galahad, and Taliesin. (See Launcelot and Guenevere.)

"A new poet saturated with the spirit of the present, and yet with the strength, the sweetness, and the technical skill of the men who have become English classics,—this is what the world of English-speaking readers has been awaiting for more than a generation. . . . Hence the appearance is noteworthy of an American poet with a work which places him in the front rank of poets of to-day, and which makes him, in my judgment, the rightful claimant to the place left vacant by the authors of Pippa Passes and the Idyls of the King."—(GEORGE HAMLIN FITCH, in The San Francisco Chronicle.)

Paper boards, vellum back, decorative, 6¾ x 4⅜ in.

MEMORY OF LINCOLN, THE. Poems Selected, with an Introduction. 50 cents

By M. A. DEWOLFE HOWE.

With a portrait of Lincoln in photogravure.

"There have been Lincoln anthologies before, but none so high in quality as this of Mr. Howe. It presents the best that has been written, in poetry, upon Lincoln."—(The Buffalo Express.)

Cloth, decorative, 6⅞ x 4¾ in.

MIDDLE FIVE, THE. Indian Boys at School. $1.25

By FRANCIS LA FLESCHE.

With a frontispiece in color and a cover design by Angel de Cora. An "Indian Tom Brown at Rugby," told by an Indian and illustrated by a young Indian woman. A splendid juvenile, which is also full of interest to "grown-ups."

"Any boy worthy of the name must delight in it."—(Rebecca Harding Davis.)

Cloth, decorative, 6⅞ x 4½ in.

MISSA SOLEMNIS. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.10

By ADOLPHE RIBAUX.

Translated from the French, with the permission of the author, by Jean B. Sheldon.

Cloth, decorative, 8¼ x 5½.

MONONIA. A Novel. $1.50

By JUSTIN McCARTHY, M.P., author of A History of Our Own Times, etc.

Mr. McCarthy's latest novel is a sweet and pleasing love story of Irish life, the scene being laid at the period of the revolution of 1848; and, although the book is not strictly autobiographic, it gives many interesting pictures of the Ireland of the author's youth.

Cloth, decorative, 7⅞ x 5¼ in.

MORE SONGS FROM VAGABONDIA. $1.00

By BLISS CARMAN AND RICHARD HOVEY.

With end-papers and cover design by T. B. Meteyard.

"Hail to the poets! Good poets! Real poets! . . . They are the free, untrammelled songs of men who sing because their hearts are full of music; and they have their own way of singing, too. Songs from Vagabondia ought to go singing themselves into every library from Denver to both seas, for they are good to know."— (New York Times.)

"These gentlemen have something to say, and they say it in a hale and ready way that is as convincing as it is artistic. One is not met at every turn by some platitude laboriously wrought, which the minor poets nowadays so delight in, but a ring and a cheer and a manner neither obscure nor commonplace, with just enough mystery to delight and stimulate the imagination without overtaxing it."— (Washington Star.)

Paper boards, 7 x 4⅜ in.

MR. DOOLEY: IN PEACE, IN WAR, AND IN THE HEARTS OF HIS COUNTRYMEN. Net, $1.50. By post, $1.62

A new library edition, containing in one volume all the contents of Mr. Dunne's two best books, heretofore published under the titles, "Mr. Dooley in Peace and in War" and "Mr. Dooley in the Hearts of his Countrymen," and of which over 100,000 copies have been sold.

"Full of wit and humor and real philosophy which rank their possessor among those humorists who have really made a genuine contribution to permanent literature."— (HARRY THURSTON PECK, in The Bookman.)

"He . . . has a place in the great school of American philosophic humor."— (JAMES L. FORD, in The Book Buyer.)

"It is not often that one has the opportunity of hailing a new humorist,— one who has the gift of laughter as well as the more precious gift of homely pathos. Let it be said at once that by this one book Mr. Dunne has craned himself into a high place. He is not only a humorist, droll, dry, eminently racial, but he is the master of a shrewd and wise philosophy of life."— (The Saturday Evening Post.)

"His eloquence is a torrent, and his satire as strong and stinging as a slave-driver's whip." — (Pall Mall Gazette.)

"We awoke in the morning to kneel at the shrine of Dooley, and to confess that here was the man, here the very fellow, we had long been waiting for,— here at last America's new humorist."— (MAX PEMBERTON, in The London Daily Mail.)

NINETEENTH CENTURY, THE. An Utopian Retrospect. $1.50
By HAVELOCK ELLIS, author of The New Spirit, The Criminal, etc.

An exceedingly clever and searching criticism of the civilisation of the late century through the medium of a supposed discussion, centuries hence, between two students of antiquities living in an imaginary Utopia.

> "His little book will make wholesome reading. He exaggerates, of course, for he is terribly in earnest; but there is much truth in his picture."— (Chicago Evening Post.)

Cloth, paper label, 7⅛ x 4⅝ in.

NORSK NIGHTINGALE, THE. Being the Lyrics of a "Lumberyack." Net, 75 cents. By post, 80 cents
By WILLIAM F. KIRK.

Nearly every type of homely American life, native or imported, has already been given an opportunity to sing its own dialect. One character, by no means the least picturesque, has heretofore been mute. It has remained for Mr. Kirk to show that the Norwegian laborer of the Northwestern forests is as amusing and as well fitted for expression in verse as Mr. Drummond's "Habitant" or Mr. Riley's "Hoosier."

The poems in this little book include pictures of the "Lumberyack's" workaday life and of his joys, his loves, and his sorrows. In addition to his lyrical expression of his own experiences, the "Norsk Nightingale" recites his versions of many of the romantic tales of history, and translates into his own vernacular, often with amazing results, many of the great poems of English and American literature.

16mo, Japanese wood boards, illustrated.

NOTES AND FRAGMENTS. Net, $10.00

(Small remainder of 225 copies issued for private circulation. Price subject to advance without notice.)

"A book that will be valued by all of Whitman's lovers as one which completes his works, besides one which gives a final insight into the great poet's life and ideals."—(Review.)

ON THE WOOING OF MARTHA PITKIN. Being a Versified Narrative of the Time of the Regicides in Colonial New England. 75 cents

By CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON.

Hand-made paper, eighteenth century style.

"The heroine of Mr. Bolton's graceful poem, a beautiful English girl, accompanied her brother to the New World, 'not once supposing he intended to remain in the wilderness.' Love constrained her to stay, and she became 'a mother of great men,' the Wolcott, Griswold, and other noteworthy families descending from her."—(Review.)

OUR LADY'S TUMBLER. A Tale of Mediæval France.

Translated by ISABEL BUTLER. 75 cents

Uniform with Aucassin and Nicolette.

"This, the second translation of this old legend, is made, that a beautiful story may not be lost to English readers. The first translation is unobtainable. The story is of a minstrel, a tumbler, whose soul, aspiring for the 'higher things,' takes him from the wickedness of the world into the quiet of a monastery. Yet disappointment meets him there. He is wholly unlettered, and cannot join in the worship with prayer and anthem. He is quite wretched. Only one thing can he do well: as a minstrel he can dance and tumble. To express his love and worship, he in solitude dances just the best he can before a statue of the Lady Mary. How this departure from the letter of worship was received by the pious monks and by the angels of heaven is also told. The simplicity and grace of the original have been admirably preserved."—(Review.)

PATRINS. To which is added an Inquirendo into the Wit and Other Good Parts of His Late Majesty, King Charles the Second. $1.25

By LOUISE IMOGEN GUINEY.

"A number of short essays of a speculative and whimsical character, on disconnected subjects. An extract from the dedication (to Mr. Bliss Carman) explains the curious title. 'A patrin, according to George Borrow, in "Romano Lavo-Lil," is "a Gypsy trail,—handfuls of leaves or grass cast by the Gypsies on the road to denote to those behind the way which they have taken."'

"Collectively, the group proves that in Miss Guiney the American literature of to-day possesses a writer whom no lover of essays can afford to leave out of his consideration."—(Chicago Tribune.)

"In these 'little leisurely adventures in prolonged fair weather' Miss Guiney proves to be a very pleasant guide. . . . Her fund of quiet humor and her fund of fresh and keen artistic sympathies give to all these essays a note of delicacy and distinction."—(New York Sun.)

Cloth, decorative, $7\frac{3}{8}$ x $3\frac{3}{4}$ in.

PEDAGOGUES, THE. A Story of the Harvard Summer School. $1.25

By ARTHUR STANWOOD PIER.

"The best story of the sort I have read in many a day. . . . The best drawn characters are those of Gorch, a school principal of Peru, Ohio, . . . and Gorch's sweetheart, a joyously vulgar, cocky, unscrupulous girl, from that same town of Peru. . . . A bright, graceful story, charmingly and wittily written." . . .—(The Criterion.)

PINE TREE BALLADS. Rhymed Stories of Unplaned Human Natur' up in Maine. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.10

By HOLMAN F. DAY. Author of Up in Maine.

With half-tone illustrations from photographs of Maine life.

The instant success of Mr. Day's first book, Up in Maine, has been duplicated by this, his second book of Yankee verse. The contents are fully equal in freshness, vigour, and manly feeling to the poems by which Mr. Day has already won an established reputation. As the Buffalo Commercial has well said:

"His subjects are rough diamonds. They have the inherent qualities from which great characters are developed, and out of which heroes are made."

Cloth, decorative, gilt top, $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{7}{8}$ in.

PARIS AND THE SOCIAL REVOLUTION. A Study of the Revolutionary Element in the Various Classes of Parisian Life. Net, $3.50. By post, $3.75

By ALVAN FRANCIS SANBORN, author of Moody's Lodging House and Other Tenement Sketches.

Late Special Paris Correspondent of the Boston Transcript.

Mr. Alvan Sanborn is well known as a sympathetic and intelligent student of modern social conditions. During several years of his residence in Paris he has been making an especial study of the French revolutionary element as exemplified in all the strata of Parisian society, from the anarchist labourer to the leading writers and artists of France, many of whom, while in no way classified as socialist or anarchist, are just as truly revolutionary in spirit.

In the present volume Mr. Sanborn treats his subject exhaustively, with great detail and yet in a broad and masterly manner. He tells who and what the revolutionist is, what he wants and how he expects to get it, and how he gets himself heard. He shows what part in the revolutionary movement is being taken by the labourer, the criminal, the student, and by the literature and the art of to-day. Although the work is thoroughly scientific in its spirit and therefore an important contribution to sociology, the treatment is such as to make the book of great popular interest as well, and the chapters on modern literary and artistic life in the French metropolis give a new light upon these most interesting subjects.

While the study is of foreign life, its appeal has no limitations of nationality. In portraying conditions in Paris it discloses the principles of human nature that underlie feelings of unrest which are world-wide in their manifestation, and its interpretation of these principles will prove full of suggestion to the thinking American who wishes to understand the trend of radical thought in his own country.

The remarkable drawings by Mr. Vaughn Trowbridge, who accompanied Mr. Sanborn during his journeys of observation in the preparation of the book, are so closely related to the text that the interest of both is greatly enhanced.

> "The flavor of Paris is over the book. Mr. Sanborn has caught the spirit of this life and he writes with the grace of a Frenchman."—(Chicago Tribune.)
> "A study of unusual thoroughness into the conditions of Parisian life below the surface. . . . Here is abundant food for reflection by social philosophers."—(The Outlook.)
> "Mr. Sanborn is one of the closest students of social subjects that America has produced. There seems to be no phase of the seething social revolution that he has not gone to the bottom of."—(New York Evening Mail.)
> "Its perusal is like gazing at one of Verestchagin's paintings."—(Philadelphia North American.)

Cloth, decorative, gilt top, 9¾ x 6¾ in.

PLAIN TALK IN PSALM AND PARABLE. $1.50

By ERNEST HOWARD CROSBY.

"I like the book very, very much. Some of the pieces — the choice is difficult because all are very good — I . . . have translated into Russian and published."— (Count Tolstoy.)

"It is full of gems of thought,— gems from a literary point of view, gems from the view of that New Social conscience which is the characteristic of modern thought. The more we read the book, the better we like it. It is a work of genius and full of the spirit of true democracy which is true Christianity."—(Civic and Social Problems.)

Cloth, $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $5\frac{3}{4}$ in.

PLAINS AND UPLANDS OF OLD FRANCE. A Book of Verse and Prose. $1.50

POEMS. $1.00

By JOHN B. TABB.

Mr. John Wilson, of the University Press, Cambridge, authorizes the statement that never but once before during his business life of more than fifty years has he been called upon to print so many editions of a "first book" of American verse within so short a time after its publication.

"Mr. Tabb's works live. . . . Sidney Lanier and Mr. Tabb are, so far, the most poetical poets who have chanced to be Americans."— (Illustrated London News.)

"Fine, shy, recluse observation of nature and of men. . . . These are poems like Herrick or Vaughan in their delicate perfection,— pieces of almost flawless chiselling."— (The Nation.)

Cloth, decorative, $5\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

QUEST OF MERLIN, THE. A Masque. $1.25

By RICHARD HOVEY.

Uniform with The Marriage of Guenevere, The Birth of Galahad, and Taliesin. (See Launcelot and Guenevere.) In this first of his series of Arthurian dramas Mr. Hovey has established the atmosphere for the whole series.

"When The Quest of Merlin and The Marriage of Guenevere first appeared, few . . . were attentive to the boldness of aim and largeness of utterance which characterized these poems. Since then Mr. Hovey has followed his art with patience and singleness of purpose till at last the virile force of his achievements begins to compel recognition. . . . And, though greatness is the very last quality which a prudent critic should admit in a contemporary, it is my conviction that Mr. Hovey succeeds in his effort."— (CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS, in The Bookman, January, 1899.)

Paper boards, vellum back, decorative, $6\frac{7}{8}$ x $4\frac{3}{8}$ in.

QUICKSAND. $1.50

By HERVEY WHITE, author of Differences.

A powerful, realistic novel of Western life. Not merely the story of an individual, but of the life history of a family. The growth and education of a boy (reared by his grandparents as their son and in ignorance of the tragedy of his mother's death and his own birth), his struggle for recognition as a writer, and finally the tragic incidents which end his life form the current of the book, but the other characters are no less interesting. The kindly and faithful hired man, the quiet father, the energetic mother, the brother and sisters, all are drawn with infinite detail and astonishing vividness.

"Hervey White is the most forceful writer who has appeared in America for a long generation."—(Chicago Evening Post.)

Cloth, decorative, 12mo, 7⅞ x 5¼ in.

ROAD TO RIDGEBY'S, THE. $1.50

By FRANK BURLINGAME HARRIS.

This book, the posthumously published work of a young man of most brilliant promise, who lived to learn of its acceptance by the publishers, but who died before seeing a page in proof, is a simple but powerful story of farm life in the great West, which cannot fail to make a lasting impression on every reader. This book does for the wheat-fields of Iowa what David Harum has done for rural New York and Eben Holden for the North country. It is in no way imitative of either of these books, and, unlike each of them, it is not in the portrayal of a single quaint character that its power consists. Mr. Harris took for his story a typical Iowa farmer's family and their neighbours; and, although every one of the characters is realistically portrayed, the sense of proportion is never lost sight of, and the result is a picture of real life, artistic in the highest sense as being true to nature. It is a wholesome story, full of the real heroism of homely life, a book to make the reader better by strengthening his belief in the survival of sturdy American character.

12mo, cloth, decorative, 7¼ x 5½ in.

ROSARY IN RHYME, THE. Net, $2.50. By post, $2.60

By JOHN B. TABB.

Three hundred copies on hand-made paper. With a decorative title-page, fifteen full-page drawings, and ornamental initials designed by T. B. Meteyard.

A new cycle of Father Tabb's charming little verses, celebrating the joyous, the dolorous, and the glorious mysteries of the life of our Saviour. The poems have the perfection of delicate flowers, and are full of a poetic ecstasy and deep religious fervour, which will carry them to all Christian hearts, irrespective of creed. Mr. Meteyard's decorative drawings are quite mediæval in their spirit, and are in perfect harmony with the mysticism of the verse. The volume will also appeal to book-lovers as one of the most perfect pieces of typography which have appeared in recent years.

Paper boards, Japan vellum back.

NOTE.— Thirty copies of the hand-made paper edition have been specially bound in fine vellum and with the decorations and initial letters appropriately coloured by hand. Price quoted on application.

ROUND RABBIT, THE. And Other Child Verse. Net, $1.00

BY AGNES LEE.

A new holiday edition of Mrs. Lee's delightful verses, greatly enlarged both in format and by the addition of many new poems. Some of these poems have already become classic for children, and the new poems will be found fully equal in charm to the old favourites.

> "The cover is a delightful combination of front and rear views of the rare specimen — genuine Welch rabbits — of the genus Lepus jocularis amerrycanus, which are own cousins or descendants to Alice's rabbit and the mother who in reading to her young ones these cheerful, sweet, and fascinating jingles, with the pretty quaint conceits and ingenious rimes, without chuckling and forgetting her woes will be indeed deeply dyed in cerulean." — (The Bookseller, Newsdealer, and Stationer.)

Cloth, decorative, 7⅞ x 6¼ in.

LA SANTA YERBA. Preluded by a few choice mottoes from Lovers of the Indian Weed from the time of Sir Walter Raleigh to the present day. $1.00

BY WILLIAM L. SHOEMAKER.

> "The voluminous literature of the subject seems to show that the pipe is alien neither to the poet nor the poem. Mr. Shoemaker's fanciful and graceful lyrics will appeal to every friend of tobacco, nor will they be disdained by any lover of verse."—(Review.)

Leather back, marbled paper sides, 5¾ x 3¾ in.

SELECTIONS FROM THE PROSE AND POETRY OF WALT WHITMAN. $1.25

Edited with an Introduction by Oscar Lovell Triggs. With a portrait of Whitman.

> "Dr. Triggs has successfully attempted to make a book which should be entirely representative of Whitman's many-sided genius and at the same time attractive to the general reader. In the choice of poems the effort has been made to preserve, in the character and arrangement of the pieces selected, the general scheme which governs Whitman's last revision of Leaves of Grass. It was a difficult and delicate task, but one which was essential to any really useful selection of Whitman's poetry, and it has been accomplished by Dr. Triggs in a way that will satisfy every student of Whitman."— (Review.)

Cloth, 8⅛ x 5¼ in.

SHADOWS. A Book of Poems. $1.00

By M. A. DeWOLFE HOWE.

"They repay meditation. . . . Musical and sometimes striking, . . . they exhibit unquestionable power of both conception and execution. Some of them linger long in mind, and some also are notably adroit in condensing a thought into brief and telling rhyme."—(The Congregationalist.)

Cloth, $6\frac{1}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

SHAKESPEARE'S SONNETS. Net, $5.00

500 copies on hand-made paper, with borders and initial letters by Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue. (See English Love Sonnets.)

The fourth in the English Love Sonnet Series is the peer of its predecessors in the beauty of type and paper and decoration which have given these masterpieces of poetic literature a setting worthy of their rank. Uniform with other issues of Sonnet Series. New initials and new borders.

Japan wrappers, $7\frac{7}{8}$ x 6 in.

SONGS FROM VAGABONDIA. $1.00

By BLISS CARMAN and RICHARD HOVEY.

With end-papers and cover design by T. B. Meteyard.

"There is not a bit of intellectual hypochondria in the little book, and there is not one line that was made in the sweat of the brow, . . . and so the book goes dancing and singing in words, and here and there sounding the deeper note that always fills out the sweet harmony of a poet's thought. . . . Ought to be in every library from Denver to both seas." . . .—(The New York Times.)

Paper boards, 7 x $4\frac{1}{4}$ in.

Note.—A special holiday edition of this book, together with its two companion volumes, More Songs from Vagabondia and Last Songs from Vagabondia, is issued, bound in special rough-finished olive brown calfskin, gilt top, with side stamp in gold. Sold only in boxed sets of three volumes. Price, $3.00 net per set; by post, $3.15.

SONNETS FROM THE PORTUGUESE. Net, $2.00

By ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING.

500 copies on hand-made paper, with borders and initial letters by Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue. (See English Love Sonnets.)

"I am disposed to consider the Sonnets from the Portuguese as, if not the finest, a portion of the finest subjective poetry in our literature. Their form reminds us of an English prototype, and it is no sacrilege to say that their music is showered from a higher and purer atmosphere than that of the Swan of Avon. . . . In fine, the Portuguese Sonnets, whose title was a screen behind which the singer poured out her full heart, are the most exquisite poetry hitherto written by a woman, and of themselves justify us in pronouncing their author the greatest of her sex."—(Edmund Clarence Stedman, in Victorian Poets.)

Wrappers, $7\frac{7}{8}$ x 6 in.

TALIESIN. A Masque. $1.00

By RICHARD HOVEY.

Uniform with The Quest of Merlin, The Marriage of Guenevere, and The Birth of Galahad. (See Launcelot and Guenevere.) Of the series of Arthurian masques and dramas projected by Mr. Hovey, Taliesin is the last that he was able to complete before his death.

> "No living poet whose mother tongue is English has written finer things than are scattered through Taliesin, particularly through its harmonious blank verse; and, whatever may be thought of it now, the future historian of American poetry will have to reckon seriously with Richard Hovey."—(Richard Henry Stoddard, in The Mail and Express.)

THEOLOGY AT THE DAWN OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY. $2.50

Edited by J. VYRNWY MORGAN, D.D.

A symposium of important original essays by eminent theologians of England and the United States on the great questions in religion, showing the present status of theology and how far religion and theology have been influenced by the progress of scientific research. Among the many important contributions the following will indicate the scope and quality of the contents:

Christianity at the End of the Nineteenth Century, by Frederick Harrison, Esq.; Christianity and its Competitors, by the Rev. Harry Jones, Prebendary of St. Paul's, London; Evolution in its Relation to Man and Religion, by the Very Rev. Dean Hart, of Denver, Colorado, and Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch, of the University of Chicago; The Old Testament in the Light of Higher Criticism, by Professors Meredith O. Smith and Henry Preserved Smith; Future Retribution, by the Rev. Caleb Scott, Principal of Lancashire College, Manchester, England; The Person of Christ, by the Rev. Frederick W. Aveling, Principal Christ's College, Blackheath, London; The Sacrament, by the Rev. Robert Collyer; Divorce and Remarriage, by the Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, Bishop of Albany, N.Y.; Christian Science, by the Rev. O. P. Gifford, D.D., Edward A. Kimball, C.S.D., and the Rev. Dr. Faunce, President of Brown University; Progressive Liberalism, by Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., President of Harvard University; The Religious Condition of the Anglo-Saxon Race, by the Very Rev. Dean Farrar, Samuel M. Jones, Esq., Mayor of Toledo, Ohio, and Brigadier S. L. Brengle, Salvation Army, New York; etc., etc.

Cloth, 9 x 6 in. 590 pp.

THEORY OF ADVERTISING, THE. A Simple Exposition of the Principles of Psychology in their relation to Successful Advertising. Net, $2.00. By post, $2.15

By WALTER DILL SCOTT, Ph.D., Director of the Psychological Laboratory of Northwestern University.

The most practical and useful book on its important subject that has yet appeared. Its especial value will not be limited to those who make advertising a profession, to whom it would seem to be an indispensable handbook, but it offers much needed help to every business man. It is a basic book, which in simple terms and plain language explains the psychological effect of advertisements, and opens the reader's mind to a comprehension of the general principles which underlie the whole subject, thereby enabling him to make an intelligent application of these principles to the requirements of the special case in hand. The volume is copiously illustrated with reproductions of actual recent advertisements, and these advertisements are criticised in the light of the general principles discussed.

Half leather, gilt top, 8½ x 5½ in.

Translated by FRANK SEWALL.

An English version of the remarkable sonnets which in 1893 won for Heredia his admission to the Academy, and which have alone sufficed to place him among the most eminent of the French poets of any age.

750 copies on hand-made paper, with decorations and initial letters by Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue. A sumptuous edition, which has taken rank among the very highest achievements of American typography.

> "Notable for its literal grace and beauty. It was no small feat to transform these two salient marks of Heredia's verse into another language. They show that the best French verse, like the best French prose, is matchless in modern literature."— (Boston Journal.)

Paper boards, gold decorations, 7 x 6 in.

TUSKEGEE: Its Story and Its Work. $1.00

By MAX BENNETT THRASHER.

With an introduction by Booker T. Washington and fifty half-tone illustrations of student life and its surroundings at the Negro Industrial Institute at Tuskegee.

> "All who are interested in the proper solution of the problem in the South should feel deeply grateful to Mr. Thrasher for the task which he has undertaken and performed so well."— (Booker T. Washington.)
> "Almost every question one could raise in regard to the school and its work, from 'Who was Booker Washington?' to 'What do people whose opinion is worth having think of Tuskegee?' is answered in this book."— (New Bedford Standard.)

UNDER THE VIERKLEUR. A Romance of a Lost Cause. $1.50

By BEN J. VILJOEN, late Assistant Commandant-General of the Transvaal burgher forces and author of My Reminiscences of the Anglo-Boer War.

With five full-page illustrations drawn by I. B. Hazelton and a frontispiece portrait of the author.

A splendid novel of life and stirring adventure in South Africa during the late war. Written by one of the most brilliant generals of the Boer army, it seems almost autobiographic in the vividness of its incidents, and it is, withal, so temperate in its tone and so manifestly free from prejudice as to be convincing of its essential truth as a picture of real life under the four-colored flag (vierkleur) of the Transvaal.

Cloth, decorative, $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $4\frac{7}{8}$ in.

UP IN MAINE. Stories of Yankee Life told in Verse. $1.00

By HOLMAN F. DAY.

A volume that has achieved instant success and won for its author a place beside James Russell Lowell and James Whitcomb Riley in the expression of homely American life. With an introduction by the Hon. C. E. Littlefield, M.C., and six full-page half-tone illustrations.

"James Russell Lowell would have welcomed this delicious adjunct to The Biglow Papers."—(The Outlook.)

"So fresh, so vigorous, and so full of manly feeling that they sweep away all criticism."—(The Nation.)

Cloth, decorative, six full-page illustrations, 7½ x 4⅞ in.

VIVETTE. Or, The Memoirs of the Romance Association: Setting forth the diverting Adventures of one Richard Redforth in the very pleasant City of Millamours; how he took Service in the Association; how he met and wooed the gay Vivette; how they sped their Honeymoon and played the Town; how they spread a mad Banquet; of them that came thereto, and the Tales they told; of the Exploits of the principal Characters, and especially of the Disappearance of Vivette. $1.25

By GELETT BURGESS.

With maps, cover design, and ornaments by the Author.

. . . "Has a decidedly Stevensonian flavor, but is none the worse on that score, for in the devising of extravaganza Mr. Burgess could not have chosen a better master. . . . Mr. Burgess displays infinite zest and exhaustless resources of invention, and hurries his readers breathlessly along, from one astonishing and audacious situation to another, till the book is flung down at finis with a chuckle of appreciative laughter. . . . The carefully engraved map of Millamours is alone worth the price of admission."—(The Literary News.)

Cloth, $6\frac{3}{4}$ x $4\frac{1}{8}$ in.

VISITING THE SIN. A Tale of Mountain Life in Kentucky and Tennessee. Net, 50 cents

By EMMA RAYNER, author of Free to Serve.

WALT WHITMAN'S "DIARY IN CANADA." Net, $2.50

Edited, with an introductory notice, by WILLIAM SLOANE KENNEDY By post, $2.60

The value of this recently discovered manuscript of the "good gray poet," now first published, will not be underestimated by any one familiar with his prose writings. It is generally conceded that Walt Whitman's nature notes, as recorded in his Specimen Days in America form some of his most attractive work. The Diary in Canada was written in a chunky, home-made note-book, which Whitman carried in his pocket during his memorable trip over Lakes Erie and Ontario, down the St. Lawrence, and up the Saguenay in the summer of 1886. The material is entirely new, only a couple of pages in Specimen Days being devoted to the entire trip. It has the autobiographic charm of all Whitman's lighter and spontaneous work, and, showing him as a tourist, supplies a missing chapter in his experience, and rounds out the story of his life.

The edition is limited to five hundred copies.

Paper boards, Japan vellum back, 8⅜ x 5¼ in.

WARREN, JOSIAH. The First American Anarchist. A Sociological Study. Net, $1.00. By post, $1.06

By WILLIAM BAILIE.

Probably few people realize that the founder and original teacher of Philosophical Anarchism belonged to the famous Warren family of Boston and was born in that city in 1798. His services in the cause of liberty were recognized by men so eminent as John Stuart Mill, who embodied many of Warren's teachings in his own writings. His life has never before been published and his writings have been long out of print. In the present volume Mr. Bailie renders a distinct service to sociological literature. From scanty and widely scattered sources of information he has gathered the essential facts of Warren's career, and he has subjected his philosophy to a critical comparison with the teachings of the leading social reformers of the 19th century, dealing with his subject, without partisan bias, as an impartial student.

16mo, cloth, with portrait of Warren.

WHEN EVE WAS NOT CREATED. And Other Stories. $1.25

By HERVEY WHITE, author of Differences and Quicksand.

With a cover design by Marion L. Peabody.

Remarkable stories of a type and style of subjective symbolism altogether new to American literature. In the title story Svend, as a type expressive of the suppression of the artistic sense in love, where, the eye being satisfied with the object, the heart, the soul, the mind of the man yet goes hungry and unsatisfied, will fix himself in the reader's mind as one of the strongest characters of fiction. The other stories are scarcely less noteworthy, and the book as a whole will add greatly to the author's already high reputation as a writer.

Cloth, decorative, 7½ x 4⅞ in.

WHERE COPPER WAS KING. A Tale of the Early Mining Days on Lake Superior. $1.50

By JAMES NORTH WRIGHT.

A novel of remarkable interest, full of adventurous incident and with a delicate vein of romance. It possesses the special merit of recording vividly a phase of Western life which is fast disappearing. With the immense growth of the mining industries on Lake Superior much of the picturesqueness of the early methods and characters has gone forever, and the Cornish miner, like the cowboy of the plains, has passed away.

It will add to the interest of the story to know that Captain Wright was formerly the Superintendent of the famous Calumet & Hecla mine (of which company he is now a director), and that he des ribes herein life which he has actually seen and of which he himself has been a part.

12mo, cloth, decorative.

WHITMAN, WALT. Net, 75 cents

By ISAAC HULL PLATT.

(See Beacon Biographies.)

It is peculiarly fitting that the first attempt to produce a real life of Whitman should be made in the Beacon Biographies, which aim to produce competent brief sketches of the lives of the most eminent Americans written by sympathetic but unprejudiced chroniclers from the viewpoint of the prese t generation. The publishers are also fortunate in their selection of Dr. Platt as the author of the volume. His thorough sympathy with Whitman is well known, and he has as well a reputation for calm, dispassionate writing, which will go far toward making the present volume acceptable both to the Whitman students and to those who desire to learn of the real significance of the poet's life and work without assenting to all the claims of the hero-worshippers.

WHITMAN, THE POET LIBERATOR OF WOMEN.

By MABEL MacCOY IRWIN.

A critical study of Whitman's attitude toward sex in which, with fine insight, the author reveals the inmost purpose of passages which have often been misunderstood, but which Whitman declared "give the breath of life" to his whole scheme.

> "It states the case very clearly and will be a help to the cause of women."—(Edward Carpenter.)

WITH WALT WHITMAN IN CAMDEN. A Diary Record of Conversations kept by Horace Traubel. Net, $3.00. By post, $3.20

With many important letters, documents, and other manuscripts. Copiously illustrated by portraits and facsimiles.

The publication of the initial volume of Mr. Traubel's diary of Walt Whitman's conversations is one of the most important events in the literary history of America, and one which should attract wide-spread interest, not only among Whitman students, but among all classes of readers. For nineteen years Mr. Traubel was most intimately associated with Walt Whitman in Camden. During the greater part of this period he saw the poet daily, often several times a day. In 1888 he began to record, consecutively and faithfully, the conversations and events of each meeting, whatever the subject-matter, whether important or seemingly trivial; and this diary record was continued until the poet's death in 1892.

In preparing the diary for publication Mr. Traubel has made no attempt to dress up Whitman or in any way to obtrude the personality of the chronicler. Everything is informally presented just as it occurred, and the result is a picture of the daily life and thought of Whitman during his last years, when his judgments and his personality were finally matured, such as we have of no other great author, possibly excepting Dr. Johnson. Moreover, the work contains a wealth of letters, bits of manuscript, and other documents, both by Whitman himself and very many of the greatest of his contemporaries. A few names selected at random from the mass of letters given by Whitman to Mr. Traubel, most of which have never before been published, will include Emerson, Alcott, Bayard Taylor, Lowell, Whittier, Sidney Lanier, John Burroughs, William Douglass O'Connor, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Hamlin Garland, J. T. Trowbridge, Frank Sanborn, Robert G. Ingersoll, Tennyson, John Addington Symonds, William M. Rossetti, Edmund Gosse, Edward Carpenter, Edward Dowden, etc.

All of the letters and manuscript printed in the diary fall naturally into place, having been discussed by Whitman; and the conversations therefore give his estimates and opinions of almost all contemporary men and events. From the intimacy of the talk and the correspondence Mr. Traubel has felt it advisable to allow a sufficient lapse of time before publishing this most valuable material; but the time now seems ripe to begin the publication of a work which will in its entirety extend to several volumes, which will appear consecutively as Mr. Traubel is able to prepare the matter for the printer. Each volume, however, will be complete in itself, covering consecutive conversations for a specified portion of the time.

WIT AND HUMOUR OF WELL-KNOWN QUOTATIONS.

EDITED BY MARSHALL BROWN.

A unique collection of familiar quotations arranged in the nature of "Themes with Variations," if a musical expression may be applied to such a work. Grouped with each well-known quotation are many of the jeux d'esprit, wise or witty comments, or versified versions which have grown out of the original maxim, or serve to illustrate its significance. These variations on the text are collected from all sources, from the humble anonymous newspaper paragraph to the pages of the most profound philosophers.

Beyond its interest to the general reader, it should have an especial value to after-dinner speakers, furnishing a wealth of bright gems of wit, many of them little known, and all arranged under familiar maxims, which furnish a ready topical reference.

Cloth, decorative, 7½ x 5 in.

WOMAN'S PARIS, A. A Hand-book of Every-day Living in the French Capital. $1.25

"Any woman about to visit Paris for the first time, and every woman who has aspirations in that direction, will take delight as well as satisfaction in A Woman's Paris. It tells exactly such things as an old resident, not forgetful of American customs and American principles, would impart to one ignorant of Paris and apt to make mistakes, not only as to hotels, shops, and art galleries, but in connection with theatres, restaurants, and even walks. It will prove a useful friend to a multitude of travellers."—(The Living Age.)

WOMEN AND ECONOMICS. A Study of the Economic Relation between Men and Women as a Factor in Social Evolution. $1.50

BY CHARLOTTE PERKINS STETSON.

A New Edition, with an index.

"The fact that this book has reached its third edition is proof sufficient that it expresses in a striking and challenging way its analysis and explanation of woman's position in modern society and its remedial plans for the future. The point of view is frankly historico-economic and materialistic. Woman is what she is, the slave of the sex-demon, because the economic history of the race has been what it has. She is lamentably oversexed; and this oversexing is the outcome of ages of economic dependence upon man. Man, too, as a consequence, is oversexed, although not so much so as woman is, because his life has had more variety and larger interests.

"This suggests the remedy for woman: she must minimize her sex by securing a larger environment and by winning her economic independence from society. The argument is developed with great literary skill and resource. . . . No one who wishes to be up-to-date should neglect this bright book."—(Ethical Record.)

WORDS FOR MUSIC. A Symphonic Series. Net, $3.00

By WILLIAM WELLS NEWELL. By post, $3.05

A collection of brief lyrical pieces, including eighty numbers, grouped in four movements according to a relation musical rather than dramatic. The volume, in addition to its typographic excellence and beauty of form and detail, possesses an unusual interest for collectors, having been printed under the direction of the author at his own private press at Wayland, Mass., of which press it is the first production.

The edition, which is printed from type, consists of two hundred copies only, on Japan royal paper, with specially designed titles for each number, and a vignette title-page etched in color. The type was distributed after printing, and the form and ornamentation will not be reproduced.

Japan vellum boards, gold decoration, untrimmed, 6½ x 4¼ in.

WOUND DRESSER, THE. $1.50

A Series of Letters written by Walt Whitman to His Mother from the Hospitals in Washington during the War of the Rebellion. Introduced by three letters on the Hospital Service contributed by Whitman to the press. Edited by Richard Maurice Bucke, one of Whitman's Literary Executors. With portraits of Whitman and his mother, a facsimile of manuscript.

> "Surely no more vivid picture has ever been painted of the army hospital than we see in these letters. . . . If you know a man who says that war is ever to be welcomed, ask him to read this book. War is hell, and here are the proofs."—(The Boston Journal.)

YELLOW PINE BASIN. The Story of a Prospector. $1.25

By HENRY G. CATLIN.

> "It is a pleasure to meet with a book that has so much old-time romance about it as has Yellow Pine Basin. . . . The book is a fitting tribute to the memory of a fast-vanishing type that was distinctively American, and that was worthy of all honor from the present generation."—(New York Sun.)

Cloth, decorative, 7½ x 4⅞ in.

YELLOW WALL PAPER, THE. 50 cents

By CHARLOTTE PERKINS STETSON.

> "Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson's The Yellow Wall Paper is a conceit fantastical and gruesome enough to have emanated from the brain of Edgar Poe. It is written with remarkable vividness, as if the writer had experienced something very like the misery which she describes. There is nothing extravagant or unreal in the narration. Wall-papers, yellow and other-colored, have had often a pernicious influence on people of defective nervous poise, and quite unbalanced them. Mrs. Stetson's story has a purely literary justification, but is none the worse for teaching a lesson which some loving husbands and parents would do well to heed."—(The Christian Register.)

THE REAL NEW YORK

With Pen and Pencil

By RUPERT HUGHES

You are interested in the metropolis of the country and will enjoy a descriptive story which not only tells of the city's life but pictures it as well. The skeleton of the book is the story of a party of visitors to the city and their varied experiences. Mr. Hughes knows New York thoroughly, and with remarkable cleverness has written not only a practical guide-book of the city, but an entertaining story as well—something that has hitherto never been attempted. Mr. Mayer's caricatures are known everywhere, and his drawings illuminate the text on almost every page.

Drift if you will in Venice,
  Or drowse in Florence brown;
Drink till you drop in Munich,
  Or drench in London town;
Drudge out your life in Chicago,
  Or drone in old Rome your dream;
Drain the delights of Vienna,
  Or Paris with walls of cream;
But drive me not far from Broadway,
  When New York's aglow and agleam.

The Love Letters of a Liar

By Mrs. William Allen

Decidedly any one who has not read these scintillating letters has missed a very pleasant hour. In graceful, ardent phrases an American man wooes an American girl epistolarily. No book along similar lines which has ever been written can compare with it in grace of style and cleverness of expression.

Exquisitely printed on thick deckle-edge paper with flexible, imitation-leather cover.

THE MODEL LIBRARY

E. Steiger & Co.

invite attention to the fact that their

Stock of German Publications

—in all departments—

is absolutely the largest in America, containing, as it does, in addition to the best and current books in all departments, also many thousands of Publications not in frequent demand, which cannot be found elsewhere in America.

Other Specialties of theirs are Books for the Study of Foreign Languages, Kindergarten Material and Kindergarten Publications, Object Teaching Charts, etc.

in regard to which

Steiger's Catalogues and Lists

—see next page—should be consulted.

For the

Quickest Importation of Foreign Publications

our Connections are most extensive and unsurpassed in efficiency.

We have Direct Connections with the Publishers of Germany, Austria, Switzerland, England, France, etc. and careful Agents at Leipzig, London, Paris, Bruxelles, Amsterdam, Madrid, Barcelona, Lisbon, Berne, Geneva, Turin, Milan, Venice, Rome, Athens, Constantinople, Bucarest, Belgrad, Buda-Pesth, Warsaw, St. Petersburg, Helsingfors, Stockholm, Cristiania, Copenhagen, Cairo, Bombay, Calcutta, Batavia, Singapore, Shanghai, Canton, Manila, Tokyo, Melbourne, Bogotá, Lima, Santiago, Buenos Aires, Rio, Caracas, Havana, Mexico, Ottawa, Toronto, etc.

Der Verfasser dieser Serie von Lesebüchern ist seit 45 Jahren mit einer der wichtigsten Aufgaben der Schule — dem Elementarunterrichte — betraut, und hat darin grosse Erfolge erzielt. Auf seine reichen Erfahrungen sind diese Bücher basiert. Das Charakteristische derselben besteht in dem wohldurchdachten Systeme, mit und neben dem Lese-Schreibunterrichte vermittelst anziehender und reichlich illustrierter Lesestücke die Aufmerksamkeit des Kindes zu fesseln, sein Gemüth und seine Willenskraft zu binden und seinen Verstand zu entwickeln. Dabei ist Reales und Ideales, Prosa und Poesie in schönste Harmonie gebracht und für den Anschauungsunterricht wird besonders viel geboten.

Diese Bücher sind daher besser als andere geeignet, dem Kinde das Lesen leicht und angenehm, Schule und Lehrer aber ihm lieb zu machen. Besonders erfreuliche Fortschritte in allen Fächern sind die natürliche Folge davon.

☞ The several books of the Colloquial Method are provided with a treatise on the Modern German Orthography, of 1902.

☞ Distinguishing features of this Colloquial Method are, among others, the following:

The full and thorough understanding of the entire range of German grammar is imparted in a simple manner, in easy stages, from grade to grade, it is firmly impressed upon the learner's mind by colloquial exercises on common topics, which engage his entire attention. He thus acquires a large vocabulary and the facility to use it in conversation: without tedious effort he learns to speak German.—Etymological comparisons demonstrate the affinity of English and German whenever occasion offers.

☞ For instruction in classes Steiger's Colloquial Method will be found superior to the "natural method", and second to no other Series of Text-books.

For pupils whose time is limited, the following book is the easiest introduction to the study of German:

Rudiments of Steiger's Colloquial Method of Learning the German Language. By JOSEPH DEGHUEE. (N.O.) bds. $0.35

Science of Language, Comparative Modern Philology 30

In view of the fact that for the study of many languages Dictionaries, Grammars, Phrasebooks, etc. are not in existence, the next best means of acquiring a certain knowledge of such foreign languages is afforded by the Scriptures translated by Missionaries. In this Catalogue, therefore, we quote the New Testament or parts thereof in about 200 languages.

These Books are kept on hand and for sale by E. Steiger & Co. at the annexed prices, which are, however, subject to correction and to changes.—Special Terms for Schools, when quantities of any one book are ordered.

☞ For Greek, Latin and Oriental Languages see Steiger's Catalogue No. 15.

New York Depot of Sheets of the Topographic Map of the United States made by the United States Geological Survey.

For the convenience of persons interested in this most valuable Map we keep a considerable stock of the sheets of the States of Conn., Del., D. C., Me., Md., Mass., N. H., N. J., N. Y., Pa., R. I. and Vt. for examination, sale and immediate delivery, thus saving delay and correspondence with the Geological Survey at Washington, where neither Checks nor Postage Stamps will be accepted in payment of the sheets.

This great map is being published in atlas sheets of convenient size, which are bounded by parallels and meridians. The four-cornered division of land corresponding to an atlas sheet is called a quadrangle. The sheets are of approximately the same size: the paper dimensions are 21¾ by 18½ inches; the map occupies about 17½ inches of height and 11½ to 16 inches of width, the latter varying with latitude. The intermediate scale (employed on nearly all sheets) is 1 : 125,000, or about 2 miles to 1 inch; thus each sheet covers about 60 or 70 square miles.

The features shown on this map may, for convenience, be classed in three groups: (1) water, including seas, lakes, ponds, rivers and other streams, canals, swamps, etc. [all shown in blue]; (2) relief, including mountains, hills, valleys, cliffs, etc. [all shown in brown]; (3) culture, i. e., the works of man, such as towns, cities, roads, railroads, boundaries, etc. [all shown in black, in which color all lettering also is printed]. The conventional signs used for most of these features are shown and explained in the marginal columns of each sheet.

The sheets composing this Topographic Map are designated by the name of a principal town or of some prominent natural feature within the district, and the names of adjoining published sheets are printed on the margins.

On the following pages we give a list of the sheets which we usually carry in stock.

In proportion to the trouble of handling the sheets (of the usual size) we supply them at the following rates:

from 1 to 10,	assorted,	ordered at one time,	10	cents each
from 11 to 20,	"	"	8	"
21 or more,	"	"	6	"

On orders from out of town we accept U. S. Postage Stamps for small amounts, or Checks bankable in New York City, as well as Express or Postal Money Orders, etc. — and we forward the sheets, prepaid, by mail.

E. Steiger & Co.,

25 Park Place, New York.

Short List of Sheets of the Eastern States.

(The mentioned name is, generally, the principal town on the sheet.—When 2 or 3 States are quoted within ( ), it means that part of the territory of these is embraced in the sheet.—Unless another price is quoted, we furnish each sheet @ 10 Cents.)

☞ The most complete work of its kind:

Cyclopaedia of Weaving Designs.

A Collection of Patterns for Every Textile Specialist and a Guide for the Designing of Textile Fabrics.

Edited by Francis Donat.

300 Plates (15" x 19") with 9015 Designs.

Strongly bound in cloth. Price $25.00 net.

This design book is methodically and systematically arranged and contains a rich collection of patterns for woven goods. It supplies a long felt want.

The designs are made for plain and figured goods and will be found useful in every branch of the textile industry.

This work will prove a great help to textile specialists; the 9015 designs which it contains will serve as a basis for innumerable other patterns.

The explanatory text is in English, German and French.

☞ A specimen plate will be mailed free on application.

Africa Waiting: or The Problem of Africa's Evangelization. By Douglas M. Thornton. Bibliography, missionary statistics and map. 12mo, 148 pp.; paper, 35 cents.

A comprehensive book of small compass concerning the people and missions of Africa.

It takes a wide range—geography, languages and races; the special problems of each of the four great sections of the Dark Continent; the slave trade and the drink traffic.—The Sunday School Times.

Bible and Foreign Missions. By Robert P. Wilder. Pamphlet, 24 pp.; 5 cents.

Bible Study for Personal Growth. By John R. Mott. Pamphlet, 24 pp.; 5 cents.

Call, Qualifications, and Preparation of Candidates for Missionary Service. Papers by missionaries and other authorities. Of special value to missionary candidates. 12mo, 158 pp.; paper, 25 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

This is not a systematic treatise on the call, qualifications, and preparation of candidates for foreign missionary service. It is simply a collection of papers prepared for periodicals and magazines, and for the conventions of the Student Volunteer Movement by different writers, each one of whom is fitted to give helpful advice to those preparing for the foreign mission field. These articles will be of value to students who are endeavoring to decide what their life work shall be. The various phases of missionary work and the qualifications necessary for successful missionary service are clearly presented.

This book is one of the most valuable and helpful of the kind that we have ever read. No candidate should fail to read and reread it. It is a compilation of papers by such authors as Mr. Robert E. Speer, Dr. Jacob Chamberlain, Dr. Henry Jessup, Mr. Eugene Stock, Bishop Thoburn, Mr. Harlan P. Beach, Dr. Gulick, Archdeacon Moule and others.—The Missionary Review.

The Call of the Home Land. By Rev. A. L. Phillips, D.D. 12mo; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents. (In preparation.)

Candidates in Waiting: a Manual of Home Preparation for Foreign Missionary Work. By Georgiana A. Gollock. Cloth, square 16mo, 128 pp.; 50 cents postpaid.

This is elementary in character and especially good for those who are not college graduates.

China, Evangelization of. See Evangelization of China.

Course of Study on Medical Missions. By C. W. Ottley, M.D., formerly Traveling Secretary for the Medical Colleges. 10 cents.

Cycle of Prayer of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions. Pamphlet, with space for MS. additions. 5 cents.

Dawn on the Hills of T'ang: or Missions in China. By Harlan P. Beach, M.A., F.R.G.S. (New and enlarged edition of 1905.) Bibliography, analytical index, missionary map, statistics, illustrations. 12mo, 227 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

In this volume the main points are given in as brief form as possible. In the eight chapters the most important factors relating to the Empire are discussed from the missionary standpoint. The author vividly describes the land, people and religions of China and gives an interesting account of missionary operations in this Empire, with special references to changes following the Boxer uprising of 1900.

It is a terse, compact and serviceable manual about missions in China.—The Congregationalist.

It is a valuable treasury of information in itself, and, if desired, can be made the basis of minute and extended study.—The Christian Advocate.

Furnished with a good map and well indexed, it is a very handy reference manual. —The Outlook.

Mr. Beach has done his work with characteristic thoroughness.—Arthur H. Smith, in the Chinese Recorder.

Effective Workers in Needy Fields. By W. F. McDowell, D.D., R. P. McKay, D.D., W. F. Oldham, D.D., C. C. Creegan, D.D., and J. D. Davis, D.D. Bibliography, analytical index, illustrations. 12mo, 195 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

This book contains the record of five remarkable lives, all of them, with the exception of the first, written by persons who were intimately acquainted with the life which they so admirably portray. The reader is brought into a sympathetic knowledge of the lives and works of these modern missionaries: David Livingstone, Africa; George Leslie Mackay, Formosa; Isabella Thoburn, India; Cyrus Hamlin, Turkey, and Joseph Hardy Neesima, Japan.

Evangelization of China: Addresses at the Conferences held in China, in 1896. Index. 141 pp.; paper, 50 cents.

Evangelization of the World in This Generation. By John R. Mott, M.A., F.R.G.S. Bibliography, analytical index. 12mo, 245 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth decorated, gilt top, $1.00.

Few books on missions have had so wide a sale as this. In the United States and Canada the work has reached its thirty-sixth thousand. It has been reprinted in England and in India, and translated into Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, and German. It is doubtful whether any missionary volume hitherto published can compare with it in strength of argument and in prophetic vision. It is stimulating, lucid, and convincing, addressing itself not to the emotions, but to the judgment; yet it is so spiritual in tone and purpose that it encourages and inspires the reader. No prospective leader of public sentiment in Church or State can afford to lose this course of study. —The Sunday School Times.

The book is doubly worth the reading, both for its moving appeal to the universal Christian consciousness and for the timely information it gives as to the grand sweep of modern missionary thought and effort, the wide-reaching activities of the present, and the marvelous opportunities of the future.—The Christian Advocate.

Nothing better can be found to give, in brief and compendious review, a summary of the missionary outlook of the church at the present hour.—Rev. James S. Dennis, D.D., in The Churchman.

We earnestly commend this work to the attention of ministers and students, and of all who are interested in the missionary enterprise.—Free Church of Scotland Monthly.

The facts and statistics [in this book] are presented in an interesting and convincing manner, and make it a most valuable hand-book on missions.—The Watchman.

Federation Conference, Reports of. Decennial Review of the World's Student Christian Federation. By John R. Mott. 35 pp., illustrated; paper, 50 cents.

Geography and Atlas of Protestant Missions. By Harlan P. Beach, M.A., F.R.G.S. Two volumes, cloth bound; net price, postpaid, $4.00 per set. Sold only in sets. Volume I, 571 pages; Volume II, 54 pages, 18 double-page maps.

A distinct mission land is presented in each chapter of Volume I. There is given a vivid picture of its geography and its races, its social and religious condition as unaffected by Christian missions as well as an account of the Protestant mission work as it is being carried on in the opening years of the twentieth century. It is not a history of Protestant missions, but a clear, systematic and interesting portrayal of the outstanding facts.

Volume II contains the latest and most detailed statistics of the missionary societies of Canada, the United States, Great Britain and the Continent. The Station Index shows the missionary force and work in more than four thousand stations. The maps, on which are marked the stations of practically all independent societies, are artistic and geographically correct, having been prepared for the work by well-known British cartographers.

Healing of the Nations: a treatise on Medical Missions, Statement and Appeal. By J. Rutter Williamson, M. B. Edinburgh University. Member of the British Medical Association. Bibliography. 12mo, 95 pp.; paper, 25 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

No single agency is so successful in removing prejudice in many fields as the work of medical missions. The facts brought out in the text-book are novel and interesting, not only to earnest friends of missions, but to others who may be influenced by the philanthropic aspect of the work. The aim of the text-book is to present facts that ought to be pondered in the hearts of Christian men and women.

The appeal made by the awful sufferings endured in the absence of medical relief is made intense by the facts here put before us, and the success of the medical missionary as a pathbreaker for Christ through the jungles of superstition and prejudice is put beyond a doubt.—The Outlook.

This is a little volume overflowing with important truth.—The Living Church.

While the argument is strong and convincing, the devotional spirit that pervades the whole is warm and evincing.—Presbyterian Review.

"If God Permit"; a Word to Detained Volunteers by F. S. Brockman. 8 pp.; 3 cents each. 15 cents a dozen.

India and Christian Opportunity. By Harlan P. Beach, M.A., F.R.G.S. Missionary statistics, index, annotated bibliography, and illustrations. 12mo, 308 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

This is the latest and the best text-book prepared by Mr. Beach, whose books are so well known to all students of missions. Correspondence during the past eight years with leaders of classes has determined the selection of a larger portion of general information relating to the geography, ethnography, and religions of India than appears in the ordinary volume on that country.

This book is a miniature encyclopedia. It was written as a text-book for college, university and seminary students. These will find it just what they need. Its topics have a most comprehensive scope and pointed treatment, and further investigation is stimulated by numerous references and a pertinent bibliography. As a book of reference it is most valuable, and the very complete index makes the material easily available. The student—not necessarily in college—who desires to know India can find no better basis for research however extensive.—Rev. John W. Conklin.

India's Students, Spiritual Awakening Among: Addresses at the Student Conferences held in India, in 1896. 168 pp.; paper, 50 cents.

Introduction to the Study of Foreign Missions. By Edward A. Lawrence, D.D. Being Chapters I, II, VII, VIII, IX of "Modern Missions in the East." 12mo, 143 pp.; paper, 25 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

It contains a striking historical survey which is followed by an exceedingly valuable discussion of the aim, scope, motives, etc., underlying the missionary enterprise. Then come chapters on the various forms of missionary effort, the missionary on the field in his various relations, and the problems which confront him.

Japan and Its Regeneration. By Rev. Otis Cary, D.D. Bibliography, illustrations, statistics, index, and missionary map. 12mo, 137 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents. Revised Edition.

The aim of the volume is to exhibit the inter-working of the many agencies in this Oriental renaissance, and their true relation one to another, as well as to clearly depict the material, social, and religious environment of the Japanese missionary. The treatment is broad and catholic, and the attempt has been made to do equal justice to all leading elements that have entered into Japan's recent wonderful progress, including her relations with Russia.

Written by a Japanese missionary of long standing and rare discrimination, it presents in compact form Japan's past and present history, her people and religions, and the work of missions in that Empire. It is lucid, trustworthy, and certain to interest every friend of missions and all students of contemporary history.—Japan Evangelist.

A better manual upon the Japanese Empire and its evangelization could scarcely be produced.—Church Missionary Intelligencer.

Knights of the Labarum: a Study in the Lives of Judson—Burma, Duff—India, Mackenzie—China, and Mackay—Africa. By Harlan P. Beach. 12mo, 111 pp.; paper, 25 cents postpaid.

No better book for classes just beginning the study of missions.

Medical Missions, Course of Study on. By C. W. Ottley, M.D., formerly Traveling Secretary for the Medical Colleges. 10 cents.

Missionaries at Work. By Georgiana A. Gullock. Crown 8vo, 182 pp.; cloth; 75 cents postpaid.

The aim of this book is to set before missionary candidates some practical suggestions and some fundamental principles that may be helpful in their work. It is written by a secretary of the largest Protestant missionary Society of the world and is enriched by her observations of missionaries at work in various parts of the world.

Missionary Department. By J. R. Mott. Revised edition; 33 pp.; 5 cents.

Motives in Foreign Missions. Rev. Griffith John, D.D. Pamphlet, 21 pp.; 5 cents.

Modern Apostles in Missionary Byways. By Rev. A. C. Thompson, D.D., Rev. H. P. Beach, Miss Abbie B. Child, Bishop Walsh, Rev. S. J. Humphrey, and Dr. A. T. Pierson. Bibliography, analytical index, portraits. 12mo, 108 pp.; paper, 25 cents; cloth, 40 cents.

In this book out-of-the-way mission fields that are little studied are brought under review. Greenland, Fuegia, Hawaii, Mongolia, Ceylon, and Arabia are the picturesque background against which stand out in clear relief the lives of Hans Egede, Allen Gardiner, Titus Coan, James Gilmour, Eliza Agnew and Keith-Falconer.

This collection of biographies brings before the reader the story of the heroic deeds and fruitful service of Hans Egede—Greenland, Allen Gardiner—Patagonia, Titus Coan—Hawaii, James Gilmour—Mongolia, Eliza Agnew—Ceylon, and Ion Keith-Falconer—Arabia. The story of their lives is more thrilling than romance.—Baptist Union.

These biographies will be found very interesting and profitable.—The Christian Guardian.

Money; Its Nature and Power. By Rev. A. F. Schauffler, D.D. Pamphlet, 18 pp., 5 cents.

Morning Watch. Pamphlet, 17 pp. By John R. Mott. 5 cents.

New Testament Studies in Missions, being outline studies covering the missionary teachings of the Four Gospels, the Acts, and the Pauline Epistles. By Harlan P. Beach. 12mo, 80 pp.; interleaved for additional references and MS. notes, outline map; paper, 15 cents.

An intelligent use of this book cannot fail to deepen interest in missions, and lead to efficient methods of work.—New York Observer.

It is full of good things for those who use it wisely.—Journal and Messenger.

Opportunity of the Hour; or Christian Stewardship. By George Sherwood Eddy. Pamphlet, 33 pp., 5 cents.

Pastor and Modern Missions; a plea for Leadership in the World Evangelization. By John R. Mott, M.A., F.R.G.S. Missionary Bibliography, index. 12mo, 249 pp., cloth, gilt top, $1.00.

The volume is a reprint in enlarged form of a course of lectures delivered at Ohio Wesleyan University, Yale Divinity School, McCormick and Princeton Thealogical Seminaries. It deals with world conditions at the beginning of the twentieth century and with the pastor as he stands between his church and the world's need. The various chapters discuss in a most suggestive way the pastor as an educational, a financial, a recruiting, and a spiritual force in the world's evangelization. As a book of missionary methods and as an inspiration to prospective or actual pastors it is of the utmost value.

Prayer and Missions. By Robert E. Speer. Pamphlet; 26 pp.; 5 cents.

Protestant Missions in South America. By Rev. Harlan P. Beach, Canon F. P. L. Josa, Professor J. Taylor Hamilton, Rev H. C. Tucker, Rev. C. W. Drees, D.D.; Rev. I. H. LaFetra, Rev. Thomas B. Wood, LL.D., and Mrs. T. S. Pond. Bibliography, missionary map, analytical index, general and missionary statistics. 12mo, 236 pp.; paper, 35 cents; cloth, 30 cents.

This text-book contains the most complete account of Protestant missions in South America that has yet appeared. Every effort was made to obtain as trustworthy information as possible. The several writers were secured because of their intimate knowledge of the lands and work which they have described.

Religions of Mission Fields as Viewed by Missionaries. By ten prominent missionaries. Bibliographies and index. 12mo, paper, 35 cents; cloth, 50 cents. In preparation.

This volume treats of nine principal religions of the great mission fields. The chapters are written by missionaries of experience who have given special study to the religions which they here discuss. It is particularly valuable for intending missionaries, since the viewpoint of the writers is a practical rather than a theoretical one. The religions included in the volume and the writers upon each are as follows: African religion, E. H. Richards, D.D.; Shintoism, J. H. DeForest, D.D.; Taoism, H. C. DuBose, D.D.; Confucianism, D. Z. Sheffield, D.D.; Buddhism of the Southern type, J. N. Cushing, D.D., of the Northern type, Rev. A. D. Gring; Hinduism, Rev. C. A. R. Janvier; Mohammedanism, S. M. Zwemer, D. D.; Judaism, Rev. L. Meyer; Catholicism, G. B. Winton, D.D.

Social Evils in the Non-Christian World. By Rev. James S. Dennis, D.D. Numerous illustrations; analytical index. 12mo, 172 pp.; paper, 35 cents.

Reprinted from Volume I of Dr. Dennis's great work, "Christian Missions and Social Progress." An exceedingly strong argument for Christian Missions derived from the awful social conditions prevalent in non-Christian countries. It is doubtful whether there is to be found elsewhere so full and compact an exposition of social conditions in mission lands.

The Literary Success of the Year.

TALES OF THE ROAD

By CHARLES N. CREWDSON

A BOOK FOR

ALL WHO BUY
ALL WHO SELL
ALL WHO READ

It will help you to sell
It will help pay dividends

For men on the road
For those who have men on the road
For those who want to be men on the road

CHARLES N. CREWDSON

"Tales of the Road" is stories of business life told in an easy style by a man who, although an Author, has been on the road and in touch with the brightest business men for 17 years and is ON THE ROAD TO-DAY.

"Tales of the Road" is easily the best book of the year. It is the true American book, combining Good Literature and Good Business. It is loaded down with bright, clever, snappy stories, full of human nature—the kind of human nature you find most every day—in short, good stories that are right down to the ground. On the other hand it will give you more practical pointers in the art of selling goods than you can get from any other source. Every phase of salesmanship covered with a directness and force that is bound to go home. This is the first book ever printed that does justice to the traveling man. It is brimful of lessons learned by scores of the brightest road men in America—their experiences told by themselves to the Author. It teaches how to get the best work out of them—the best there is in them.

"Tales of the Road" is the best Business Tool that could be placed in the hands of any merchant, manufacturer, wholesaler, jobber, men on the road, credit men, retail merchants, correspondents, credit men clerks, stock boys, bookkeepers, shipping clerks or any other man who wants a good business education.

AN AMERICAN IN NEW YORK

A NOVEL OF TO-DAY

BY OPIE READ

EVERY NORTHERNER

EVERY SOUTHERNER

should read it

EVERY EASTERNER

EVERY WESTERNER

should read it

The author has caught the spirit of this great city in a surprisingly true and interesting manner, and has woven a thread of romance, love and adventure that at once creates an interest which increases until the reader reaches the popular climax. Unlike any previous production of fiction in plot, style and treatment, and one that will add immensely to Mr. Read's world-wide popularity.

356 Pages, Illustrated by Emlen McConnell and Howard Heath.

Cloth Binding, 12 mo, Gilt Top, ... $1.25

MERCIFUL UNTO ME, A SINNER

By ELINOR DAWSON

A new "CHRISTIAN SCIENCE" Novel with a grand purpose. A realistic and dramatic story of a young woman's experience in a large city as related by herself.

She came from the Sunny South, beautiful, innocent, and with the best intentions; temptations beset her path at every turn and finally she is overcome. From her depraved life she is redeemed through Christian Science whose beauties and rare benefits are pointed out in a most reverential manner.

The narrative is intensely interesting and well written, will hold the reader enthralled to the end, and is one that will make people think, a book that will be read, re-read and remembered.

Tattlings of a Retired Politician

By FORREST CRISSEY
Author of "THE COUNTRY BOY"

With 58 Illustrations by JOHN T. McCUTCHEON, the Most Celebrated Cartoonist in America.

THE GREAT AMERICAN POLITICAL NOVEL

The story is a series of letters from old Ex-Govenor Bill Bradley to his protege Ned. Here are the titles to the letters: Still Hunts and Stolen Marches; Parable of the Widow's Mite; A Million Dollar Bribe; Political Spanks and Spankers; A Woman In It; How The Dear People Forget; Puppets and Pulls; Grafters and Stringers; Quitters and Stayers; Eleventh Hour Surprises; Paying the Fiddler; Landslides and Storm Centers; The Glad-Hand Brigade; Fights and Feuds; Trail of the Serpent; Fruits of Victory; Love at First Sight; At the Drop of the Hat; The Graft and the Gaff; Flirting with the Fixer; Kissing by Favor; The Game and the Candle.

Mr. Crissey lays bare every phase of practical politics and lets the daylight into all the nooks and corners of the political game and this is done without any stilted preaching. Every page is full of Brilliant Satire, Sparkling Wit, Epigrams, Anecdotes and Stories that are a joy to every reader. Humor, pathos and everyday philosophy, together with the touches of romance that actually enter the life of the Politician make this book a well-spring of literary delight and constitute a story of absorbing interest.

THE AMERICAN CAVALIER

By OPIE READ

Opie Read stands at the head of American authors of romance. His stories are known not only in America but have a world-wide reputation. The American Cavalier, his latest story, is in the author's best style, and is supplemented with the author's epigrams, which appear in book form for the first time. A story of American "hustle", nerve and business mingled with love and stirring life.

THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER

A THRILLING, INTENSELY INTERESTING AND HUMOROUS STORY OF BACKWOODS LIFE IN SOUTHERN INDIANA.

It tells how the hero of the story undertakes to teach a school located in a neighborhood noted for its lawlessness. The large boys of the district were in the habit of running the teacher out or making it so unpleasant that he was glad to leave. He gains the displeasure of the wife of the leading school trustee by falling in love with their bound girl and not returning love of their daughter, Mirandy, which enmity causes him so much trouble.

The schoolmaster has many trials and adventures but finally wins by sheer pluck.

AROUND THE WORLD ON SIXTY DOLLARS.

By Robert Meredith

An intensely interesting and humorous account of a man's trip around the world, traveling on his wits and a very slim purse. A close rival to Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," with the difference that it is true story. While it is as entertaining as any novel, it gives a full description of all lands visited and thousands of facts in regard to customs and habits of the people, which makes it a book of great value, especially to the young.

Bound in silk cloth stamped with gold and colored inks. $1.50

SAMANTHA AT SARATOGA.

By Josiah Allen's Wife

The funniest book of all. Funny hits, funny cuts, sells like fun. Written amid the whirl of fashion at Saratoga. It takes off its follies, flirtations, low necked dressing, dudes, pug dogs, the water craze, tobogganing, etc., in the author's inimitable mirth-provoking style. The (100) illustrations by "Opper" are "just klling." An ever fresh and inviting feast of fun. 600 pages, printed on superior paper, profusely illustrated by F. Opper, of Puck. Extra fine cloth, gilt side and back. 1,000,000 copies have been sold. $1.50

The Life and Troubles of MR. BOWSER

THE NEW BOOK BY THE POPULAR HUMORIST

C. B. Lewis, (M. Quad.)

Author of "The Lime-Kiln Club," etc., with page illustrations by Grossett

In "The Life and Troubles of Mr. Bowser" we find him at his best; that is, he succeeds in creating a laughable and readable adventure at least one day or evening out of the seven, and would do a little better if Mrs. Bowser was not always on hand to sit down on him at just the right moment to dampen his enthusiasm. Some husbands are crushed to stay crushed, but Mr. Bowser bobs up serenely next time to buy a new milch cow who doesn't "milch," a dozen chickens who do nothing but "lay" around, a clock which "goes" only when pitched out of the back window, and to take up scientific subjects; experiment with electricity; delve into the occult and keep Mrs. Bowser, the family cat and the cook on the move. As. Mrs. Pattington would say: "He is full of ingredients, and you are bound to eat crust and all."

Over 400 pages, 8 vo. bound in cloth $1.50

The Child's Life of Christ

Introduction by Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, D. D.

FROM THE BIRTH OF CHRIST TO THE ASCENSION.

There is a wonderful facination for children in Bible stories. The parent who tries the experiment will find that David is more interesting than Jack the Giant Killer; that Daniel and his brave companions are more facinating than King Arthur; that the shipwreck of Paul is better than Sinbad the Sailor, and of all Bible stories there is none that hold the attention so deeply as those which cluster around the Life of Christ.

True stories of Palestine; The Annunciation; Nazareth; The Shepherds; Herod; The Wise Men From the East; The Massacre of the Innocents, and the Circumcision; The Presentation; His Childhood; Daily Life; The Passover; The Passover in Jerusalem; Christ's First Passover, and hundreds of other interesting Bible stories which never grow old, are always fresh, and are read with eager delight by old and young.

This beautiful volume is written in language so simple and attractive that it charms every reader. Prepared expressly for the instruction of young people in our Sunday Schools and Societies of Christian Workers.

Illustrated with 200 Original illustrations; 752 pages, size 10x8¼x2 inches thick, bound in fine silk cloth, stamped in gold on side and back.....$2.50

Ideals of Life, A Book of Counsel. Culture, Conquest; or How to Make Life Beautiful. By 200 best authors of Europe and America, who in specially written articles tell how to attain the ideal of an all-round development, physically, mentally, morally. Edited by Wallace Wood, M. D., Prof. History, University of New York. Comprising opinions and suggestions born of observation and experience of the combined talent of the most distinguished scientists, educators and successful men of our age, who have set in motion lines of thought and action in the endeavor to solve the great problems of life. Sir John Lubbock limits these questions to three: Where we came from, Where we are going, What is best to do under the circumstances. To the young entering upon life's responsibilities, the book will prove a beacon-light, guiding to pathways that lead to the formation of character and a successful life; and to parents, teachers and pilgrims in every walk and phase of life it comes with its counsel and cheer, leading to and securing the end sought—the Life Beautiful.

Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines With Modern Methods of Diagnosis and Treatment. By BOARDMAN REED, M.D. Professor of Diseases of the Gastrointestinal Tract, Hygiene and Climatology in the Department of Medicine of Temple College, Philadelphia; Attending Physician to the Samaritan Hospital; Member of the American Medical Association, American Climatological Association, American Academy of Medicine, American Electro-Therapeutic Association; Foreign Member of the French Societe d'Electrotherapie, etc. This handsome octavo volume of 1,024 pages embraces a full account of the simplest and least disturbing methods of determining the character of the secretory and excretory work of the organs having a part in the processes of digestion and metabolism, by examinations of the stomach contents, feces, blood and urine; together with an unusually full exposition of the subject of diet and the therapeutics of the digestive disorders in general, including indications for the various forms of electricity, x-rays, massage, vibratory stimulation, hydrotherapy, gymnastics, etc., in addition to "The Gastrointestinal Clinic" in which the diagnosis and treatment of all the known diseases of the tract are separately considered.

New York Medical Record says:—"The work will probably be met by a large demand from those in general work who have not the time for more extensive reading. The author is clear and sound in his teachings, simplifies conditions as far as possible, and gives a good practical working knowledge, such as he has gathered from a large experience in his special field. There was need of such a book by a practical observer, who gives to the reader the easiest and most useful methods destined to be employed in general practice more and more in this rapidly progressive department of medicine."

THE WORK, eighty-two lectures, is complete in one large octavo volume of 1,024 pages, fully indexed, illustrated by about one hundred and fifty engravings in line and half-tone.

Illustrated Skin Diseases. (By Color Photography.) An Atlas and Text-book, with special reference to Modern Diagnosis and the most approved methods of Treatment. By William S. Gottheil, M.D., Professor of Skin and Venereal Diseases, New York School of Clinical Medicine. It has been difficult to represent in words or picture in drawings the manifold impressions and delicate variations of color and shape that are so readily appreciated through the optic nerve and detected in the living subject. From the author's extensive collection, taken in hospital, dispensary, and private practice. This series of Colored Plates are by the new photographic process, producing life-like representations by means of color negatives from living subjects, surpassing in life-like effects any and all attempts at chromo-lithography.

The New York Medical Record says:—"The stronghold of the work is its color photography, depicting as it does from life what heretofore it has been considered impossible to illustrate. The etiology, pathology and diagnosis are given in as few words as practical, and great space is devoted to modern therapeutics."

SECOND EDITION. 440 quarto pages of profusely illustrated text and formulæ. In fourteen quarto portfolios, $1 each; Bound in Half Morocco, - - - $17.

Legal Medicine, Hamilton's System of. A complete Work of Reference for Medical and Legal Practitioners. By Allan McLane Hamilton, M.D., Consulting Physician to the Insane Asylums of New York City; Assisted by Lawrence Godkin, Esq., of the New York Bar, and a Corps of Thirty Collaborators, in its Various Departments, with which their Scientific Reputation is identified. The great features of the work are its Citations and Cases, nearly 5,000, Chiefly American, its vast amount of Experimental Research, and its up-to-date Theory and Practice. Illustrated and Indexed.

The University Medical Magazine, Philadelphia, says:—"The list of contributors includes many of the most distinguished writers and authorities in medicine and law. As a book of reference it will be found equally invaluable to the physician and the lawyer in the preparation of their cases that go to court. The individual work of the various contributors is excellent. It embodies the most recent knowledge of the subject, without redundancies or statistics."

The Therapeutic Gazette says:—"The articles have been written by persons who are universally recognized as being eminent authorities in their various specialties. They have taken pains to contribute articles which are exceedingly creditable to their powers of description and observation."

The Journal of American Medical Association says:—"This work is devoid of padding, is clear and comprehensive, and the references to cases are so full as to make it encyclopedic in scope."

A MYSTERY STORY

By ARCHIBALD MARSHALL

12mo. Cloth. $1.50

If you like a story told artistically, with a well knit plot, action on every page, and a satisfactory ending, this will meet your wants. It has the combined elements of a mystery and a detective story, yet withal it never becomes sensational or in the least improbable. The scenes are laid in the beautiful English lake district.

By

FRANK WALLER ALLEN

AN EXAMPLE OF BEAUTIFUL BOOKMAKING
DESIGNED FOR THE HOLIDAYS

12mo. Emblematic Cover. $1.25

¶ A long time has elapsed since there has been published anything as beautiful as this exquisite little Kentucky love-story.

¶ It recalls the sweetness of Ike Marvel's "Reveries of a Bachelor" and Curtis's "Prue and I," yet its charm is all its own.

¶ A dear, quaint old bachelor who in the days of his youth loved and lost, tells the love-story of his ward — the daughter of her whom he lost — and in its telling incidentally relates his own romance.

¶ Something so exquisitely told that it will become enshrined in the memory.

¶ Nevertheless, "Sir Galahad of New France," though its setting is furnished by the attempts of French Huguenots to settle in this country in the 16th century, is not properly an historical romance. The vital human interest predominates. One forgets the faithfulness of the historical framework in following with delight a love story whose rare beauty and delicacy are in keeping with the wildwood environment. These qualities shine out the more brightly by contrast with the story of a dark intrigue, in a valley of the Pyrenees, which culminates in betrayal and desertion.

What the Critics Say

¶ John Camden has written a good mystery story in which the amateur detective wins out over all obstacles, running the criminal to the ground. The reader will want to devour the tale at one sitting. The work is that of a highly ingenious and competent hand and the denouement is surprising enough to suit the most critical of detective story gourmands.
—Boston Herald.

¶ The test of these mystery stories is whether the reader is able to guess the solution. It will be a clever reader who guesses the solution of this mystery story. Moreover the story is cleverly written.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

¶ The author seems to have read Gaboriau to good purpose; the ramifications of the plot are evolved carefully and logically. The characters have more life to them than is usually thought necessary in mystery tales.—New York Sun.

¶ The person who guesses this mystery before John Camden is ready to let him has the right to esteem himself clever.
—The Globe, New York.

¶ From chapter to chapter the reader is lured on, his suspicion settling now upon one character and then upon another, until, finally, to his suprise, he learns the truth.

The Bishop's Niece

by GEORGE H. PICARD

12mo. Cloth. $1.25

¶ A tale that reminds one of "L'Abbé Constantin," but with a Cape Breton setting. An unassuming bishop, a lovable priest, a family of Scotch Catholics and another family of Methodists are the characters with whose religious prejudices Cupid plays merry pranks.

"The story is possessed of charm and originality and an elusive fascination that lures one on to the last word. Mr. Picard succeeds in leaving the reader in a clever maze by the illogical ending of the book."—Louisville Times.

"'The Bishop's Niece' by George H. Picard is a little pastoral and romantic piece, prettily set, and possessing the undeniable claim of humor. It is a fresh bit of reading and not the least bit of its merits lies in the manner of its author."—St. Louis Republic.

"Written in faultless English, printed in the best of style and bound beautifully."—St. Louis Star.

"The bishop is a delighful character, recalling 'L'Abbé Constantin.' The book gives the impression of being an account of actual happenings, in which little has been left to the imagination."—New York Globe.

"It is a beautiful story."—Pittsburg Leader.

"Will appeal to readers of good literary taste."

A remarkable novel that makes the fiction of the year pale in comparison. Mr. Snaith has produced a book that holds its own among those of Meredith, Dickens and Thackeray. It is the story of an English country family of the present day.

What the Critics say

¶ "There is no living writer in England or this country to whom it would not be a credit. Springfield Republican.

¶ "He will prove a revelation to that portion of the American public in search of imagination combined with substance and literary finish." San Francisco Chronicle.

¶ "The American publishers of this book are to be congratulated on having secured one of the most talked of and entertaining English novels in the last few months." The Critic.

¶ "An exceedingly lively and diverting tragic comedy of men and old acres. Mr. Snaith has invention, energy, and ideas of his own ; he has courage and sympathy and the sovereign faculty of interesting his readers in the fortunes of most of his dramatis personæ. Mr. Snaith has given us a delightful heroine, a wholly original hero, and a great deal of entertainment, for which we offer him our hearty thanks." London Spectator.

¶ "Reading the book will make the memory sneer over hundreds of late novels." Brooklyn Eagle.

NOW IN ITS 70,000 IN ENGLAND

Something absolutely novel in the annals of literature.

IN the most audacious novel that has appeared for years, the author takes for his theme the following quotation from Carlyle: "Clothes gave us individuality, distinction, social polity." When, therefore, London wakes up after its great storm and finds itself turned into a huge Eden with Adams and Eves in all the pristine simplicity of the altogether nude, the situations described are startling in the extreme. The author is at once bold and restrained in his picture of London deprived of clothes.

¶After a lapse of many years, Charles Warren Stoddard, so celebrated for his beautiful "South Sea Idyls," which have become a classic in American Literature, again presents the public with a collection of idyls and stories of these summer seas full of his charming word-pictures and exquisite touches which tell of dream-life in fairyland.

To quote from others

¶ "Beneath the spell of Mr. Stoddard's magic pen one is transported to the sapphire seas of Tahiti, one sees the glow of its tropical sunsets, wanders beneath its drooping palms, mingles with its nude and laughing natives."
Chicago Record-Herald.

¶ "Spray of the salt sea, silver line of a beach star-sown, waving of tall palms, sunset glow of flowers heavy with warm fragrance, taste of fruits, aromatic delicious,—dream, sleep and solitude in the heart of one of those rare jewels of the Pacific."
The Reader Magazine.

¶ "No writer has preserved the charm of South Sea Island life through the medium of letters so well, despite the fact that Robert Louis Stevenson essayed the same task."
St. Louis Democrat.

¶ "Is a bit of literary hasheesh, giving glorious day-dreams, soft, seductive, enticing." Cleveland Leader.

of KENJIRO TOKUTOMI

By SAKAE SHIOYA and E. F. EDGETT

12*mo. Artistically bound in Cloth.* $1.50

AT ALL BOOKSTORES OR SENT POSTPAID ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

¶A book that has received enthusiastic praise from the Critics of America, England, Germany and Japan, as an artistic story setting forth one of Japan's vital social questions and incidentally giving a realistic picture of the home life, social life and manners and customs of the official class. Mr. Tokutomi is the most popular author of Japan to-day. This is the first translation from Japanese modern literature.

The Critics' Opinions

¶"Every page is dotted over with bits of vivid word-painting, glimpses of unmistakably Japanesque landscape that seems to have been transferred directly from some delicate porcelain bowl, or lacquered tray, or silken fan."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

¶"His novel will be remembered as a true history in the future, and as a human document. It is an eloquent protest against the foreign misconception that no Jap would be able to love woman divinely."
—Mr. Yoni Noguchi, in The Bookman.

¶"So true is its portrayal of character, and so tender and deep the pathos of its chief incident, that to the Occidental reader it brings a fresh reminder that human nature is the same the world over."—Outlook.

¶ "In the matter of scenes and situations our author has been very happy. It is a story that is original in conception. The plot is well constructed and the incidents are brought forward in a manner that is praiseworthy." Baltimore Sun.

¶ "In 'The Quincunx Case' Mr. Pitman commands an exceedingly attractive and deftly wrought style, superior to what is ordinarily found in detective stories. Its interest is unfailing and cumulative." Philadelphia Press.

¶In a discursive volume, "The Ethics of Imperialism," Mr. Arthur R. Carman considers the problem of whether Imperialism is antagonistic to Christian ethics, and decides it in the negative, finding no incompatibility between the process of Christianity in its universal phase and the struggle of survivorship and ascendency going on among the nations. To the metaphysican the book, which is logically ordered and attractively written, should prove nothing less than a genuine delight.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Lyrics of Life and Love

by WILLIAM STANLEY BRAITHWAITE

12mo. Artistically Bound in Boards. $1.00 net
Postage, 10 cents extra.

¶ "This impulse seized me as I read your two stanzas called 'Divided.' They have genuine taste and feeling — I don't see how they could be better. And there are other artistic and poetic lyrics and songs. — But I see you have the lyrical gift. Now, if you can only (having conformed so well, and with quick taste to the existing standards which all poets love) — if you can only let yourself go, and present some new field, motive, treatment, you may make an appeal to the public always ready to welcome strong and novel utterance. — You are fortunate in your genius."
Edmund Clarence Stedman.

¶ "I consider it the best book of poetry that has been published in this country for some time." Nixon Waterman.

¶ "I have read it with pleasure. It is replete with poetic feeling, with a special affinity for the tender and melancholy, and some of the verses are very sweet."
Chas. W. Chesnutt.

¶ "The first collected edition of the poems written by William Stanley Braithwaite, who has been pronounced one of the most gifted poets of his race. Certainly his verses possess to a marked degree the pure lyric quality. He is a poet with a song to sing and his melodies are tender in sentiment and pure in ideals. That he has studied his Rossetti is apparent, but there is originality in his work which compels consideration." New York Sun.

¶ "A follower of Keats, Mr. Braithwaite is wiser than the most of present day writers of verse, in that he is content to array himself with Madison Cawein and Miss Edith Thomas as a careful and loving artist in the school of Keats, rather than strive for such novelty as often results in poverty of beauty and melody." J. R. H. in Book News.

¶ "The most praiseworthy collection of lyrics published in the year just gone. We have in this maker of sweet verses the true poetic spirit and the work has that grace of form that distinguishes the work of the poet from that of the poetaster. Seldom has our callous heart been moved as it has by the melodious lyrics of this well-nigh unknown singer — a singer to whom has been given grudgingly the praise that to any other writer might have been liberally bestowed." Baltimore Sun.

What the Critics Say

"A book of dainty verse, light as lace webs spread over night and as joyous as the morning sunshine. Mr. Jessup is more than a rhymester or a mere maker of metrical verse."
The Pittsburg Press.

"Most of his verse is studiously musical and often he strikes definitely on a metric swing that shows acquaintance with Greek and Roman classics."— Springfield Republican.

"Some of the verses are bold, in a charming, innocent way."— Brooklyn Eagle.

"In this little volume of poems, Alexander Jessup sings 'Hey, to the charm of youth' in musical verse, attuned to love and lovers, since youth and love go hand in hand to the poet's fancy."

¶ The author of "Bubbles We Buy" in her new book tells of the experiences of a wealthy mine owner and his beautiful daughter from British Columbia, who upon their first visit to Paris get into the hands of unscrupulous persons and become involved in an art fraud of some magnitude, from which they are finally extricated by friends.

¶ "This is a novel which, if the writer is not mistaken, raises Miss Jones to the proud preeminence of being the leading Canadian female novelist.
Canadian Magazine.

¶ "Gabriel Praed's Castle" is an interesting romance full of movement and incident. The characters are so clearly drawn that the reader feels as if he had fallen in with real flesh and blood heroes"
Evening Wisconsin.

¶ "Miss Jones with her rare power of word painting has given some typical pictures of studio life among successful artists of the Quartier Latin, bric-a-brac collectors and the art colonies of Paris, as well as some charming scenes in one of the celebrated artists' retreats of Brittany." Chicago Examiner.

¶ "Her characterization is always clear and the movement of her stories does not lag. The author of 'Gabriel Praed's Castle' has constructed a most readable novel." Baltimore News.

¶ "It is a pure story of the Maine woods and the Maine people. It is a story of the Maine character that we are glad to have put between the covers of a book — the characters of persons who are true men and women though brought up on farms and in the healthful woods of Maine and living in log houses. They become real people to you as you read. There is rough work in the forests and on the drive; there is a fight in which one becomes deeply interested; there is a bear hunt; there are night adventures; there is love; there are marriages. There is a movement, a succession of pictures from chapter to chapter, which holds the interest; it is the real test of a true author writing a true romance." Bangor Commercial.

TRANSLATED FROM THE NORWEGIAN OF ALEXANDER KIELLAND

by

REBECCA BLAIR FLANDRAU

12mo. Artistically Bound in Cloth. $1.25

AT ALL BOOKSTORES OR SENT POSTPAID ON RECEIPT OF PRICE

¶In this absorbing novel the celebrated Norwegian author has written of the moral disintegration and downfall of a "pillar of society" through love of money and power. A leader in the affairs of church and city, looked up to as the powerful friend of both rich and poor — respected by all, Carsten Lovdahl (the hero) brings gradual ruin to a whole community.

¶Although lighter in touch, and possessing a whimsical vein of humor that is not found in the work of Ibsen, Bjornson and Jonas Lie, Kielland displays in all his books and plays the same distinctly northern depth of purpose. Corruption, cant — insincerity of any kind — receive merciless treatment from his sharp and skilful pen; and the theme of Professor Lovdahl proves a fascinating invitation both to Kielland's well-known socialistic tendencies and his liberalism in ethics and religion.

¶Georg Brandes, the critic and Shakespearean scholar, says in his brilliant essay on Kielland: "For the first time in his pages, among both his forebears and his contemporaries, we meet with the point of view of a man of the world."

¶The Bookman: "Strong, liberal, modern — many of his books have evoked a loud spirit of protest in Norway where leaven of this sort is still striven against."

ONE VOLUME

By JONATHAN SWIFT

TWO PHOTOGRAVURES

To this, "The Greatest Piece of Satire ever Written," we have added in this edition many new notes, making it the most valuable as well as the most attractive in existence.

Comments by Literary Folk

Prof. GEORGE SAINTSBURY says, "The 'Tale of a Tub' is one of the very greatest books of the world, one of those in which a great drift of universal thought receives consummate literary form."

Dr. SAMUEL JOHNSON says of "A Tale of a Tub," "There is in it such vigor of mind, such a swarm of thoughts, so much of nature, and art, and life."

SIR WALTER SCOTT says, "This celebrated production ('A Tale of a Tub') is founded upon a simple and obvious allegory, conducted with all the humour of Rabelais, and without his extravagances."

WILLIAM THACKERAY calls him "The greatest wit of all times."

VOLTAIRE says, "There are in Dean Swift many bits of which there are no examples in the ancients. He is Rabelais perfected."

HANDY LIBRARIAN'S RECORD. A simple plan for keeping a record of books taken, with blank for every Sunday in the year 40

ORDERS ON THE TREASURER. This book is intended for secretaries or other officers who are required by the rules of any church, Sunday school, or society to present to the treasurer a written order for the payment of money. The order itself, having been filled, is presented to the treasurer, who, after paying, keeps it as his voucher for the correctness of his accounts. The stub, or voucher, is retained in the book by the secretary as his record of the transaction. The "Order on the Treasurer" should be carefully filled with name, name of society, etc., amount and purpose for which used, and the proper names should be signed below. The "voucher" should show the balance on hand after the preceding payment, all the items included in the order, and the balance remaining after payment. All amounts received should be properly added on the "voucher." A careful record will make the work of the secretary and treasurer much easier and much more accurate. Fifty to the book, post-paid 35

COURSES OF STUDY

OF

QUARTERLY AND ANNUAL CONFERENCE PREACHERS IN THE CHURCH OF THE UNITED BRETHREN IN CHRIST.

Adopted by the General Conference, 1901.

The prices of the books named herein are as low as is reasonably possible. It has seemed right to make a difference in the cost of most of the books, between those paid for with the order and those charged on account. This rule will be continued. If the entry is made upon the books, the charge price must be paid; if the cash accompanies the order, the cash price only will be expected. In all cases, if the books are to be sent by mail or by prepaid express, the postage must be added. Otherwise the books will be sent by express, carriage not prepaid.

Address,

United Brethren Publishing House,

DAYTON, OHIO.

NOTE: Postage must be added when books are to be sent by mail or prepaid by express.

EXPLANATION: The books for each year are divided into two classes. All must be read, but only those marked "To be examined upon" will be used in the formal examination.

II. RULES OF EXAMINATIONS.

1. EXAMINATIONS: The presiding elder, or a committee appointed by him, shall hold examinations each year in the books studied. Licentiates are permitted to complete the entire course in one year; but should any licentiate fail to complete the course within four years, his license shall not be subject to renewal. Licentiates are required to complete the quarterly-conference course of study before being admitted to the annual conference.

2. PERMANENT LICENSE: Any one completing the above course of study and passing satisfactory examinations in the same, shall receive a license certifying to that fact, and not requiring annual renewal so long as his doctrine is conformable to the doctrine of Christ, as held by our Church, and his deportment is in harmony with our law.

III. DISCIPLINARY RULES.

Licentiate preachers are to be examined in the preceding course of study by the annual conference to which they belong. These examinations shall be in writing, and graded on the scale of 100, an average of 70 being required.

These examinations are based on questions prepared each year by the Faculty of Union Biblical Seminary. These questions and suggestions are distributed by the Bishops at the annual conference, to the licentiates and the examining committee, at the beginning of each year's study.

The licentiates should have the privilege of being examined after the completion of one or more studies during the interim of annual conference, and the examinations on the studies shall be completed, if possible, before the sitting of the conference.

Price-List of Sunday-School Periodicals.

Consult this List Carefully before Ordering.

All Sunday-school workers are requested to examine our line of SUNDAY-SCHOOL PERIODICALS, which embrace a Magazine for Teachers, and Lesson Helps and Papers for scholars of various ages.

OUR BIBLE TEACHER. A monthly teachers' magazine, containing extensive and valuable comments upon the International Series of Lessons, and, in addition, exercises for the blackboard, lesson dictionary, map, opening exercises, Bible normal outlines, and miscellaneous editorial and other contributions. It is ably edited and is issued in handsome style, with good type and first-class paper. Single copy, per annum, 60 cents. Club Rates: Five copies or more, to one address, 50 cents per copy, per annum. Send for sample.

OUR BIBLE-LESSON QUARTERLY. For advanced scholars. Thirty-two pages. Issued on the first of January, April, July, and October of each year. This Quarterly contains the lessons for three months, in a neat cover, and, when space will allow, several pages of original music, prepared expressly for this Quarterly. To make all the lessons available to classes, subscriptions must be sent in before the beginning of the calendar quarters, January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1. Not less than five copies should be ordered at one time. Price, 12 cents per copy, per annum; at the same rate for three, six, or nine months. The prices are as follows:

Special.

OUR WEEKLY BIBLE-LESSON LEAVES. These are leaves intended for the use of transient scholars. They are issued at the same price as our Intermediate Quarterly, 2 cents per set, which gives you a lesson leaf for each Sunday in the quarter. The advantage in this is that, instead of giving out a complete Quarterly to a transient scholar, you give only the leaf used in the lesson of that Sabbath which he is in attendance. Thus a scholar on the first Sabbath of a quarter will be supplied with a copy of the lesson as well as one at the last Sabbath of a quarter. They will be sold in multiples of five only. Thus: 5 copies, 10 copies, 15 copies, 20 copies, etc. Five copies will cost you 10 cents; 10 copies, 20 cents, etc. These 5 or 10 will supply any 5 or 10 transient scholars any Sunday in the quarter. No school should fail to embrace in their order 10 or 20 copies of these Weekly Bible Lesson Leaves in their regular order for emergency scholars. These leaves can be ordered at any time during the quarter, the same as our regular Quarterlies. Remember, we can sell only in multiples of five. Do not order 3, 7, 13, etc., but 5, 10, 15, 20, etc. Orders only can be filled in the way named.

Primary Helps.

OUR BIBLE LESSON PICTURES ON THE INTERNATIONAL LESSONS. For the home and primary classes of the Sunday school. A Quarterly Leaf Cluster of large colored pictures, illustrating each Sunday-school lesson. Each cluster contains twelve sheets, 26x36 inches in size, the whole mounted on a rod and suspended by a cord, and suitable for hanging in the home or schoolroom. Each sheet contains the title and golden text of one Sunday-school lesson, with a large colored picture illustrating the incident or truth of that lesson. With each set is supplied The Superintendent, a valuable quarterly exposition of the lessons. Sent, postpaid, per quarter, 75 cents.

LITTLE PICTURES FOR OUR BIBLE LESSONS. Lithograph picture cards 2¾x4. Uniform with Our Bible Lesson Pictures. Under the pictures are printed the title of the lesson and the golden text, and on the reverse side questions and answers on the lessons. These pictures are printed in beautiful colors, attractive to the eye, and illustrating the central thought of the lesson. They are suitable for general distribution in the Sunday school, and especially adapted to primary and intermediate classes. The cards may be given out one Sunday in advance, so that the scholars may study the lesson at home. Set of thirteen cards (one for each Sunday in the quarter), 2½ cents. Set of fifty-two cards, per year, 10 cents.

REMEMBER the price of OUR INTERMEDIATE QUARTERLY is Two cents each, per quarter, or Eight cents per year.

SPECIAL NOTICE. Our Picture Charts are $3.00 per year, 75 cents per quarter. Little Picture Cards, 10 cents per year, 2½ cents per quarter. Patrons will remit according to these prices. If you are not using the Wall Charts, try them. They are the best helps in the market to illustrate the lessons.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE

UNIVERSITY PRESS

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, wishes to announce that it has become sole owner of the copyrights of all the shorthand works written by Mr. Selby A. Moran, teacher of Shorthand in the Ann Arbor, Michigan, High School, also Principal of the Stenographic Institute, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

A WORD INTRODUCING THE AUTHOR.

Mr. Moran has for the past eighteen years been one of the most progressive and successful teachers of Shorthand in America. He began work as a reporter and teacher of Shorthand in Ann Arbor in 1884. For years thereafter he did a large amount of reporting work, of a very technical and difficult nature, for various professors in the University of Michigan. He also began teaching classes in Shorthand at the same time. Since then, in addition to teaching thousands of students from the ordinary walks of life, he has, each year, taught large classes of students from among the thousands of the more than usually intelligent young people at the University of Michigan. In teaching this great variety of students, he soon found that there was something radically wrong with the ordinary Shorthand text-books. It soon became evident that the chief difficulty was that, in their preparation, no thought had been given to the needs of either teacher or pupil. He at once began to thoroughly prepare himself to supply this deficiency. Therefore, while in the University of Michigan, he took, in addition to his other studies, every course in the science and art of teaching given in that institution by the best school-men in the world. He did not stop when the University conferred a degree upon him. For years thereafter he continued to still more thoroughly equip himself for the preparation of a model text-book on the Pitman system of shorthand. His one aim was to be able to write a book that would embody, in its methods of presenting the subject, the very best and latest principles of teaching. His years of special study of the needs of both teacher and pupil, his nearly twenty years of teaching all classes of students from the farm, shop, ward school, high school and university, ever keeping in mind the especial needs of all these classes of pupils, have eminently fitted Mr. Moran for the task he so many years ago set out to accomplish. Thus prepared, he published a preliminary edition of his proposed text and for three years thoroughly tested it from every standpoint in his own classes. He then carefully revised it, making whatever changes and additions the most rigid tests with all classes of students seemed to demand. As a result of these eighteen years of preparation he finally submitted his manuscript to the publishers.

We believe, and our belief is fully confirmed by all those who are now making an actual test of the book in school work, that it is the best shorthand text-book in print, judged from the standpoint of the scientific presentation of the Pitman system, the best and most commonly used system of shorthand in the United States.

Mr. Moran also has in preparation a comprehensive treatise on "How to Teach Shorthand." For several years Mr. Moran has devoted much time to the training of teachers of shorthand. Those he has trained have become eminently successful as teachers of the art. His work of training teachers, in addition to his experience as a reporter, his long and valuable experience in teaching the widest possible range of students, and his profound study of methods of teaching, will, we are confident, result in the production of a book on the teaching of shorthand that will be the best of its kind.

SHORTHAND—A TEXT-BOOK ON THE AMERICAN PITMAN SYSTEM.

SELBY A. MORAN. $1.50

Some of the Strong Points of the Book are:

1. CLEARNESS OF EXPLANATION.

Clearness is indispensable in every good text-book.

The language used in the explanation of each principle in this text was given the most careful study. It was the desire of the author to make every explanation so clear that only one interpretation would be possible.

2. EACH LESSON A COMPLETE UNIT.

Each lesson consists of a natural subdivision of the principles of the system and is complete in itself. In each lesson the student is given a very few principles. These are first clearly explained and illustrated. Following is given a list of words always written by these principles. Then in each lesson is given a small list of wordsigns, followed by a number of phrases and sentences. The latter are usually in the form of letters. Each lesson closes with an exercise in shorthand for the student to translate. In all the exercises the student is never given a word to write until he knows how to write it in the only proper way. Hence the more practice he gives the lessons the better, since he never has an outline to unlearn. This is a great advantage over those text-books which teach several styles.

3. REVIEWS.

The author believes that few, if any, of the text-books heretofore published, provide sufficient review work. He has, therefore, in the preparation of his text, spent much time and labor in preparing exercises for each lesson, after the first, which include in an easy, natural manner, a thorough review of the principles of all the preceding lessons. In addition to this, every fifth lesson in the book is a special review lesson, covering, in a most comprehensive manner, the preceding four lessons.

4. THE TEACHING OF WORDSIGNS.

Mr. Moran's ideas as to the proper way for the student to acquire a thorough working knowledge of this important part of shorthand are excellent.

In each lesson, after the first few elementary ones, there are introduced a few contractions. Those given in each lesson are, with few exceptions, the ones based upon the principles introduced in that lesson. Thus the Wordsigns come in logically and naturally, a few at a time, and are easily memorized. In each exercise, also, the wordsigns are frequently made use of. The student studying this text-book always finds it an easy task to master the contractions.

5. USE OF BOLD FACE TYPE.

Throughout the book wherever the name of a principle, or a special word illustrating a principle, occurs, it is printed in bold face type. This impresses it more firmly upon the student's mind. In this way a considerable benefit is obtained unconsciously.

6. THERE IS NO KEY TO THE SHORTHAND EXERCISES.

The author believes it is a mistake to publish and sell keys to the shorthand exercises in a text-book. The opportunity to buy and use a key instead of studying out the exercises, is a temptation which many students cannot resist. If he knows his principles and wordsigns, the student should be able to translate correctly the shorthand exercise in each lesson. He should not be tempted to depend upon a key. He should, rather, learn to depend upon himself. Reading these exercises without a key is one good way to teach him to do so. When the student comes to actual work, he will be obliged to get along without a key. It is well for him to get into the habit of doing so while he is a student.

7. SHORTHAND CHARACTERS IN THE BOOK ARE REPRINTS OF ACTUAL WORK.

It is a well-known fact that a very large number of those who begin the study of shorthand give it up before studying the subject very long. A large majority of those who begin and then give up do so because of their inability to make the shorthand characters anywhere near like the mechanically exact or beautifully drawn illustrations in the text. The old adage, "Aim at the sun and you will shoot higher than if you aim at something lower," does not apply in this case. Better to aim at something you can hit, at least in time, and then keep on shooting at it until you do hit it. Better to have your shorthand illustrations as nearly as possible like actual work. Then the student will feel that he can reach that standard and will not become discouraged and give up because he cannot form his characters at all like the beautifully engraved ones found in nearly every text-book. The examples of shorthand work in our book are fac-similes of ordinary shorthand, such as one sees in actual reporting and to which the average student can and will attain without danger of getting discouraged and giving up the study.

8. PAPER USED.

It is a fact that a very large per cent. of the American people have defective eyesight. This weakness is often caused and always aggravated by the paper in the books, especially the text-books, used by most young people. The glaring reflection from highly calendared paper is very injurious. In selecting the paper to be used in this book some twenty different grades, running all the way from a dull machine finish stock to a beautifully finished enameled paper, were submitted to one of the best oculists in the United States. His judgment was asked as to which would be the least injurious to the pupils' eyes. His decision was followed in the selection of the paper for this book. It is a paper with a dull finish Unforunately it has the appearance of not being the very best stock. But this should count for nothing when the importance of one's eyesight is considered.

9. THE MAKING UP OF A LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS.

One important thing for the student of shorthand is that he be given practice of such a nature that it will compel his undivided attention to what he is doing. This is especially helpful in mastering the wordsigns. As an aid in this direction, the book contains, at the close, a list of the word and phrase abbreviations in ordinary type and in alphabetical order. Following each of these is a blank line on which to write the abbreviated outline. This list is to be made up by the student as fast as he learns the abbreviations, a few at a time, day by day. It has been found that the actual making up of such a list by the student is very helpful to him in fixing them permanently in mind as well as compelling the student to concentrate his mind while making up this list.

10. GIVEN TIME IN WHICH TO WRITE AND READ EACH EXERCISE.

In order to furnish an incentive to the student to keep at his practice until a desired standard is reached, each exercise in the book has the words numbered and the time specified within which the student should both write and read the exercise. He is given to understand that, if he will keep at each exercise until the required speed is attained, he is making satisfactory progress. It is a great inspiration to the student to know that he can come up to the required standard. There is nothing else that will do as much to keep up the student's enthusiasm and induce him to continue his study to a successful issue.

11. NO PETTY INNOVATIONS INTRODUCED.

There are many other text-books on the Pitman System. One great objection to all of them is that each author of a text has taken it upon himself to introduce a number of little innovations either in the application of the principles or in the abbreviations. Usually these are of doubtful value and always cause confusion. Some of these may indeed have some slight value, but in scarcely a single instance are they of enough importance to warrant the introduction of a disturbing element in this, the best system of shorthand in the world. The author has studiously avoided everything of this sort. His aim has been to prepare a text on the American-Pitman System pure and simple. His whole effort has been to give, from the teacher's standpoint, a more systematic and scientific presentation of that excellent system. He believes that from the beginning the principal efforts in developing the Pitman System have been exerted almost entirely in devising excellent methods of abbreviation, and that, apparently, little attention has been given to the best methods of presenting the subject to students. It is to remedy this evil that we find ample apology for placing this book before the public.

12. AMOUNT AND CHARACTER OF THE EXERCISES FOR PRACTICE.

This work is not lumbered with a single superfluous word. Instead, nearly one-half of the book is devoted to carefully selected exercises for the student's practice. The character of these exercises is based upon the idea that the student's practice should approach as nearly as possible to the actual work he is to do when he becomes an amanuensis. The exercises therefore consist mainly of carefully selected business letters covering a wide range of subjects and also making use, over and over again, of every principle and wordsign in the system.

13. PHRASING.

In addition to giving in clear and concise language the general rules which should always be observed in phrasing, the author, in order to give the student ample drill in this troublesome feature of shorthand, has introduced in each lesson a list of commonly occurring phrases to be written over and over again by the student. He has also in every exercise throughout the book indicated by hyphens the words which are commonly joined in actual work. This gives the student sufficient practice to enable him to form the habit of applying the principle of phrasing readily and correctly.

14. THE AID WHICH THE INFLUENCE OF SUCH A BOOK RENDERS THE TEACHER.

It is a letter of commendation to any teacher to be able to say without fear of successful contradiction that he is using a text-book that is unquestionably the best published. We know it can be successfully maintained that this book is far in advance of any other text-book on shorthand now before the American people. The enterprising teacher will take advantage of this fact and adopt this book.

A FEW LETTERS OF COMMENDATION.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.
Newport, Kentucky, High School.
H. F. Pratt, Prin.

Newport, Ky., Sept. 30, 1902.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS,
Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

I am pleased to say a few words in commendation of Prof. Selby A. Moran's text-book on Shorthand. I regard it as the most teachable book on the subject published. And I say this understandingly, after having had a normal training and experience as a teacher, and after having made a careful comparison of this with other books. It comes the nearest to self-instruction of any book I know of. There is about as much difference between it and the old style books as there is between the modern beginning language books and the old-fashioned Latin Grammars, and this is a comparison which will appeal strongly to all teachers of language.

It should appeal specially to High School teachers, owing to the fact that Prof. Moran has had a long and valuable experience in teaching the subject to High School pupils. I unhesitatingly commend the book and expect to use it in my classes.

Respectfully,
HENRY F. PRATT

BLOOMINGTON HIGH SCHOOL.
E. L. Boyer, Principal.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.

THE UNIVERSITY PRESS,
Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

In response to your request of a few days ago, I desire to state that I considered the matter very carefully before deciding upon a text to recommend for the classes in Shorthand in the Bloomington High School. My final decision was unqualifiedly in favor of the work by Mr. Selby A. Moran, which you publish.

The following are a few of the reasons why I decided in favor of this book:

1. Its excellent arrangement. I believe the book is in this respect far in advance of any other shorthand text-book.

2. Its exceptionally clear and systematic explanation of the principles.

3. The exercises in each lesson are ample and well selected. Practice on the exercises in the book is sufficient to thoroughly fix the principles in mind. The teacher using this text does not have to waste time selecting additional exercises for any of the lessons.

4. The book does not in a single instance introduce a word in any of the exercises until the student knows how to write it in the only proper way. The student of this text never has a thing to unlearn.

5. With this book, I find the work of teaching nearly eighty, in my classes here, comparatively easy, while the students find it entirely satisfactory and are making rapid progress.

6. The book, throughout, bears the impress of a thoroughly trained and experienced teacher, who in the preparation of the text has so fixed his personality upon the work that the student cannot help but feel it and be inspired by it.

I wish you success in securing the introduction of this most excellent book in the shorthand schools of this country. Every enterprising teacher of any of the Pitmanic systems should certainly examine this work.

Respectfully,
MYRTA A. VOGEL,
Teacher of Shorthand.

ONE HUNDRED VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS TO SHORTHAND STUDENTS.

SELBY A. MORAN. $1.00

This is a book that should be in the hands of every student of shorthand, young reporter and teacher of the art.

It was prepared with the view to affording students, teachers and young reporters of all systems of Shorthand, such special assistance as it has been found necessary for them to have in order that they may attain the highest possible success in their work. These suggestions embrace many important facts which every student of Shorthand should understand; yet facts which rarely appear in a text-book. Every Stenographer is also aware that between the mere learning of the art from some text-book and actual reporting there is a wide gap across which the young reporter must pass, generally with an unsatisfactory experience.

To render to the student the help which he cannot usually obtain from any text-book and to bridge over the chasm between the learning of the theory and its successful use in practice, have been the chief objects kept in view in preparing this work.

The suggestions treat fully all points coming under the following heads:

1st. Suggestions for students before beginning the study.

2nd. Suggestions for students while pursuing the study.

3rd. Suggestions concerning the necessity of learning to read Shorthand.

4th. Suggestions relative to increasing speed.

5th. Suggestions for the Amanuensis.

6th. Suggestions for the Court, Newspaper, Convention and Speech reporter.

7th. General suggestions for all reporters.

We ask your careful attention to the following testimonials from some of the leading Shorthand writers and teachers in the country representing all the leading systems now in use. Any one of these suggestions, if heeded, would be worth far more to the student or young reporter than the cost of the book.

"It is true to its title and there is no Shorthand writer, however expert he may be, but can profit by the advice so concisely stated in this work."—Daily Argus, Fargo, North Dakota.

"It is well gotten up, and a useful book for the student of the art. It should go into the hands of every would-be stenographer."—Brown's Phonographic Monthly, New York City, N. Y.

"We would advise stenographers generally to send for the work. We are so much pleased with the book ourselves, that if we had the time we would be tempted to commit the whole volume to memory."—The Centre Table, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Accept hearty thanks for your 'Suggestions.' The work forms a valued addition to my Shorthand collection of over nine hundred volumes and certainly contains much excellent advice to Shorthand students. It will be useful to all learners of Shorthand and will undoubtedly be appreciated as it deserves."—Julius E. Rockwell, Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C.

"This is a book which will prove of great value to young phonographers, and even old reporters might gain some new wrinkles by a perusal of it. The neophyte in shorthand is very apt to make errors in practice which will, if continued, greatly hinder his advancement, but Mr. Moran's work is a first rate guide to avoid such difficulties, as well as to give advice which will render success easier of achievement."—Baltimore Sunday News, Baltimore, Md.

"This is a book of value, worthy of the author and reader. It contains suggestions for those who think of studying the art, as well as those who are passing on into the 'deep things' of Shorthand. It covers a broad field; is chatty and full of hints; does not weary by prosiness; should prove helpful to all. The 'One Hundred' hits the mark well * * * * * There is sturdy, robust common sense in many of the suggestions given, and all carping criticism is banished. * * * * We heartily commend this work to all our readers and students."—Prof. W. D. Bridge, A. M., Prin. Phonographic Department, Chautauqua University.

"It is a book that will be of solid service to a vast number of aspiring students of Shorthand."—Penmans' Art Journal, New York City, N. Y.

"Your book is at hand and it is certainly all that was promised. It just fits a place that has been empty a long time and fills the want perfectly. Teachers will want it as well as students."—Prof. J. A. Whitcomb, Departmental Institute, Washington, D. C.

"The work shows the hand of a thoughtful writer, a careful student, and an able teacher. We can heartily commend it to all students of Shorthand as a most valuable aid to an easier success than generally falls to the lot of the delver in the mysteries of the text-book and the worker for speed."—Phonographic World, New York City, N. Y.

"After looking the book carefully through we are inclined to print in capitals the words VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS. Every Eclectic will find so much in it of value that he may well use it for a dictation book, and write it many times through to fix in his mind its VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS."—Prof. J. G. Cross, A. M., in Exponent, Chicago, Ill.

"I am greatly pleased with your 'Suggestions to Shorthand Students' and think that it would be to the interest of all students to have a copy on hand. I take an interest in the work on account of its merits and will recommend all of our students to supply themselves with a copy of it."—Prof. H. M. Pernin, Author of the Pernin System of Shorthand, Detroit, Mich.

"I have read your work through with great interest. It is an excellent book of 'Suggestions' for the student as well as for more advanced writers. I wish it the widest possible circulation." Prof. D. M. G. Jones, 58 Field Road, London, Eng.

"It is evidently the work of a skilled and practical man intent upon rendering his readers a real service. The scope of the book is wider than its title, and there are few phonographers who cannot find something of interest and value in its pages. We cordially recommend the book, and are glad to learn that it is having a wide circulation."—Prof. F. G. Morris, A. M., in The Mentor, Easthampton, Mass.

TOUCH TYPEWRITING.

SELBY A. MORAN. $0.50

This is an excellent work. It covers all that is needed to enable the learner to do rapid and accurate work. It has been adopted in a number of large schools and gives excellent satisfaction.

THE SPEED INDICATOR

SELBY A. MORAN. $1.00

WHY NEEDED. While acquiring speed, every ambitious student of Shorthand is anxious to know, from time to time, what progress he is making. The teacher, likewise, is anxious to know what gain, if any, each of his students is making in speed practice.

The Speed Indicator aids both teacher and pupil to ascertain this easily and quickly. Teachers usually use, for dictation purposes, matter which has the words in each paragraph, article, or letter, numbered. With the words numbered, and the time noted, it still requires two mathematical computations to ascertain the exact rate per minute at which any article is written. The Speed Indicator obviates the necessity of these computations.

Teachers who have used this chart find it a great convenience and, after a trial, will not get along without it.

HOW TO EARN A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

SELBY A. MORAN. $1.00

This is a new work. It is designed to suggest to ambitious young men and women, without means, how it is possible for such young people to work their way through the best colleges in the country. It gives over one hundred ways by which young men and women have worked their way through school. It also contains letters from nearly fifty of the leading college presidents in this country, commending those who have the pluck and determination to earn an education. Every young man who does not have the means and who wants to go to college should send for a copy of this book.

Electric Railways

Theoretically and Practically Treated

BY

SYDNEY W. ASHE

Dept. of Electrical Engineering, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.
Late Instructor Electric Traction, Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

AND

J. D. KEILEY.

Assistant Electrical Engineer, N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R.

The absence of a modern treatise on electric railways, embodying all the recent developments in electric traction has encouraged the authors in the preparation of this book. Their aim has been to treat the subject exhaustively from the theoretical and practical side. Realizing the immensity of the traction field and the urgency of the demand for information on this subject, the authors have restricted their efforts in the present volume to the treatment of rolling stock, and have added thereto a chapter, treating mathematically the speed time and power curves. It is their intention, should the reception of this volume be encouraging, to follow it by succeeding volumes covering the entire field. Much information has been culled from the publications of engineering societies and other sources in an effort to include in the work the most modern of railway data. This volume treats of both direct and alternating current apparatus, is profusely illustrated, and is restricted entirely to American Railway Practice.

CONTENTS.

UNITS AND MEASURING INSTRUMENTS.—Mechanical, Electrical. Slide Rule, Planimeter. Curve Plotting.

TRAIN PERFORMANCE.—Speed Time Curves. Power Curves. Equipment Calculations. Indicating and Recording Instruments.

CAR CONSTRUCTION.—Trolley and R.R. Tractive Force, Resistance, etc. Journals, Axles, Gears, Friction. Car Trucks, Strength, Durability, Lubrication and Testing. Control of Air, Air Pumps, Governors, etc. Brakes, Brake Apparatus, Brake Shoes. Platforms, Gates, Heating.

CAR AND TRAIN CONTROL.—Hand Control, Trolley. Multiple Unit Control. Sprague System. Westinghouse Pneumatic. Sprague General Electric. Westinghouse. Turret or Unit, Switch Control. General Electric Bridge System.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT.—Series Direct Current Motor. A. C. Single Phase Motor. Signal Systems.

ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVES.—Mining Service. Industrial Service. Trunk Line Service.

TESTING.—Testing of Equipment. Testing of Electrical Meas. Instruments.

GAS ENGINE DESIGN

BY

CHARLES EDWARD LUCKE, Ph. D.

Mechanical Engineering Department, Columbia University, New York City.

It has long been acknowledged that economy in power generation is highest with gas engines. Recent advances in gas making systems from coal and liquid fuel have given an impetus to their use but a completely extended application to the fields needing the greatest refinements, of regulation for electric drives, and of balance and light weight for automobile propulsion require a closer study of design proper than heretofore. Many books have appeared, treating of the inventive side of design, presenting types in great variety, while but little has been done toward collecting for designers the known facts necessary to proper construction, in a condensed form. The necessity for such data and the existence of results of many tests make possible the presentation of such a treatment in this volume.

Contents.

Chapter 1.—Power, Efficiency, Economy. From the initial contract specifications for power, economy, and adaptability to service, this chapter shows how proper displacements for the power can be calculated, and probable economy predicted.

Chapter 2.—Forces in the Engine due to Gas Pressure. Variations of pressure throughout the stroke, with their causes are discussed, and means given for drawing probable indicator cards of new engines.

Chapter 3.—Forces due to Mass and Motion and their combination with Gas Pressure Forces. The forces due to revolving and reciprocating masses are calculated and their effect in shaking, rocking and vibrating of frame determined. The eliminating of these unbalanced kinetic forces by balancing methods is followed by the effects of the same forces on turning effort. Changes of turning effort for difference in fuels, ignition, mixture, load, speed and weight of parts are also here calculated.

Chapter 4.—Stresses in and Dimensions of Parts. Application of the previous chapters to determining stresses, with theoretic considerations of the properties of materials give the form of the formula for the dimensions of the parts. The constants of these formulas are determined by practice giving practical formulas for the dimensions of all standard parts. These formulas as finally presented are in such form as to be of immediate application by the designer.

PREFACE.

The laws and experiments given by the French physicist, Péclet, in his famous "Traité de la Chaleur" have been the basis of all treatises on artificial heating that have since been written.

They are equally applicable to the art of refrigeration, and it is the purpose of this book to present them in convenient form with the additional data required for modern practice.

CHEEVER.—Select Methods in Inorganic Quantitative Analysis. By Byron W. Cheever, A.M., M.D., late Acting Professor of Metallurgy in the University of Michigan. Revised and enlarged by Frank Clemes Smith, Professor of Geology, Mining and Metallurgy in the State School of Mines, Rapid City, S. D. Parts I. and II. New Fourth Edition. 12mo. $2.00.

The first part of this book, as indicated by the title, consists of Laboratory Notes for a Beginner's Course in Quantitative Analysis. It considers the subjects of Gravimetric and Volumetric Analysis, for beginners, by means of the chemical analysis of a set of substances, properly numbered, in each case giving the methods to be followed in such analysis; also the methods for calculating and preparing volumetric standard solutions, generally following the course offered by Professor Cheever to his students. It also considers the methods for the determination of the specific gravities of various liquids and solids.

Although a number of the analyses contained in Part I. may be of only approximate accuracy, and of small commercial value, such are yet included with a special purpose, to wit:—that they may supply the student with a wider range of work and a greater diversity of chemical manipulation. This was Professor Cheever's idea, and it is certainly a good one, especially since, in most cases, the work of the beginner simply serves to emphasize the necessity of careful scrutiny of details and methods for practical work in the future.

Part I. is offered, then, for the use of schools and colleges, and it is intended to supply a source of elementary information upon the subject of Quantitative Chemical Analysis rarely offered in such form in works upon that subject.—Preface.

The author was for many years Professor of Metallurgy in the University of Michigan, and the methods here presented are those mostly offered by him to his students. As a beginner's book in quantitative analysis, it will be found eminently practical, and it can be honestly recommended to the student who desires a source of elementary information upon this branch of applied science. The book is divided into two parts, the first consisting of laboratory notes for beginners. The subjects of gravimetric and volumetric analysis are considered by means of the chemical analysis of a set of substances, properly numbered, in each case giving the methods to be followed in such analysis, and also the methods of calculating and preparing volumetric standard solutions, etc. Methods for the determination of specific gravities of various liquids and solids are also considered.

Part II. contains a number of select methods in inorganic quantitative analysis, such as the analysis of limestone, iron ores, manganese ores, steel, the analysis of coal, water, mineral phosphates, smelting ores, lead slags, copper, arsenic, bismuth, etc. A chapter on reagents concludes the work.—Pharmaceutical Era.

CLASSEN-HARRIMAN.—Quantitative Analysis. By Alexender Classen, Director of the Laboratory of Inorganic Chemistry and Electro Chemistry in the Royal Technical School, Aachen. Authorized Translation from the Fifth German Edition, with an Appendix on the Qualitative Analysis of Minerals, Ores, Slags, Metals, Alloys, Etc., Including the Rare Elements, by Norman F. Harriman, Assistant in Chemistry in the University of Michigan. 79 Illustrations. Handsomely bound in half leather, $4.00.

What the London Chemical News says: "One of the features of Classen's book that makes it well adapted to the needs of those beginning the study of quantitative analysis, is the practical arrangement of the subjects treated: after a chapter on general operations, the author takes up first crystallizable salts, then alloys and minerals, and eventually advances to ores, slags, waters, etc., of increasing difficulty. The instructions in each example are very clear, being the result of long experience as a teacher and as an expert analyst. The section on pig-iron, steel, spiegeleisen, ferromanganese, etc., seems to be quite full, occupying forty pages; an equal number of pages is occupied with potable waters and mineral waters, while the section on organic analysis is rather brief, as might be expected in a work of this description.

Volumetric analysis is treated separately (pp. 407-459), but the methods in this section are often referred to in the body of the work. Qualitative methods, with special reference to minerals, ores, slags, metals, and alloys, are described in a voluminous appendix. The volume closes with several useful tables and a full index.

The translator has done his share of the work with linguistic skill born of familiarity with German and an appreciation of the requirements of good English. He has strengthened the volume by introducing some processes that had been overlooked by the German author, notably the method for the proximate analysis of coal recommended by the Committee of the American Chemical Society, Handy's rapid volumetric method for phosphorus in pig-iron (titration of the phosphomolybdate precipitate), and some of the methods of that eminent expert on rock analysis, Dr. W. F. Hillebrand, of the U. S. Geological Survey, whose "Bulletin" is frequently cited."

D'OOGE.—Helps to the Study of Classical Mythology; for the Lower Grades and Secondary Schools. By B. L. D'Ooge, Professor in the Michigan State Normal College. 12 mo. 180 pages. Cloth, 45 cents.

A bibliography based on practical experience. The author is a professor in the Michigan State Normal College. As the myths of all nations manifest themselves first in religion, secondly in art, and third in literature, these reading references are grouped in the above classes. One section is devoted to the study of mythology in the grades, and an introductory chapter gives hints for teaching the subject in the lower grades. The books suggested in the body of the work are given in one alphabet at the end, with publishers and prices; there are also blank pages for additional references, and a good general index.—Publishers Weekly.

DOW.—Outlines and References in European History. For the use especially of Students in History 1 and 2, University of Michigan. From the Fourth to the Thirteenth Century. By Earle Wilbur Dow, University of Michigan. 83 pages. Pamphlet. Each 60 cents.

DWYER.—Cases on Private International Law. By John W. Dwyer, University of Michigan. 8vo. 509 pages. Buckram, $2.50.

This is a very excellent collection of cases on private international law made by Mr. Dwyer, covering a variety of subjects, and is intended especially for the use of students, though certain to prove interesting and valuable to all practitioners.—Albany Law Journal.

DWYER.—Law and Procedure of United States Courts. By John W. Dwyer, LL. M., author of "Cases on Private International Law." Instructor in the Law Department of the University of Michigan. 8vo. 361 pages. Bound in Buckram, $2.75. Sheep, $3.50.

The purpose of this work is to give a brief and concise statement of the organization, jurisdiction and practice of the various courts of our national government. It is intended as an elementary work for students in law schools, students in law offices and for young lawyers who have not received systematic instruction in this subject. In stating the jurisdiction of the courts, the author has inserted a number of the decisions of the Supreme Court. This valuable feature of the book cannot fail to commend itself to students and instructors alike. Similarly, the object of the chapter on the history of the United States is to remind the student of the circumstances as they existed at the time our government was formed—to recall the principal events in our historical development, so that the constitutional provisions may be interpreted in their true light. The author asserts, truly, that a knowledge of this branch of the law is more necessary at this time than ever before, because of the steady increase of litigation, arising from the rapid growth and reaching out of the business of the country and the bringing of certain questions within federal control. The book is exceedingly well arranged, containing besides tables of cases and tables of contents, a copious index. It cannot fail to prove highly useful for the purposes intended. We can heartily commend it to instructors and students.—Albany Law Journal.

DZIOBEK.—Mathematical Theories of Planetary Motions. By Dr. Otto Dziobek, Privatdocent in the Royal Technical High School of Berlin, Charlottenburg. Translated by Mark W. Harrington, formerly Chief of the United States Weather Bureau, and Professor of Astronomy and Director of the Observatory at the University of Michigan, President of the University of Washington, and Wm. J. Hussey, Assistant Professor of Astronomy in the Leland Stanford, Jr. University. 8vo. 294 pages. $3.50.

The determination of the motions of the heavenly bodies is an important problem in and for itself, and also on account of the influence it has exerted on the development of mathematics. It has engaged the attention of the greatest mathematicians, and, in the course of their not altogether successful attempts to solve it, they have displayed unsurpassed ingenuity. The methods devised by them have proved useful, not only in this problem, but have also largely determined the course of advance in other branches of mathematics. Analytical mechanics, beginning with Newton, and receiving a finished clearness from Lagrange, is especially indebted to this problem, and in turn, analytical mechanics has been so suggestive in method as to determine largely both the direction and rapidity of the advancement of mathematical science.

Hence, when it is desired to illustrate the abstract theories of analytical mechanics, the profundity of the mathematics of the problem of the motions of the heavenly bodies, its powerful influence on the historical development of this science and finally the dignity of its object, all point to it as most suitable for this purpose.

This work is intended not merely as an introduction to the special study of astronomy, but rather for the student of mathematics who desires an insight into the creations of his masters in this field. The lack of a text-book, giving, within moderate limits and in a strictly scientific manner, the principles of mathematical astronomy in their present remarkably simple and lucid form, is undoubtedly the reason why so many mathematicians extend their knowledge of the solar system but little beyond Kepler's law. The author has endeavored to meet this need, and at the same time to produce a book which shall be so near the present state of the science as to include recent investigations and to indicate unsettled questions.

EDMUNDS-CUSHNY.—A Laboratory Guide in Experimental Pharmacology. By Charles W. Edmunds, A. B., M. D., Instructor in Pharmacology in the University of Michigan, and Arthur R. Cushny, A. M., M. D., Professor of Pharmacology in University College, London; and late Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics in the University of Michigan. Octavo. 240 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

FARRAH-DWYER.—Cases on the Law of Husband and Wife. By Albert J. Farrah, Dean of the Law Department of the John B. Stetson University, Deland, Florida, and John W. Dwyer, author of Cases on Private International Law, and Instructor of Law in the Department of Law of the University of Michigan. 8vo. 488 pages. Buckram, $2.50.

GRAY.—Outline of Anatomy. A Guide to the Dissection of the Human Body, Based on Gray's Anatomy. By S. M. Yutzy, M. D., Instructor in Osteology and Demonstrator of Anatomy in the University of Michigan. 54 pages. Leatherette, 50 cents.

The objects of the outline are to inform the students what structures are found in each region and where the description of each structure is found in Gray's Anatomy.—Fifteenth edition, dated 1901.

GREENE.—The Action of Materials Under Stress, or Structural Mechanics. With examples and problems. By Charles E. Greene, A.M., M.E., Professor of Civil Engineering in the University of Michigan. Consulting Engineer: Octavo. Cloth, $3.00.

GUTHE.—Laboratory Exercises with Primary and Storage Cells. By Karl E. Guthe, Assistant Professor of Physics, University of Michigan. 58 pages. 17 illustrations. Cloth, 45 cents.

HERDMAN-NAGLER.—A Laboratory Manual of Electrotherapeutics. By William James Herdman, Ph.B., M.D., Professor of Diseases of the Nervous System and Electrotherapeutics, University of Michigan, and Frank W. Nagler, B.S., Instructor in Electrotherapeutics, University of Michigan. Octavo. 163 pages. 55 illustrations. Cloth, $1.50.

It has been our experience that the knowledge required by the student of medicine concerning electricity and its relation to animal economy is best acquired by the laboratory method. By that method of instruction each principle is impressed upon the mind through several separate paths of the sense perception and a manual dexterity is acquired which is essential to success in the therapeutic applications.

This has been the plan adopted for teaching electrotherapeutics at the University of Michigan. Every form of electric modality that has any distinctive physiological or therapeutical effect is studied in the laboratory as to its methods of generation, control and application to the patient. We believe this to be the only practicable way for imparting the kind of instruction required for the practice of electrotherapeutics, but in our attempt to develop a naturally progressive and at the same time complete and consistent course of laboratory instruction we have found it a thing of slow growth.

This laboratory manual is the final result of our various trials and experiences, and while we do not claim for it either perfection in the arrangement of matter or completeness in detail, we feel that the time has come for putting our plans in a form that will permit for it a wider usefulness as well as gain for it in the intelligent criticism of the experienced workers to the field which it seeks to cultivate.—From Preface.

HILDNER.—Citaten Quartett zu Storm's Immensee. By Jonathan Hildner, University of Michigan. German Conversational Cards. Boxed, 50 cents.

HILDNER-DIEKHOFF.—Leitfragen zu Storms Immensee. By Jonathan Hildner und Tobias Diekhoff, University of Michigan. Pamphlet. 16 pages. 15 cents.

HILDNER-DIEKHOFF.—Freytag die Journalisten. With notes and questions. By Jonathan Hildner and Tobias Diekhoff, University of Michigan. 174 pages. Cloth, 60 cents.

HUBER.—Directions for Work in the Histological Laboratory. By G. Carl Huber, M.D., Assistant Professor of Histology and Embryology, University of Michigan. Third edition, revised and enlarged. Octavo. 204 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

It is adapted for classes in medical schools and elsewhere where it is desired to furnish the class with material already prepared for the demonstration of structure rather than to give instruction in the technique of the laboratory. Provision for the latter is made, however, by the addition of a section of about 50 pages on the methods for laboratory work. This section includes methods of macerating, hardening and fixing, decalcifying, impregnation, injecting, embedding, staining, and methods for preparing and staining blood preparations. The last is accompanied by an excellent plate of blood elements. The selection of methods has in the main been judicious. The expositions are both clear and concise.—Journal of Comparative Neurology.

In this little book Dr. Huber has given us a model manual of microscopical technique in the laboratory study of histology. The subject matter is divided into convenient chapters, commencing with the cell and cell division (karyokinesis) in plant and animal life, and gradually developing, by easy stages, the most complex tissues of the animal and vegetable organism. Between each lesson blank pages are interleaved, to be used by the student for drawing the objects seen by him with a pencil or crayon—a most excellent plan as nothing fixes the appearance and characteristics of objects more firmly on the mind than drawing them, either free-hand or with a camraa lucida (the former being preferable, as it educates the hand and eye). With each subject is given the source and origin, the best methods for obtaining and preparing it, and attention is called to the most noteworthy or characteristic points for examination.

The second part of the book is devoted to methods for laboratory work: softening, hardening, decalcification, etc., of the matter in gross; embedding, sectioning, staining and mounting, etc. The best stains, with methods of preparing the same, and, in short, a general formulary for the various reagents, etc., concludes the work, which is intended, as stated, as an aide memoire supplementary to a course of lectures on histology.

We congratulate Dr. Huber on the skill with which he has developed the idea, and the didactic methods which he has employed. Such a book cannot but prove a great help to both student and teacher, and it should be more widely known.—St. Louis Medical and Surgeon's Journal.

Dr. Carl Huber's Laboratory Work in Histology is an excellent manual, and if the medical students of Michigan University are conscientiously put through it they must be extremely well taught. Dr. Huber puts the methods of embedding, staining, etc., in a clear tabular form, and gives full practical instructions in all those minute details which can only be given by a man who has a masterly knowledge of his subject. The American student, according to the evidence of this textbook, has the work of cutting and staining done for him, and has only to mount sections affixed to coverslips. By this plan he must gain an excellent collection of slides.—British Medical Journal.

JOHNSON.—Elements of the Law of Negotiable Contracts. By E. F. Johnson, B.S., LL.M., formerly Professor of Law in the Department of Law of the University of Michigan. 8vo. 735 pages. Full law sheep binding, $3.75.

Several years of experience as an instructor has taught the author that the best method of impressing a principle upon the mind of the student is to show him a practical application of it. To remember abstract propositions, without knowing their application, is indeed difficult for the average student. But when the primary principle is once associated in his mind with particular facts illustrating its application, it is more easily retained and more rapidly applied to analogous cases.

It is deemed advisable that the student in the law should be required, during his course, to master in connection with each general branch of the law, a few well-selected cases which are illustrative of the philosophy of that subject. To require each student to do this in the larger law schools has been found to be impracticable, owing to a lack of a sufficient number of copies of individual cases. The only solution of this difficulty seems to be to place in the hands of each student a volume containing the desired cases. In the table of cases will be found many leading cases printed in black type.—From Preface.

KIRK.—Brother Toper and Other College Verse. By R. R. Kirk. 47 pages. Brocaded Silk, 40 cents; Ooze Leather, 60 cents.

KIRN.—Religion a Rational Demand. By Rev. G. J. Kirn, M.A., Ph.D. 230 pages. 12mo. $1.00.

It is really a fascinating theme, particularly to thoughtful and intelligent people. The chapter on Materialism is alone worth the cost of the book.—Evangelical Messenger.

LEVI-FRANCOIS.—Questions Based on Levi and Francois' Reader. Pamphlet. 37 pages. 25 cents.

LEVI-FRANCOIS.—A French Reader for Beginners, with Notes and Vocabulary. By Moritz Levi, Assistant Professor of French, University of Michigan, and Victor E. Francois, Instructor in French, University of Michigan. 12 mo. 261 pages. $1.00.

This reader differs from its numerous predecessors in several respects. First, being aware that students and teachers in the French as well as in the German departments of high schools and colleges are becoming tired of translating over and over again the same old fairy tales, the editors have avoided them and selected some interesting and easy short stories. They have also suppressed the poetic selections which are never translated in the class-room. Finally, they have exercised the greatest care in the gradation of the passages chosen and in the preparation of the vocabulary, every French word being followed not only by its primitive or ordinary meaning, but also by the different English equivalents which the text requires. After careful examination, we consider this reader as one of the best on the American market.

LLOYD.—Philosophy of History. An Introduction to the Philosophical Study of Politics. By Professor Alfred H. Lloyd, University of Michigan. 12mo. 250 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

PHILOSOPHY OF HISTORY.—"Professor Lloyd has already outlined his conception of history in a volume entitled Citizenship and Salvation (1897). The present exposition is at the same time more definite and more comprehensive. About a third of the book is devoted to a philosophic study of the data of history; and this is followed by an analysis of the social unit, the group, and by a systematic account of the formula of history as it appears to the philosopher. The last four chapters are essays in which such topics as "Good and Evil" and "The Great Man" are treated from the historical point of view which is expounded in the main part of the volume. In these chapters as well as in the second part of the book acute and valuable comments on different phases of historical development abound. The first part of the volume, however, discussing Time. Causation, the Individual and Nature as data of history [is the most] valuable."—The Philosophical Review, March, 1900.

"The PHILOSOPHY OF HISTORY is a meritorious attempt to connect the facts of history with the causes which have influenced the social evolution of the human race. Most writers are satisfied with the visible, immediate and direct causes of the rise or fall of nations . . . . . but Professor Lloyd wants us to go deeper yet, ... [but] whatever be the mental attitude of the readers with regard to the positions advocated in the book all will admit that it is written with great keenness of perception and with a sincere desire to reconcile, so far as possible, all intellectual and moral differences. If the author has not succeeded in accomplishing the task [of reconciliation], it is because there are differences that can not be reconciled, even by benevolence and ingenuity combined."—Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, March, 1900.

McCANDLESS.—Tabular Analysis of the Law of Real Property, following Blackstone. Arranged by L. W. McCandless. 19 charts. Quarto. Cloth, $1.50.

This analysis follows Book II of Blackstone, and will prove a very valuable aid to students. The critic remembers that in the dim and hoary past when he was a student himself, he prepared an analysis of Bispam's Equity. He certainly endeavored to do complete justice to that learned work and the result was a sheet some 1x4 (yards) in dimensions. Acting according to the advice of some intimate friends he hung it up, on a shade roller, but somehow, never could persuade anybody to read it completely through. In fact, the aforesaid critic was afraid to attempt it itself when the "magnum opus" was once finished and the fearful and wonderful document still remains filed away somewhere among his dusty papers. This little incident of a past career is mentioned not that we would discourage the reader of Mr. McCandless's work or in any way compare his learned production with the superficial synopsis which we had ourselves compiled. It has long been a source of wonder to us why real estate law has not hitherto been "chartered," for there seems to be no branch of jurisprudence so well adapted to such a form of presentation. The author's work gives a bird's eye view of real property principles and as previously stated will prove of great value to the student, particularly around examination time for he can tell at a glance what would otherwise force him to spend much valuable time in searching through Blackstone. Take it all in all, the author is to be heartily commended and we would like to see his work used as a text-book in not only the University of Michigan but in all the leading law schools of the country. For the benefit of them who have not had the pleasure of perusing it we can state that it is a series of some nineteen large charts each about 2 feet by 1½, handsomely bound so that the entire subject may be embraced in series of sweeping glances.—Law Journal, N. Y.

MEADER.—Chronological Outline of Roman Literature. By C. L. Meader, A.B., Instructor in Latin in University of Michigan, Chart. 25 cents.

MICHIGAN BOOK.—The U. of M. Book. A Record of Student Life and Student Organizations in the University of Michigan. Articles contributed by members of the Faculty and by prominent Alumni. $1.50.

MONTGOMERY-SMITH.—Laboratory Manual of Elementary Chemistry. By Jabez Montgomery, Ph.D., Professor of Natural Science, Ann Arbor High School, and Roy B. Smith, M. S., Colgate University. 12 mo. 400 pages. Cloth, $1.25.

This Work is intended as a laboratory guide to be used in connection with a good text-book or course of lectures, and in its arrangement and scope it is based upon the practical experience of two instructors in the Ann Arbor High School. It is therefore restricted to such work as may be done by the average high school pupil. The experiments which are directed are given more to enable the student to comprehend the methods of analytical chemistry than to acquire particular proficiency in the work of chemical analysis. The work is characterized by minuteness of explanation, a feature which will be appreciated by the beginner.—Pharmaceutical Era.

MORRIS.—Clinical Temperature Chart. By Roger S. Morris, A. B., M. D., University of Michigan. Postpaid, 48 cents per quire.

There are spaces for stools, urine, dates and days of disease besides abundant room for the personal data, diagnosis, treatment, termination, and for daily notes. Anything that assists and favors accuracy in clinical records, either in hospital or private practice, should be welcomed by physicians, and those who are looking for a chart different from those now in use are warmly advised to examine this one.

NETTO.—The Theory of Substitutions and its Application to Algebra. By Dr. Eugene Netto, Professor of Mathematics in the University of Giessen. Revised by the author and translated with his permission, by F. N. Cole, Ph.D., formerly Assistant Professor of Mathematics in the University of Michigan, Professor of Mathematics, Columbia University. 8 vo. 301 pages. Cloth, $3.00.

NOVY.—Laboratory Work in Physiological Chemistry. By Frederick G. Novy, Sc.D., M.D., Junior Professor of Hygiene and Physiological Chemistry, University of Michigan. New Third edition in press.

This book is designed for directing laboratory work of medical students, and in showing them how to study the physics and physiology of the digestive functions of the blood, the urine and other substances which the body contains normally, or which it speedily eliminates as effete material. The second edition has appeared within a very short time after the publication of the first. The first chapters deal with the facts, the carbohydrates and proteids. Then follow others upon the saliva, the gastric juice, the pancreatic secretion, the bile, blood, milk, and urine, while the closing chapter deals with a list of reagents.

While the book is manifestly designed for the use of Dr. Novy's own students, we doubt not that other teachers will find it a valuable aid in their work. At the close of the volume are a number of illustrations of the various sedimentary substances found in the urine, taken from the work of von Jaksch.—The Therapeutic Gazette

This book, although now in its second edition, is practically unknown to British readers. Up to the present, anyone wishing to find out how a particular analytical method in physiological chemistry ought to be carried out, had of necessity to refer to a German text-book. This comparatively small book—for it only covers some three hundred pages—gives as good a general account of ordinary laboratory methods as any teacher or student could desire. Although the author refers in his preface to help derived from the works of Salkowski, Hammarsten and others, it is but fair to say that the book has undoubtedly been written by one who has worked out the methods and knows the importance of exact practical details—Edinburgh Med. Jour., Scotland.

Physiological chemistry is one of the most important studies of the medical curriculum. The cultivation of this field has until recently been possible to but few. The rapid development of this department of science within a few years past has thrown much and needed light upon physiological processes. It is from this quarter and from bacteriological investigations that progress must chiefly be expected. The rapid growth of this branch of chemistry is attended by another result. It necessitates the frequent revision of text-books. The present edition of Dr. Novy's valuable book is almost wholly re-written. It is representative of the present state of knowledge and is replete with information of value alike to student and practitioner. Few are better prepared to write such a book than Dr. Novy, who has himself done much original work in this field.—The Medical Bulletin, Philadelphia.

NOVY.—Laboratory Work in Bacteriology. By Frederick G. Novy, Sc. D., M.D., Professor of Bacteriology, University of Michigan. New Third edition in press.

As a teacher of bacteriology, the author has had extensive experience, and the second edition of his book will be highly prized by students for its practical service and thoroughness. The methods of investigation described are mainly those which have been employed in the hygienic laboratory or the University of Michigan, and they have stood the test of practical demonstration and usefulness. One of the most interesting parts of the book is the chapter on the chemistry of bacteria, and the general reader cannot fail to obtain from it a clear understanding of the complex changes induced by these minute organisms. The functions of the various ferments are also very cleverly discussed. An enumeration of the chapter headings will serve to show the scope of the work: Form and Classification of Bacteria; Size and Structure of Bacterial Cell; Life History of Bacteria; Environment of Bacteria; Chemistry of Bacteria; the Microscope; Cultivation of Bacteria; Non-Pathogenic Bacteria; Bouillon, Agar, Milk and Modified Media, the Incubator and Accessories; Relation of Bacteria to Disease—Methods of Infection and Examination; Pathogenic Bacteria; Yeasts, Moulds and Streptotrices; Examination of Water, Soil and Air; Special Methods of Work. To the latter subject, two chapters are devoted, in which are very fully outlined various special methods of value to advanced students.—Pharmaceutical Era, N. Y.

ROOD.—Important English Statutes. Edited by John R. Rood, University of Michigan. 8vo. 24 pages. Imitation leather, 25 cents.

This pamphlet contains the Statute of Frauds (29 Car. II. c. 3) complete, also Lord Campbell's Act, the Mandamus Act of 9 Anne, and the Victorian Wills Act. The intention is to furnish students a copy of all those important English statutes which have been generally re-enacted in the American statutes and are therefore prominent in his courses of study.

ROOD.—On Attachments, Garnishments, Judgments, and Executions. By John R. Rood, University of Michigan. The table of contents, table of cases, and text cover 183 pages. The leading and illustrative cases and notes cover 514 pages. A very full index has been compressed into 36 pages. Total 733 pages. The two books bound as one, in buckram, for one price. $3.00. Octavo.

The text is not claimed to be exhaustive upon any point. To make it so would defeat the very purpose for which it was written. A tree is not complete without all its foliage, but the outline of the branches cannot be clearly seen till the leaves have fallen. In the present discussion, details have been similarly omitted so that the more important matters can be seen. Anson on Contracts may be said to cover all the matters treated in the elaborate works on particular contracts, such as sales, agency, partnership, suretyship, deeds, mortgages, etc. In like manner this manual is intended to explain all the matters covered by the extensive treatises on jurisdiction, judgments, res judicata, attachment, garnishment, and executions. It is not designed to trespass on the field occupied by any of these books, but to give what none of them do or can—a clear outline of the whole, without that cloud of details and the confusing review of inconsistent decisions upon them, which the writer of a complete text must give. In this way, it is hoped that a comprehensive view of broad fundamental principles may be obtained, with a clear vision of the relations between each part and all the others, and of the successive steps in each proceeding from beginning to end.

VAUGHAN.—Contributions to Medical Research. Dedicated to Victor Clarence Vaughan. By Colleagues and Former Students of the Department of Medicine and Surgery of the University of Michigan, on the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of his Doctorate. Large octavo size. 640 pages and 200 illustrations. Bound in full Cloth, $5.00; Half Morocco, $6.00.

WARTHIN.—Practical Pathology for Students and Physicians. A Manual of Laboratory and Post-Mortem Technic, Designed Especially for the Use of Junior and Senior Students in Pathology at the University of Michigan. By Aldred Scott Warthin, Ph.D., M. D., Instructor in Pathology, University of Michigan. Octavo. 234 pages. Cloth, $1.50.

We have carefully examined this book, and our advice to every student and practitioner of medicine is—buy it. You will never regret having invested your money in it and you will acquire such a large fund of information that the study of pathology will become a pleasure instead of the drudgery which it so unfortunately seems to be in many cases.

Part I. of this book, embracing some 103 pages, deals with the materials, which includes the proper examination and notation of the gross changes which have occurred in every part of the body. In fact it is a complete exposé of what a complete and accurate autopsy should be, the observance of which is oftener followed in the breach than in the actuality. Part II., which includes 134 pages, deals with the treatment of the material. This is a very important part of the work, as it gives explicit directions in regard to the instruments to use, stains and staining methods, drawing, the preservation of specimens, hardening methods, in fact, of all those technical points connected with practical pathological microscopy. The examination of fresh specimens, injections, methods fixing specimens as well as special staining methods are taken up. In fact, space forbids us to give the entire, which are most valuable in every detail.—St. Louis Medical and Surgical Journal.

WARTHIN.—A Blank Book for Autopsy Protocols. Second Edition. By Aldred Scott Warthin, M.D., Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Pathology in the University of Michigan. Bound in Full Canvass, 50 cents.

The medical student at the University of Michigan is expected to attend twenty autopsies during the last two years of his studies, and this book is designed to facilitate the keeping of a careful protocol, which he is required to make in every case. The book is of a convenient size and can accommodate the autopsy protocols of ten cases. Each autopsy is allowed ten pages, carefully ruled for the various organs.

WATSON.—Tables for the Calculation of Simple or Compound Interest and Discount and the Averaging of Accounts. The Values of Annuities, Leases, Interest in Estates and the Accumulations and Values of Investments at Simple or Compound Interest for all Rates and Periods; also Tables for the Conversion of Securities and Value of Stocks and Bonds. With full Explanation for Use. By James C. Watson, Ph.D., LL.D. Quarto. Cloth, $2.50.

A book most valuable to bankers, brokers, trustees, guardians, judges, lawyers, accountants, and all concerned in the computation of interest, the division and settlement of estates, the negotiation of securities, or the borrowing and lending of money, is the above work of the late Professor James C. Watson, formerly Director of the Observatories and Professor of Astronomy at the Universities of Michigan and Wisconsin, and Actuary of the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company.

It contains, in addition to the usual tables for the calculation of simple or compound interest and discount, many tables of remarkable value, not found elsewhere, for the averaging of accoutns, the values of annuities, leases, interests in estates, and the accumulations and values of investments; also tables for the conversion of securities, and the values of stocks and bonds.

There are also given very full and clear explanations of the principles involved in financial transactions, and a great variety of miscellaneous examples are worked out in detail to illustrate the problems arising in interest, discount, partial payments, averaging of accounts, present values, annuities of different kinds, annual payments for a future expectation (as in life insurance), or for a sinking fund, conversion of securities, values of stocks and bonds, and life interests.

This book was issued from the press under the author's careful supervision. Professor Watson was noted for his clear insight into problems involving computations, and also for his wonderful ability in presenting the method of solution of such problems in a plain and simple manner. The varied array of practical examples given in connection with his "Table" shows these facts in a remarkable manner. This book provides, for those least expert in calculations, the means of avoiding mistakes likely to occur; and for the man engrossed in the cares of business, the means of making for himself, with entire accuracy, the calculation which he may need, at the moment when it is needed.

WILGUS.—Should there be a Federal Incorporation Law for Commercial Corporations? Being an address delivered before the annual meetings of the Commercial Law League of America, at West Baden, Ind., and the State Board of Commissioners for promoting uniform Legislation in the United States, at St. Louis, September 29, 1904. By Horace L. Wilgus, M. S., Professor of Law, University of Michigan. Pamphlet. 60 pages. 35 cents.

WOLF-FLORER.—A Guide for the study of Goethe's Hermann und Dorothea. By Ernst Wolf, E. Saginaw High School, and Warren Washburn Florer, University of Michigan. Pamphlet. 82 pages. 30 cents.

WRENTMORE.—Plain Alphabets for Office and School. Selected by C. G. Wrentmore, B.S., C.E., Instructor in Descriptive Geometry and Drawing, University of Michigan. Oblong. 19 plates. Half leather, 75 cents.

WRENTMORE-GOULDING.—A Text-Book of Elementary Mechanical Drawing for Use in Office or School. By Clarence G. Wrentmore, B.S., C.E., and Herbert J. Goulding, B.S., M.E., Instructors in Descriptive Geometry and Drawing at the University of Michigan. Quarto. 109 pages and 165 cuts. $1.00.

This book is intended for a beginners course in Elementary Mechanical Drawing for the office and school. Illustrations have not been spared, and the explanations have been made in a clear and concise manner for the purpose of bringing the student to the desired results by the shortest route consistent with the imparting of an accurate knowledge of the subject.

The first chapter is devoted to Materials and Instruments; the second chapter, Mechanical Construction; third chapter, Penciling, Inking, Tinting; fourth chapter, Linear Perspective; fifth chapter, Teeth of Gears.

REV. J. T. YOUNG—"Mormonism: Its Origin, Doctrines, and Dangers." Pamphlet. 72 pages. 25 cents.

This brochure of seventy pages in paper covers is a sharp attack on the Mormon system, showing that its beginnings were in fraud and villainy, that its doctrines are debasing, and that its continuance in the United States is a political and religious menace. If Mormonism is one-tenth as bad as this booklet represents, the marvel is that the viper life was not crushed out long ago.—The Standard, Chicago.
